President Draws Crowds On Swing

ELLENVILLE, N. Y. (AP) — President Johnson swung across New York State on Friday in campaign fashion, offering pledges to "take the profit out of poverty" and replace pollution with sparkle in the Great Lakes.

Johnson drew big crowds in the cities and, on a comparative basis, just as big and just as enthusiastic ones in small, rural towns — from Buffalo in the west to Syracuse in the middle of the state and to the Catskill resort area in the south

It was at Buffalo that Johnson started talking about the sparkle and it was at Syracuse that Johnson declared: "I think it's wrong for some people to line their pockets with the tattered dollars of the poor. So the first thing we should pledge ourselves to do is to take the profit out of poverty."

STUMPING TOUR

The stumping tour through New York was the first stage of a three-day, five-state expedition that ends Sunday in Canada. Today, the President moves into Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine.

He meets Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson at Campobello Island, New Brunswick, to confer and to dedicate a reception center at Roosevelt International Park named for one of Johnson's predecessors Franklin D. Roosevelt.

All the way Friday, Johnson was plugging his "Great Society" program and getting some pretty strong applause. But he saw some banners here and there that called for getting out of the war in Viet Nam.

He brought along congressmen, of both parties. And for part of the trip New York's two senators turned up — a Democrat and a Republican.

So there were disclaimers of any partisan politics. But, still, the trip was worked out to take Johnson into areas where some freshman Democratic congressmen are in tough races for second terms. And in New York, three of them were picked to introduce him for major speeches, including the windup one at Ellenville on Friday night — just as the sun dipped behind the mountains.

Along the way Johnson summed up: "It's been a very fruitful and productive day. I know I'm going to return to Washington stronger and better."

At Ellenville, Johnson dedicated a community hospital and extolled administration hospital and medicare programs.

Surging crowds turned out all day long and Johnson met them with smiles and handclasps at every turn.

Just before he got into Ellenville on a 30-mile motor trip from Stewart Air Force Base at Newburgh, he climbed out of his open car in such small towns as Walden and Pine Bush and strolled along street barricades with hand outthrust. He got a fire chief's hat — honorary — in Walden and a commemorative plaque for the visit to Pine Bush.

Name-Dropping

Soon after plans were announced for the construction of the Monroe Expressway, local authorities suggested a more exotic name would be appropriate for the thoroughfare connecting I-20 with U.S. 80. The most recent suggestion has come from Arch Winter who visited Monroe this week in connection with downtown modernization. Winter suggested the expressway be termed Civic Center Drive, since it skirts the center.

Saw Pope

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald S. Walker returned Friday to Norfolk, Va., where he has been stationed with the U.S. Navy. He has just completed a Naval Training Cruise which included eight countries. On the cruise, he visited Vatican City in Rome, and saw the Pope. Mrs. Walker is the former Marline Starling. She remained with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Walker of West Monroe, during his absence.

Poor Bill Gets Okay Of Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate endorsed Friday a $1.25-billion program to give cities added financial help in striking at the complex, poverty-nourished roots of ignorance, disease, crime and violence.

A 53-22 roll-call vote sent to the House the so-called "demonstration cities" bill after administration forces had beaten back a Republican assault on the legislation's key provision. The House Banking Committee has approved a similar measure.

The heart of the broad-angled approach to the problems of urban flight is a section providing $900 million in grants for cities which sponsor package programs to improve not only housing but education, health, recreation, welfare and other aspects of life among the underprivileged.

TOWER'S CHANGE

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., sponsored an amendment to knock out the grants, leaving only planning money for demonstration projects. This was defeated 53-27 despite a prediction by Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois that the program could become "one of the greatest boondoggles this country has ever witnessed."

In this key test, 43 Democrats and 10 Republicans combined to kill the amendment which was supported by 17 Republicans and 10 Democrats. The vote on final passage found 39 Democrats and 14 Republicans voting aye while 9 Democrats and 13 Republicans were in the no column.

As originally proposed by President Johnson the "demonstration cities" program called for grants $2.3 billion over a period of five years but the Senate Banking Committee reduced this to $900 million over two years.

The money in addition to the $900 million in grants would be used for planning and other purposes. The current bill is only an authorization and actual funds will have to be voted in a separate appropriations bill.

When Johnson's plan was first proposed the secretary of housing and urban development, Robert C. Weaver, estimated that 60 to 70 cities might qualify.

With the trimmed-down funds not nearly that many could participate but the bill's floor manager, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said the limited authorizations would make possible a trial period for testing the program in a representative sampling of cities. Then, he said, if it works it could be expanded to other cities.

Under the formula in the bill, the supplementary grants could amount to as much as 80 per cent of a city's share of all the federal aid programs carried out as a part of the demonstration city project.

The measure provides that these extra grants shall be used first "to carry out new and additional projects or activites that are part of the demonstration program and for which no assistance is presently available" under federal aid programs.

But, to the extent the supplementary grants are not needed to support such new activities, they may be used to pay part of the city's share of present aid programs.

Judge Gives Texas Gulf Clearances

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge Friday cleared Texas Gulf Sulphur Co. and 10 of its employes of using "inside" information to profit from stock transactions. But the company's secretary and an engineer were found guilty.

The inside information concerned an ore discovery in Ontario, Canada, late in 1963.

U.S. Dist. Judge Dudley B. Bonsal, in an 81-page opinion, found that the Texas Gulf secretary, David M. Crawford, and engineer Richard H. Clayton violated the Securities Exchange Act and its rules pertaining to insider trading.

NO VIOLATION

But Bonsal ruled that Texas Gulf did not violate the act in issuing an April 12, 1964, news release concerning what was said to be one of the biggest copper finds on the North American continent.

The government charged that Texas Gulf executives were able to buy up their company's stock in advance of the news release, and then profited when the stock rose in price as news of the Texas Gulf ore find became public.

The SEC had said company officials camouflaged the drill hole, then set in motion measures to acquire further ownership of mineral rights on the tract.

On Nov. 12, 1963, the SEC maintained, Fogarty purchased 300 shares at a price slightly below $18 on the New York Stock Exchange. He and others in the company made subsequent purchases through the middle of April 1964, the SEC said, but did not notify the sellers of increasingly favorable drilling reports.

Some defendants notified others, and some of the latter in turn notified friends, the SEC said. In this way, it added, Herbert Klotz, an assistant U.S. secretary of commerce, got the tip to buy Texas Gulf stock. Klotz was not named as a defendant but was mentioned in the SEC complaint as having benefited from a second-hand tip.

Besides Fogarty, Millison and Lamont, others acquitted were Claude O. Stephens of Peasantvillle, N.Y., president of Texas Gulf; Walter Holyk, Stamford, Conn., the company's chief Geologist; Kenneth H. Drake of Timmins, Ont., field geologist for Texas Gulf; Francis G. Coates, Houston, Tex., a director; Harold B. Kline, Manhattan, a vice president and general counsel; John A. Murray, Ridgewood, Queens, N.Y., office manager, and Earl L. Huntington, Elmhurst, Queens, an attorney for Texas Gulf.

House Ends Viet Hearing With Charge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities Friday ended its investigation of U.S. groups opposing the Viet Nam war with a charge that some were led by Communist agents.

Acting Chairman Joe Pool, D-Tex., made the charge as the House panel wound up four days of hearings with another stormy session at which 12 more persons were arrested for disorderly conduct.

"The leadership of these groups are made of individuals who are voluntary hard-core Communists who are acting in behalf of foreign interests," Pool declared.

Pool said the committee had all the information it needed and would now consider language of a bill making it a crime for Americans to aid an enemy of the United States —in war or peace. The measure is aimed at groups that have sent blood and money to the Viet Cong.

During the four days of hearings, more than 50 persons were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. Others were thrown out of the hearing room for disrupting the proceedings with shouts or derogatory remarks.

Attorney Arthur Kinoy of New York, who was arrested Wednesday after a clash with Pool, was convicted of disorderly conduct in District of Columbia General Sessions Court Friday and drew a suspended $50 fine. He said he would appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

MEMBERS OF LOCAL 1894 of the AFL - CIO International Association of Machinists cast their ballots in New York Friday on whether to accept the contract that would end the six - week old airline strike, or whether to reject the contract as they did once before. The 950-man New York local voted by a 3 to 1 ratio to accept the contract and end the strike. (AP Wirephoto)

Earthquake Shakes Turkey; Kills More Than 500 Persons

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — More than 500 persons died in a catastrophic earthquake in eastern Turkey on Friday, the semiofficial Anatolia News Agency reported late Friday night.

The stricken area of rugged mountain villages is 600 to 700 - odd miles east and slightly south of Istanbul.

With 339 known dead and about 600 injured, Mus was the hardest hit of four provinces shattered by the killer quake.

In villages of Erzurum Province, the agency said, 129 bodies were counted by late night. More than 200 persons were injured in Erzum.

BUILDINGS LEVELED

Bingol Province reported 32 dead and 13 persons were believed buried under the debris of buildings leveled by the quake. All 13 were feared dead.

Ali Akarsu, governor of Erzurum Providence, said in a broadcast that all dwellings were razed in 24 villages. He said the over-all death toll might grow.

The governor said almost 90 per cent of the buildings in Erzurum and Hinis township were reduced to rubble. The demolished buildings include the local hospital. The injured were treated at the high school at Hinis.

At dark, rescue operations were virtually suspended until dawn.

In Ankara, U.S. Army Brig. Gen Sam J. Byerley, commander of the Turkish-United States Logistics Group (TUSLOG), said American military authorities in Turkey were making doctors and medical supplies available at the request of the Turkish Red Crescent (Red Cross). Byerley said doctors and medicine would be flown today from bases at Adana, Ankara and Izmir to the disaster area.

The newspaper Milliyet reported the quake was strong for 20 seconds, and was felt in Armenia in the neighboring Soviet Union. The Soviet news agency in Moscow said the tremor was weak in Armenia.

The town of Varto in Mus Province was reported leveled. The Erzurum Weather Bureau said the quake lasted five minutes.

The Interior Ministry in Istanbul said special squads had been ordered to clear landslide blocks on the highway to Varto.

A police spokesman in Mus, the provincial capital, said damage was slight in the town itself but casualties ran high in surrounding villages.

Damage also was widespread in Erzurum and Zitlas provinces. A hospital and a police station were among buildings razed in Erzurum, the provincial capital; Bitlis, capital of that province; and at Tatvan, a village 14 miles northeast of Bitlis town. Many peasants were reported injured in Erzurum Province.

Erzurum, Mus and Bitlis provinces lie in the mountains west of the Iranian frontier. With Erzurum on the north, the three cities from a north-south are about 120 miles long. Erzurum is 125 miles from the Soviet border, and is the largest of the three, with a population of about 55,000.

The Red Crescent, the Turkish equivalent of the Red Cross, was speeding tents and medical supplies into the stricken region.

The Soviet news agency gave the intensity of the Turkish quake as 9 on the Soviet 12-point scale, equivalent to 7.5 on the Richter scale used in the West. This is strong enough to cause considerable damage.

The quake began at 2:30 p.m. —8:30 a.m. EDT.

It was a day of quakes around the world. Another quake hit Tashkent but Tass made no mention of damage or casualties in that Soviet city, hit repeatedly by earth shocks since April 26. An earthquake cracked walls in northern Italy around Verona. And a mild earthquake jarred central Japan. In Sicily, Mt. Etna erupted, sending lava more than half a mile down the slope.

Heavy Rainfall Hits Oak Ridge

Only a trace of rain Friday followed Thursday's torrential shower and gusty winds but afternoon thundershowers are again predicted for today along with wide-ranging temperatures.

Only 20 miles to the northeast of Monroe, Oak Ridge received 2.78 inches of rainfall.

The lows tonight will fall in the 70 to 76 degree range, with highs topping out at a sweltering 94 degrees. Friday's high of 90 was recorded at noon. The low preceded it at 3 a.m. at the 69 degree mark.

Winds will be from the south in the five to 15 mile per hour range.

Lunar Snaps Pictures On Back Side Of Moon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Lunar Oribter snapped its first pictures of the far back side of the moon Friday with a camera that has been sending a mixture of good and bad images.

If they turn out well, the back side pictures would give scientists their best look yet at a face of the moon never seen from earth. U.S. space agency officials said the photos would not be released for several weeks.

The pictures were taken at an altitude of 930 miles as the 850-pound spacecraft looped behind the moon on its 33rd egg-shaped orbit. The Soviet Luna 3 photographed the back side of the moon in October 1959, but it was 40,000 miles away and its pictures were blurred.

At about the time Lunar Orbiter's photographs eyes were trained on an area in the center of the moon's far side, scientists disclosed that new pictures sent from the craft showed its camera still was giving trouble.

"If the problem cannot be cleared up we won't be able to get the closeups needed of possible astronaut landing sites on the front side of the moon," said Israel Taback, space craft manager from Langley Research Center, Hampton, Va., which is controlling Lunar Orbiter through facilities at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

Taback said the fourth and fifth transmissions from the craft, received early Friday, showed poor quality pictures in the fourth and fifth film frames, snapped Thursday 133 miles above Mare Smythii, a plain on the far right edge of the lunar disc

The camera frames each contain two pictures, one of high or sharp resolution, and one of medium resolution. All the trouble is in the high-resolution pictures in frames two through five, he said.

The high-resolution picture in frame one was good. So were the medium-resolution pictures in all five frames.

"We haven't pinned down the trouble," he said. "One theory is that a clamp that positions the frames for exposure may be binding and throwing the high-resolution pictures out of focus as the film moves through the camera.

"We are attempting now to plan the rest of the mission so that we can get the best use of the medium resolution system."

Steaks Anger McKeithen

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Gov. John J. McKeithen — angered that the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission spent state money to dine legislators —said Friday he has launched action to block any repeat performances.

"I've instructed our Division of Administration to take whatever steps necessary to see that this is not repeated by this or any other department in our state government."

The New Orleans States-Item reported a state purchase order showed the commission played host to the legislators twice during the recent 60-day session. A check for $775.14 was made payable to a Baton Rouge steak house to cover the two outings.

On both occasions, the tabs were signed by Joe D. Hair Jr. Hair resigned earlier this month after a row with another ranking commission employe, Coburn Hood. The argument occurred during the Grand Isle tarpon rodeo July 22.

Hood was fired by the commission on the same day that Hair stepped down.

Votes Halt Costly Move, Planes Fly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The machinists union announced Friday night the end of the biggest, longest, costliest airlines strike in U.S. history as a majority of 35,400 strikers approved a fat new contract.

P. L. (Roy) Siemiller, president of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists announced the contract to end the six-week tieup had been approved by 68 per cent of the strikers who voted.

"It's a great day for the Irish," he added jubilantly.

HEFTY GAINS

"It's now a better place to work," Siemiller said in speaking of the hefty wage gains, cost-of-living escalator and other benefits won from five major airlines in the walkout which started July 8.

Siemiller, whose union received heavy pressure from Congress and the White House to settle the long walkout, said it could have been ended a month ago if Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and other members of Congress had "just kept quiet."

The struck lines — Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United — planned to send first planes into the air within hours and hoped to resume full service over the weekend on their routes which normally handle 60 per cent of the nation's air traffic.

The first announced flight was a National Air Lines jet leaving Miami at 2 a.m. for Los Angeles.

United Air Lines, which reported all its New York-to-Pacific coast flights "booked almost solid," said its first plane would leave Chicago at 2:45 a.m. for Denver and Salt Lake City. United said it anticipated carrying 38,000 persons today alone.

In New York, Eastern Air Lines said it would put its first plane in the air from Newark, N.J., at 5:35 a.m. for Springfield, Mass.

Northwest scheduled its first flight at 6 a.m. from New York for Minneapolis, while Trans World Airlines planned a flight 45 minutes later from New York to Los Angeles.

Siemiller said the strikers across the country voted 17,727 to 8,235 in favor of accepting the contract and returning to work.

Ending the strike kills pending legislation that a reluctant House of Representatives was considering to order strikers back to work for the first time in U.S. history.

The airlines and the Federal Aviation Agency assured the public that extreme care would be taken to insure absolute safety of the planes that had been sitting idle on airport aprons the past 43 days.

Referring to the Senate-passed bill under which Congress would have ordered the strikers back to work for 30 days and authorized President Johnson to keep them on the job for an additional 150 days, Siemiller told a news conference: "There was no justification for what was done in the Senate. The workers must have their freedom."

Siemiller said, "I'm satisfied with what's in the contract. But there should have been more in it.

"It is just like a prize fight. This round is over, but there will be another one in two years and four months."

He referred to the fact that the contract ratified Friday will be up for negotiation against in 1968.

Siemiller said in the next contract, the union will look for fully paid vacations, and better health, welfare and pension plans.

He said the contract will not cause inflation. "It will just give the mechanics money to buy groceries."

House Ends Viet Hearing With Charge

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities Friday ended its investigation of U.S. groups opposing the Viet Nam war with a charge that some were led by Communist agents.

Acting Chairman Joe Pool, D-Tex., made the charge as the House panel wound up four days of hearings with another stormy session at which 12 more persons were arrested for disorderly conduct.

"The leadership of these groups are made of individuals who are voluntary hard-core Communists who are acting in behalf of foreign interests," Pool declared.

Pool said the committee had all the information it needed and would now consider language of a bill making it a crime for Americans to aid an enemy of the United States —in war or peace. The measure is aimed at groups that have sent blood and money to the Viet Cong.

During the four days of hearings, more than 50 persons were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. Others were thrown out of the hearing room for disrupting the proceedings with shouts or derogatory remarks.

Attorney Arthur Kinoy of New York, who was arrested Wednesday after a clash with Pool, was convicted of disorderly conduct in District of Columbia General Sessions Court Friday and drew a suspended $50 fine. He said he would appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

MEMBERS OF LOCAL 1894 of the AFL - CIO International Association of Machinists cast their ballots in New York Friday on whether to accept the contract that would end the six - week old airline strike, or whether to reject the contract as they did once before. The 950-man New York local voted by a 3 to 1 ratio to accept the contract and end the strike. (AP Wirephoto)

Votes Halt Costly Move, Planes Fly

WASHINGTON (AP) — The machinists union announced Friday night the end of the biggest, longest, costliest airlines strike in U.S. history as a majority of 35,400 strikers approved a fat new contract.

P. L. (Roy) Siemiller, president of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists announced the contract to end the six-week tieup had been approved by 68 per cent of the strikers who voted.

"It's a great day for the Irish," he added jubilantly.

HEFTY GAINS

"It's now a better place to work," Siemiller said in speaking of the hefty wage gains, cost-of-living escalator and other benefits won from five major airlines in the walkout which started July 8.

Siemiller, whose union received heavy pressure from Congress and the White House to settle the long walkout, said it could have been ended a month ago if Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and other members of Congress had "just kept quiet."

The struck lines — Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United — planned to send first planes into the air within hours and hoped to resume full service over the weekend on their routes which normally handle 60 per cent of the nation's air traffic.

The first announced flight was a National Air Lines jet leaving Miami at 2 a.m. for Los Angeles.

United Air Lines, which reported all its New York-to-Pacific coast flights "booked almost solid," said its first plane would leave Chicago at 2:45 a.m. for Denver and Salt Lake City. United said it anticipated carrying 38,000 persons today alone.

In New York, Eastern Air Lines said it would put its first plane in the air from Newark, N.J., at 5:35 a.m. for Springfield, Mass.

Northwest scheduled its first flight at 6 a.m. from New York for Minneapolis, while Trans World Airlines planned a flight 45 minutes later from New York to Los Angeles.

Siemiller said the strikers across the country voted 17,727 to 8,235 in favor of accepting the contract and returning to work.

Ending the strike kills pending legislation that a reluctant House of Representatives was considering to order strikers back to work for the first time in U.S. history.

The airlines and the Federal Aviation Agency assured the public that extreme care would be taken to insure absolute safety of the planes that had been sitting idle on airport aprons the past 43 days.

Referring to the Senate-passed bill under which Congress would have ordered the strikers back to work for 30 days and authorized President Johnson to keep them on the job for an additional 150 days, Siemiller told a news conference: "There was no justification for what was done in the Senate. The workers must have their freedom."

Siemiller said, "I'm satisfied with what's in the contract. But there should have been more in it.

"It is just like a prize fight. This round is over, but there will be another one in two years and four months."

He referred to the fact that the contract ratified Friday will be up for negotiation against in 1968.

Siemiller said in the next contract, the union will look for fully paid vacations, and better health, welfare and pension plans.

He said the contract will not cause inflation. "It will just give the mechanics money to buy groceries."

Earthquake Shakes Turkey; Kills More Than 500 Persons

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — More than 500 persons died in a catastrophic earthquake in eastern Turkey on Friday, the semiofficial Anatolia News Agency reported late Friday night.

The stricken area of rugged mountain villages is 600 to 700 - odd miles east and slightly south of Istanbul.

With 339 known dead and about 600 injured, Mus was the hardest hit of four provinces shattered by the killer quake.

In villages of Erzurum Province, the agency said, 129 bodies were counted by late night. More than 200 persons were injured in Erzum.

BUILDINGS LEVELED

Bingol Province reported 32 dead and 13 persons were believed buried under the debris of buildings leveled by the quake. All 13 were feared dead.

Ali Akarsu, governor of Erzurum Providence, said in a broadcast that all dwellings were razed in 24 villages. He said the over-all death toll might grow.

The governor said almost 90 per cent of the buildings in Erzurum and Hinis township were reduced to rubble. The demolished buildings include the local hospital. The injured were treated at the high school at Hini.

At dark, rescue operations were virtually suspended until dawn.

In Ankara, U.S. Army Brig. Gen. Sam J. Byerley, commander of the Turkish-United States Logistics Group (TUSLOG), said American military authorities in Turkey were making doctors and medical supplies available at the request of the Turkish Red Crescent (Red Cross). Byerley said doctors and medicine would be flown today from bases at Adana, Ankara and Izmir to the disaster area.

The newspaper Milliyet reported the quake was strong for 20 seconds, and was felt in Armenia in the neighboring Soviet Union. The Soviet news agency in Moscow said the tremor was weak in Armenia.

The town of Varto in Mus Province was reported leveled. The Erzurum Weather Bureau said the quake lasted five minutes.

The Interior Ministry in Istanbul said special squads had been ordered to clear landslide blocks on the highway to Varto.

A police spokesman in Mus, the provincial capital, said damage was slight in the town itself but casualties ran high in surrounding villages.

Damage also was widespread in Erzurum and Zitlas provinces. A hospital and a police station were among buildings razed in Erzurum, the provincial capital; Bitlis, capital of that province; and at Tatvan, a village 14 miles northeast of Bitlis town. Many peasants were reported injured in Erzurum Province.

Erzurum, Mus and Bitlis provinces lie in the mountains west of the Iranian frontier. With Erzurum on the north, the three cities from a north-south arc about 120 miles long. Erzurum is 125 miles from the Soviet border, and is the largest of the three, with a population of about 55,000.

The Red Crescent, the Turkish equivalent of the Red Cross, was speeding tents and medical supplies into the stricken region.

The Soviet news agency gave the intensity of the Turkish quake as 9 on the Soviet 12-point scale, equivalent to 7.5 on the Richter scale used in the West. This is strong enough to cause considerable damage.

The quake began at 2:30 p.m. —8:30 a.m. EDT.

It was a day of quakes around the world. Another quake hit Tashkent but Tass made no mention of damage or casualties in that Soviet city, hit repeatedly by earth shocks since April 26. An earthquake cracked walls in northern Italy around Verona. And a mild earthquake jarred central Japan. In Sicily, Mt. Etna erupted, sending lava more than half a mile down the slope.

Steaks Anger McKeithen

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Gov. John J. McKeithen — angered that the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Commission spent state money to dine legislators —said Friday he has launched action to block any repeat performances.

"I've instructed our Division of Administration to take whatever steps necessary to see that this is not repeated by this or any other department in our state government."

The New Orleans States-Item reported a state purchase order showed the commission played host to the legislators twice during the recent 60-day session. A check for $775.14 was made payable to a Baton Rouge steak house to cover the two outings.

On both occasions, the tabs were signed by Joe D. Hair Jr. Hair resigned earlier this month after a row with another ranking commission employe, Coburn Hood. The argument occurred during the Grand Isle tarpon rodeo July 22.

Hood was fired by the commission on the same day that Hair stepped down.

Heavy Rainfall Hits Oak Ridge

Only a trace of rain Friday followed Thursday's torrential shower and gusty winds but afternoon thundershowers are again predicted for today along with wide-ranging temperatures.

Only 20 miles to the northeast of Monroe, Oak Ridge received 2.78 inches of rainfall.

The lows tonight will fall in the 70 to 76 degree range, with highs topping out at a sweltering 94 degrees. Friday's high of 90 was recorded at noon. The low preceded it at 3 a.m. at the 69 degree mark.

Winds will be from the south in the five to 15 mile per hour range.

Lunar Snaps Pictures On Back Side Of Moon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Lunar Oribter snapped its first pictures of the far back side of the moon Friday with a camera that has been sending a mixture of good and bad images.

If they turn out well, the back side pictures would give scientists their best look yet at a face of the moon never seen from earth. U.S. space agency officials said the photos would not be released for several weeks.

The pictures were taken at an altitude of 930 miles as the 850-pound spacecraft looped behind the moon on its 33rd egg-shaped orbit. The Soviet Luna 3 photographed the back side of the moon in October 1959, but it was 40,000 miles away and its pictures were blurred.

At about the time Lunar Orbiter's photographs eyes were trained on an area in the center of the moon's far side, scientists disclosed that new pictures sent from the craft showed its camera still was giving trouble.

"If the problem cannot be cleared up we won't be able to get the closeups needed of possible astronaut landing sites on the front side of the moon," said Israel Taback, space craft manager from Langley Research Center, Hampton, Va., which is controlling Lunar Orbiter through facilities at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

Taback said the fourth and fifth transmissions from the craft, received early Friday, showed poor quality pictures in the fourth and fifth film frames, snapped Thursday 133 miles above Mare Smythii, a plain on the far right edge of the lunar disc.

The camera frames each contain two pictures, one of high or sharp resolution, and one of medium resolution. All the trouble is in the high-resolution pictures in frames two through five, he said.

The high-resolution picture in frame one was good. So were the medium-resolution pictures in all five frames.

"We haven't pinned down the trouble," he said. "One theory is that a clamp that positions the frames for exposure may be binding and throwing the high-resolution pictures out of focus as the film moves through the camera.

"We are attempting now to plan the rest of the mission so that we can get the best use of the medium resolution system."

Growth Gauge

A gauge to the city's growth is the increase in building permits being issued. One growth factor that has become apparent is the expansion of Monroe's several welding supply stores. The use of steel in new buildings and highways has increased the demand for welding supplies. Consequently, three major Monroe welding supply stores have increased their stores, moved or have made plans to move into new and expanded buildings within the past month, a study of building permits reveals.

Civic Center

Managers of both local chambers of commerce are getting a foretaste of the luxury that will soon be theirs in Monroe when the new Civic Center is functioning. James S. (Jim) Williams of the Monroe chamber and Eugene Smith of the West Monroe chamber were in Alexandria Friday attending a meeting sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce. While in Alexandria, both chamber managers were expected to become familiar with that city's new Civic Center, now in operation for conventions and cultural events.

Jets Hit Fuel Dumps; Aussies Battle Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (A) — U.S. Fliers attacked seven oil storage depots near North Viet Nam's southern panhandle Friday and touched off numerous secondary fires and explosions, the U.S. Military Command anounced today.

A spokesman said bad weather over the North curtailed strikes in the Hanoi and Haiphong areas and in the Red River Valley.

On the ground, Australian troops have hurled back human wave attacks by a Viet Cong battalion and killed 220 of its 600 men in the Aussies' biggest battle of the war, spokesman reported Friday. A hunt was on southeast of Saigon for guerrilla survivors.

South Vietnamese government units claimed 231 enemy dead in far-flung engagements in four provinces.

A military spokesman said pilots reported six secondary explosions and many fires in the attacks on the seven oil dumps. Navy pilots also hit the Nam Dinh storage area 45 miles southwest .of Haiphong.

U.S. Fliers bagged their 18th MIG fighter on one of 97 missions over North Viet Nam on Thursday.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said several hundred Vietnamese militiamen supported by tanks and artillery killed 100 enemy troops in Thu Thien Province. They said the operation began Thursday and ended Friday. South Vietnamese casualties were reported as light.

Another 131 Communist troops were reported killed Thursday in engagements in the provinces of Quang Tri, Tay Ninh on the Cambodian frontier and Long An, south of Saigon.

B52 jet bombers, streaking in from Guam before dawn, unloaded explosives on a suspected Communist troops concentration near the Cambodian border 65 miles northwest of Saigon.

The Australian-Viet Cong battle was a high point aground.

U.S. and New Zealand artillery helped the previously untried 6th Battalion of the Royal Australian Regiment rout the enemy in a four-hour fight Thursday through monsoon rain on a French-run rubber plantation 42 miles southeast of Saigon.

Casualties among the Australians were officially reported to be moderate. But some elements were hit hard. All 12 men of a detachment that made the initial contact with the Viet Cong were reported killed or wounded.

Australian losses generally had been light in campaigning since Canberra, represented now by 4,500 servicemen, committed an initial infantry company to the war 14 months ago. The Australian contingent ranks third in numbers — after those of the United States and South Korea — among the foreign allies.

The 6th Battalion arrived in Viet Nam in May. It is made up of both regulars and draftees, called national servicemen. The latter are operating outside Australia for the first time in any war involving that nation.

In addition to the 220 killed the Australians said they wounded an undetermined number of Viet Cong and captured three.

The action started when the leading squad encountered enemy troops on the plantation, called Binh Ba.

The squad was cut off by the Viet Cong, who also tried to encircle the Australian company that followed it. The company radioed for reinforcements. By the time it had fought its way to the squad, it found all those men were casualties.

The reinforcements moved up in armored personnel carriers over the low hills, apparently undected in the torrential rain. They raked the Communists with machine-gun fire.

The fighting that followed was so intense the Australians ran out of ammunition. Australian helicopters risked heavy gunfire to lift more into the frontline.

The Viet Cong made human wave attacks, but were beaten back. The bulk of the Communist rushes were aimed at the national servicemen, who make up a quarter of the battalion. The draftees and regulars alike set out in pursuit after the Viet Cong gave up the fight.

Reporting on another phase of the war, a U.S. government spokesman said Viet Cong terrorists burned the homes and possessions of about 5,000 persons in three "new life" refugee hamlets near Quang Nagi, 340 miles northeast of Saigon.

Tthey raided Phy Hoa and Korung Tin on Tuesday, forcing the villagers to line up outside while they applied the torch. They followed up with a raid Wednesday at Pho An, on a sandbar at the mouth of the Quang Ngai River.

On the other sid eof the world, Pope Paul VI voiced an "ardent hope" for a quick end to the war in a 30-minute conference with South Viet Nam's deputy premier, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Huu Co.

The Vatican reported the Roman Catholic pontiff's wish after the private audience at Castel Gandolfo, the papal summer residence. It said he expressed a new his desire for a "just agreement to assure serenity and prosperity for the entire country."

Though Premier Nguyen Cao Ky has suggested invasion would be one way to end the war, Co told newsmen the Saigon government has no intention of pushing the land action into North Viet Nam. He is completing a trip to several African and European nations to express thanks for nonmilitary help given to the South Vietnamese.

In Budapest, the Hungarian Communist party journal Nepszabadsag said editorially that, though "U.S. aggression in Viet Nam necessarily narrowed foreign political operations between the Communist countries and the United States, it would be a mistake not to use existing possibilities of contact."

Bookmaker Draws Term Of 2 Years

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Eugene Anthony Nolan, 36, of New Orleans, received a maximum two-year prison sentence Friday for his July 8 conviction on charges of interstate transmission of wagering information.

Nolan, formerly of Baton Rouge, La., gave immediate notice of appeal to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. He was released on $10,000 bond.

Nolan also was ordered by Federal Judge Joe Ingraham, who presided at last month's trial, to pay a $10,000 fine.

Morton L. Sussman, first assistant U.S. attorney here, described Nolan as having "one of the largest bookmaking operations in the United States."

The indictment against Nolan cites violations during the 1963 football season involving transmission of wagering information between the states of Texas and Louisiana.

Nolan, registered as a professional gambler with the Internal Revenue Service, was arrested in May and indicted with two other men by a Los Angeles, Calif., federal grand jury on five counts of interstate transmission of bets, wagers and wagering information. He is free on $5,000 bond in that case and no trial date has been set.

Record Tourism

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — A record 700,000 tourists came to Hungary in the first half of this year, the government reported. It said the big attractions were the drama festival at Szeged, an international camping and caravan rally, and the Esperanto world congress.

Malik Confronts President Sukarno

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Foreign Minister Adam Malik has thrown himself into direct conflict with President Sukarno by declaring an end to Sukarno's Conference of New Emerging Forces — Conefo. Conefo was one of Sukarno's favorite "anti-imperialist" creation.

Malik made his statement disavowing Conefo on a tour of West Irian — New Guinea. At the same time Sukarno declared here he wanted a Conefo session held before Indonesia returns to membership in the United Nations.

Sukarno pulled Indonesia out of the United Nations in early 1965 and set up plans for Conefo as an answer to what he called the "imperialist-dominated" world organization. But Conefo has been a flop. Buildings begun with Communist Chinese aid stand half finished and work no longer is progressing.

Malik, who returned Friday, from a four-day tour through West Irian, said, "Like it or not, we have to drop Conefo." He told cheering crowds of West Irians that Indonesia planned to return to the United Nations very soon.

Malik asked the crowd, "Do you want to return?" They responded by banging drums and shouting, "Yes." Malik replied, "What if President Sukarno doesn't agree?" The crowd answered, "Pressure him."

The foreign minister toured West Irian to get a first-hand look at problems caused by a critical food shortage and to assure the people that the central government in Jakarta has not forgotten them. The food shortages had led to riots in the area.

Malik sources said he promised the West Irians a new form of currency would be prepared for them to counter inflation, but declined to give details.

In Bandung earlier in the day, about 2,00 pro-Sukarno demonstrators, apparently angered by anti-Sukarno slogans smeared on walls overnight, tried to march on the anti-Sukarno student headquarters but were beaten off by soldiers.

Labor Market Hike Reported

The Louisiana State Employment Service released statistics showing a rise in the Monroe labor market in July over June of 275 persons, bringing the number of employed to 43,275.

Gains are up in all industries except retail trade.

Total unemployment figures are at 1,650, down 225 from June and 500 from June, of 1965. The service predicted the upturn in employment to continue for the next 60 days.

The hike in employment figures was attributed to seasonal factors and expansion in industry.

Police Probe Theft Report

Monroe police late Friday were investigating the reported theft of approximately $270 in auto equipment from River's Ford Car Lot, Louisville Avenue.

Police said a River's spokesman said five car batteries, two truck batteries and a set of hubcaps, was missing.

Growth Gauge

A gauge to the city's growth is the increase in building permits being issued. One growth factor that has become apparent is the expansion of Monroe's several welding supply stores. The use of steel in new buildings and highways has increased the demand for welding supplies. Consequently, three major Monroe welding supply stores have increased their stores, moved or have made plans to move into new and expanded buildings within the past month, a study of building permits reveals.

Civic Center

Managers of both local chambers of commerce are getting a foretaste of the luxury that will soon be theirs in Monroe when the new Civic Center is functioning. James S. (Jim) Williams of the Monroe chamber and Eugene Smith of the West Monroe chamber were in Alexandria Friday attending a meeting sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce. While in Alexandria, both chamber managers were expected to become familiar with that city's new Civic Center, now in operation for conventions and cultural events.

Jets Hit Fuel Dumps; Aussies Battle Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (A) — U.S. Fliers attacked seven oil storage depots near North Viet Nam's southern panhandle Friday and touched off numerous secondary fires and explosions, the U.S. Military Command anounced today.

A spokesman said bad weather over the North curtailed strikes in the Hanoi and Haiphong areas and in the Red River Valley.

On the ground, Australian troops have hurled back human wave attacks by a Viet Cong battalion and killed 220 of its 600 men in the Aussies' biggest battle of the war, spokesman reported Friday. A hunt was on southeast of Saigon for guerrilla survivors.

South Vietnamese government units claimed 231 enemy dead in far-flung engagements in four provinces.

A military spokesman said pilots reported six secondary explosions and many fires in the attacks on the seven oil dumps. Navy pilots also hit the Nam Dinh storage area 45 miles southwest .of Haiphong.

U.S. Fliers bagged their 18th MIG fighter on one of 97 missions over North Viet Nam on Thursday.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said several hundred Vietnamese militiamen supported by tanks and artillery killed 100 enemy troops in Thu Thien Province. They said the operation began Thursday and ended Friday. South Vietnamese casualties were reported as light.

Another 131 Communist troops were reported killed Thursday in engagements in the provinces of Quang Tri, Tay Ninh on the Cambodian frontier and Long An, south of Saigon.

B52 jet bombers, streaking in from Guam before dawn, unloaded explosives on a suspected Communist troops concentration near the Cambodian border 65 miles northwest of Saigon.

The Australian-Viet Cong battle was a high point aground.

U.S. and New Zealand artillery helped the previously untried 6th Battalion of the Royal Australian Regiment rout the enemy in a four-hour fight Thursday through monsoon rain on a French-run rubber plantation 42 miles southeast of Saigon.

Casualties among the Australians were officially reported to be moderate. But some elements were hit hard. All 12 men of a detachment that made the initial contact with the Viet Cong were reported killed or wounded.

Australian losses generally had been light in campaigning since Canberra, represented now by 4,500 servicemen, committed an initial infantry company to the war 14 months ago. The Australian contingent ranks third in numbers — after those of the United States and South Korea — among the foreign allies.

The 6th Battalion arrived in Viet Nam in May. It is made up of both regulars and draftees, called national servicemen. The latter are operating outside Australia for the first time in any war involving that nation.

In addition to the 220 killed the Australians said they wounded an undetermined number of Viet Cong and captured three.

The action started when the leading squad encountered enemy troops on the plantation, called Binh Ba.

The squad was cut off by the Viet Cong, who also tried to encircle the Australian company that followed it. The company radioed for reinforcements. By the time it had fought its way to the squad, it found all those men were casualties.

The reinforcements moved up in armored personnel carriers over the low hills, apparently undected in the torrential rain. They raked the Communists with machine-gun fire.

The fighting that followed was so intense the Australians ran out of ammunition. Australian helicopters risked heavy gunfire to lift more into the frontline.

The Viet Cong made human wave attacks, but were beaten back. The bulk of the Communist rushes were aimed at the national servicemen, who make up a quarter of the battalion. The draftees and regulars alike set out in pursuit after the Viet Cong gave up the fight.

Reporting on another phase of the war, a U.S. government spokesman said Viet Cong terrorists burned the homes and possessions of about 5,000 persons in three "new life" refugee hamlets near Quang Nagi, 340 miles northeast of Saigon.

Tthey raided Phy Hoa and Korung Tin on Tuesday, forcing the villagers to line up outside while they applied the torch. They followed up with a raid Wednesday at Pho An, on a sandbar at the mouth of the Quang Ngai River.

On the other sid eof the world, Pope Paul VI voiced an "ardent hope" for a quick end to the war in a 30-minute conference with South Viet Nam's deputy premier, Lt. Gen. Nguyen Huu Co.

The Vatican reported the Roman Catholic pontiff's wish after the private audience at Castel Gandolfo, the papal summer residence. It said he expressed a new his desire for a "just agreement to assure serenity and prosperity for the entire country."

Though Premier Nguyen Cao Ky has suggested invasion would be one way to end the war, Co told newsmen the Saigon government has no intention of pushing the land action into North Viet Nam. He is completing a trip to several African and European nations to express thanks for nonmilitary help given to the South Vietnamese.

In Budapest, the Hungarian Communist party journal Nepszabadsag said editorially that, though "U.S. aggression in Viet Nam necessarily narrowed foreign political operations between the Communist countries and the United States, it would be a mistake not to use existing possibilities of contact."

Bookmaker Draws Term Of 2 Years

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Eugene Anthony Nolan, 36, of New Orleans, received a maximum two-year prison sentence Friday for his July 8 conviction on charges of interstate transmission of wagering information.

Nolan, formerly of Baton Rouge, La., gave immediate notice of appeal to the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. He was released on $10,000 bond.

Nolan also was ordered by Federal Judge Joe Ingraham, who presided at last month's trial, to pay a $10,000 fine.

Morton L. Sussman, first assistant U.S. attorney here, described Nolan as having "one of the largest bookmaking operations in the United States."

The indictment against Nolan cites violations during the 1963 football season involving transmission of wagering information between the states of Texas and Louisiana.

Nolan, registered as a professional gambler with the Internal Revenue Service, was arrested in May and indicted with two other men by a Los Angeles, Calif., federal grand jury on five counts of interstate transmission of bets, wagers and wagering information. He is free on $5,000 bond in that case and no trial date has been set.

Malik Confronts President Sukarno

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Foreign Minister Adam Malik has thrown himself into direct conflict with President Sukarno by declaring an end to Sukarno's Conference of New Emerging Forces — Conefo. Conefo was one of Sukarno's favorite "anti-imperialist" creation.

Malik made his statement disavowing Conefo on a tour of West Irian — New Guinea. At the same time Sukarno declared here he wanted a Conefo session held before Indonesia returns to membership in the United Nations.

Sukarno pulled Indonesia out of the United Nations in early 1965 and set up plans for Conefo as an answer to what he called the "imperialist-dominated" world organization. But Conefo has been a flop. Buildings begun with Communist Chinese aid stand half finished and work no longer is progressing.

Malik, who returned Friday, from a four-day tour through West Irian, said, "Like it or not, we have to drop Conefo." He told cheering crowds of West Irians that Indonesia planned to return to the United Nations very soon.

Malik asked the crowd, "Do you want to return?" They responded by banging drums and shouting, "Yes." Malik replied, "What if President Sukarno doesn't agree?" The crowd answered, "Pressure him."

The foreign minister toured West Irian to get a first-hand look at problems caused by a critical food shortage and to assure the people that the central government in Jakarta has not forgotten them. The food shortages had led to riots in the area.

Malik sources said he promised the West Irians a new form of currency would be prepared for them to counter inflation, but declined to give details.

In Bandung earlier in the day, about 2,00 pro-Sukarno demonstrators, apparently angered by anti-Sukarno slogans smeared on walls overnight, tried to march on the anti-Sukarno student headquarters but were beaten off by soldiers.

Labor Market Hike Reported

The Louisiana State Employment Service released statistics showing a rise in the Monroe labor market in July over June of 275 persons, bringing the number of employed to 43,275.

Gains are up in all industries except retail trade.

Total unemployment figures are at 1,650, down 225 from June and 500 from June, of 1965. The service predicted the upturn in employment to continue for the next 60 days.

The hike in employment figures was attributed to seasonal factors and expansion in industry.

Police Probe Theft Report

Monroe police late Friday were investigating the reported theft of approximately $270 in auto equipment from River's Ford Car Lot, Louisville Avenue.

Police said a River's spokesman said five car batteries, two truck batteries and a set of hubcaps, was missing.

Police Get Abductor Of Girl, 13

WINCHENDON, Mass. (AP) — A gun-toting former Marine with a history of mental illness was captured Friday with the 13-year-old girl he abducted from her home Thursday at gunpoint.

Steven H. Caouette, 18, and Marie Couture, both of Winchendon were found near Fitzwilliam Depot, N.H. Police said Caouette surrendered without a fight.

Chief Webb Sherman of the Fitzwilliam police said the pair was spotted by George Dunton Jr.

"He saw the two of them in a field near the general store," Sherman said. "The boy sent the girl to the store to buy food, and he crouched down in the grass with his rifle."

Sherman said Dunton recognized the pair from newspaper pictures. "I called the state police and the sheriff's department," he said. "The area was surrounded. They were taken into custody without trouble. The rifle wasn't fired."

Caouette and the girl were taken to Keene police headquarters.

Fitzwilliam is about nine miles from Winchendon, where the pair vanished into woodlands Thursday night. It is just over the state line from Massachusetts, 12 miles southeast of Kenne.

The affair began Thursday when, police said, Caouette burst into the Couture home and abducted Marie.

Shirley Morancie, 29, the girl's aunt and the only other person in the house at the time said Caouette snapped at her: "If you say anything about this, I'll shoot you."

Friday Massachusetts state troopers, 25 police officers from Winchendon and several nearby towns, county Sheriff Joe Smith and four FBI gents conducted the search in a wooded section surrounding Whitney Pond. This area, not far from the New Hampshire border in central Massachusetts, is where Caouette grew up and he knows it well, police said.

Two boys told police they saw Caouette pushing and pulling Marie into woods near the pond and were warned that they, too, would be shot if they notified police.

A motorist said he caught a glimpse of the wanted man during the night. He said he caught Caouette in the glare of his car headlights but the man quickly jumped back into the woods.

Residents near Rts. 12 and 140 heard shooting later Friday but a search of those areas failed to turn up anything.

Police said Caouette had dated the girl several times.

They said he was employed as a factory hand at the Winchendon Furniture Co. until Thursday morning when he went up to the plant cashier and demanded his pay.

Faint Legislative Discontent

Educators Oppose Gov. Wallace Plan

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Alabama education leaders joined ranks Friday behind a solid wall of opposition to Gov. George Wallace's defiant plan to prohibit compliance with federal school integration guidelines.

Wallace withheld comment, but an administration backer in the legislature warned the educators that they "are going to regret the action they have taken."

There were faint new signs of discontent within the legislature itself. However, the governor still had assurance of more than enough votes to pass his bill to outlaw the guidelines in Alabama and to use state funds to reimburse city and county school boards for any federal money lost for failure to comply.

The Board of Trustees of the Alabama Education Association, representing some 23,000 white teachers in the state, adopted a strong statement of policy opposing the Wallace program. AEA officials were joined by other education leaders, including spokesmen for the University of Alabama, Auburn University and the Alabama Association of School Boards.

They agreed with the governor's contention that the guidelines laid down by the Health, Education and Welfare Department are illegal. But they said the schools "will be best served by a vigorous (court) test of such illegality."

Suits are pending to determine whether the guidelines violate the 1964 Civil Rights Act as Wallace contends. He has urged local school boards to refuse to abide by the integration regulations until their constitutionality has been decided.

Two legislative commiteees—Ways and Means in the house and Finance in the senate—prepared meanwhile for public hearings on the administration's antiguidelines measure next Tuesday.

Anticipating an all-day affair, the house and senate decided to wait until 6 p.m. to reconvene after the weekend recess.

The AEA president, Dr. Robert L. Saunders of Auburn University, promised that education leaders will be on hand for the hearing and "do everything we can within reasonable means to resist this legislation."

At the Capitol, Sen. Jimmy Clark of Wallace's home county of Barbour, arose in the senate and angrily denounced the educators' stand. "It appears," he charged, "that there are some school administrators and college presidents who are willing to sell out our children for a price."

"How many of this group," he demanded, "have come out in trying to protect the people of Alabama and our children against the tyranny in these federal guidelines?"

The AEA, however, based its opposition partly on the contention that Wallace's defiance will accomplish little in the long run and that it will take away money which is needed for further teacher salary increases and other school operations.

The legislature, now in special session, has already taken $44 million out of an accumulated surplus in the state treasury and allocated it to the schools for teacher salaries and other needs during the coming year.

Saunders and his colleagues said the administration bill would deprive local school boards of their decision-making powers and invest them in the legislative branch of the government. Wallace, speaking to the legislature Thursday night, asked, among other things, for creation of a special commission composed of the governor and the entire legislature to enforce the proposed new law.

School leaders said they were unable to determine how much federal money might be lost for failure to abide by the guidelines.

The legislature, now in special session, has already taken $44 million out of an accumulated surplus in the state treasury and allocated it to the schools for teacher salaries and other needs during the coming year.

Saunders and his colleagues said the administration bill would deprive local school boards of their decision-making powers and invest them in the legislative branch of the government. Wallace, speaking to the legislature Thursday night, asked, among other things, for creation of a special commission composed of the governor and the entire legislature to enforce the proposed new law.

School leaders said they were unable to determine how much federal money might be lost for failure to abide by the guidelines.

Bypassed Towns Pleased

When routes were being laid out and highway rights-of-way were being obtained for the first of the vast network of superhighways now being constructed in the United States, cries and howls of disappointment and rage went up from many cities and towns which were being bypassed. Officials of a good many of these places felt their cities would be ruined. Actually, there has been an opposite effect. In practically every town near enough to a superhighway to feel that it has been by-passed, continued growth and development has been amazingly good. Merchants, city officials and citizens generally have expressed the opinion that results have been good and far beyond their expectations.

Occasionally stories crop up from various towns telling of early apprehensions and then of delighted surprise. Livingston, Mont., is one such town and the situation there has been described by Terry Bass in an article in the magazine Highway User.

Of course, all towns are bypassed to some extent, since automobiles, trucks and other vehicles can whiz through without stopping, if they wish, at speeds ranging from 50 to 70 miles an hour. This is a mighty big improvement for those who just want to go through, who would not stop to buy anything anyhow and who would be irritated by the difficulty of getting through heavy downtown traffic.

Monroe and West Monroe, along with some other North Louisiana cities, come as near as possible to being not bypassed, inasmuch as the new Interstate 20 highway passes directly over them and there are numerous access and exit roads. Although the highway has not been opened all the way through to the eastward, there has been considerable relief from heavy, non-buying traffic.

In the Highway User article, it was stated that, some years ago, highway engineers were about as welcome in Livingston as ants at a picnic.

The hum and bustle of construction equipment cutting a four lane highway — Interstate 90 — around the town was no sweet song of progress to town officials, business leaders and merchants. Instead, as they heard it, the sound of Interstate 90 traffic bypassing their town was the sound of economic disaster. Many were the voices that said so in loud and angry terms.

The bypass was completed in 1962, with Governor Tim Babcock snipping the ceremonial ribbon. To many, the town's economic jugular vein seemed severed that day with the slash of the governor's scissors and as traffic began flowing over the 11.8 miles of high speed asphalt around the southern edge of Livingston.

"We were apprehensive to say the least, back then," recalled the town's mayor, George Ommundsen. "It's different now, though."

Different indeed! The town's businessmen, civic leaders and town officials are now talking favorably about their bypass. Many are calling it an economic shot in the arm for Livingston. They are even asking: "When will we get more Interstate in this area?"

Here are some of the results: Bank deposits are up several million dollars, residential and commercial telephone hookups have increased by nearly 400. Instead of folding, the town now supports a new shopping center near one of the three I-90 interchanges, several new gasoline stations and numerous businesses have enlarged their floor space.

When all is said and done, easier highway access to almost any town is certain to bring an increase in business, even though it may take a few more miles to get there.

This is one of the things that make construction of superhighways of such importance to our country. Highway construction is one of the things at which we have never objected to government expenditure. Just as Congressman Otto E. Passman of the Fifth Congressional District of Louisiana regards water control and conservation a sound investment, so we regard the construction of highways.

Therefore, we say let's abandon the "anti-poverty" program, which is doing little good for those who need it, and the foreign aid program, which seems to have done nothing but damage our prestige abroad and, if we can think of nothing better to do with the billions thus saved, and don't want to eliminate the taxes, let's put all this money into the construction of new superhighways.

Perez' Persistence

Although Leander H. Perez, Sr., described as the political overlord of Plaquemines Parish, was foredoomed to failure in his effort to prevent desegregation of Plaquemines Parish schools, his fierce determination to fight for the things he obviously believes are right, and which many others also believe are right, can scarcely fail to stir admiration.

Perez had said flatly that efforts to desegregate schools in his parish would fail. Apparently, in view of the many Supreme Court decisions, no one else believed that. Perez' charge that the "infamous" 1954 "black Monday" decision of the United States Supreme Court, in which it declared integration of schools was necessary as a part of giving Negroes equal rights, was rendered as a result of "communist" evidence might weigh heavily with many people but its weight with the Supreme Court and therefore with the lower courts would be practically nil, inasmuch as most of the court's rulings have been in favor of the communists.

Incidentally, statistics have been given to show that Chief Justice Earl Warren has ruled in favor of the communists in every case that has been in issue in his court.

Perez declared Negroes are mentally inferior to whites because they are different physically and said medical studies showed the Negro's brain waves are slower than those of the whites. It has also been stated medically that blood cells in Negroes are shaped differently from those in white people.

Apparently the only bearing that would have on the court's decision relates to its claim that schools must be integrated in order to provide Negroes equal opportunity. If we contended that Negroes are equal intellectually to white people, as some do, then we see no reason to say Negroes in all-Negro schools were not being given equal opportunity. If Negroes are less favorably equipped than white people, no amount of education would change that situation.

United States District Court Judge Herbert W. Christenberry's threat to hold Perez in contempt of court for stating in court that Christenberry had made up his mind in advance on his decision, although apparently justified, would seem laughable to some. There probably are not many people in any way familiar with the situation who doubt that Christenberry had made up his mind (or knew what he would have to do) before trial of the case started.

Christenberry, along with everybody else, knows the mind of the Supreme Court on the matter of integration. No federal judge or any other judge really likes to be overruled by a higher court. In a case in which an extremely strong principle was involved and in which the judge was conscientiously bound to a side opposite of the higher court, the judge could make an opposition decision with the full knowledge that he would be overruled, and some would do that. But there has never been any indication that Judge Christenberry's thinking on the matter of integration differs that strongly from the position of the Supreme Court.

Surplus Commodities Running Out

Much Is Used In Food For Freedom Program

JUST A FEW years ago Government - leased warehouses were bulging with American farm surpluses. Now, in most commodities — cotton being a notable exception — that overhanging surplus has become merely a "desirable reserve."

Most of the whittling down of the hoard has come since the enactment of Public Law 480, passed in 1954, which is also known as the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act, and as the Food for Peace program, and will soon be known as the Food for Freedom program.

Under Public Law 480 our vast stockpile of farm commodities, which was being stored at staggering expense has largely been sold, bartered or given away at home or abroad. Mostly it has gone overseas at semi-giveaway terms.

Not many people thought in 1961 that in 1966 the American Government would be urging the American farmer to grow bigger crops. But in February the Department of Agriculture authorized a 10 per cent increase in the number of acres each rice farmer would be permitted to seed this year.

ON MAY 5 THE Department of Agriculture announced a 15 per cent boost in the 1967 wheat allotment. On August 8 another 15 percent increase was announced. The two increases amounted to 16,600,000 acres, thus permitting a total of 68,200,000 acres to be sown for next year's crop.

The peak of the Commodity Credit Corporation's wheat holding was in July, 1961, when it reached 1,400,000,000 bushels. In July of this year wheat carry-over was down to 536,000,000 bushels and the uncommitted surplus in CCC storage amounted to 221,170,000 bushels.

The trimmed wheat surplus has brought a corresponding dip in that commodity's storage cost, which at one time exceeded $450,000 per day. In fact reduction in all wheat and grain have brought storage costs for all commodities down from $427,000,000 in 1961 to $238,000,000 for the fiscal year 1966.

A FOURTH OF our wheat crop is going to India this year. In the past 5 years the grain going to India have been about 95 per cent soft currency sales and 5 per cent under the donation plan. More than 100 countries of the world have received American bounty under the donation plan.

As of the latest figures, the Commodity Credit Corporation, which manages the farm surpluses, has in stockpile $2,094,000,000 of all farm commodities. In 1960 the total was approximately $8,000,000,000.

Wheat, corn, cotton, and grain sorghum, account for $1,780,000,000 warehoused on loans. And of this $1,094,000,000 represents cotton, of which there are 16,932,000 bales on which Government loans have been made. This is 2,500,000, bales more than a year ago. Because of a smaller crop this year and with increased domestic consumption a drop in the cotton carryover by August 1, 1967, of some 4,000,000 bales is expected.

Five years ago government warehouses held great quanitites of cheese and butter. They hold neither now. Rice, barley, rye and oats are held in very small quantities.

OTHER ACREAGE increases such as those authorized in wheat and rice are not in the offing. Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has stressed that if idle acres are brought back into production too rapidly the United States could again be put in a surplus position.

This year's lessened production of wheat was caused by inadequate rainfall in Kansas and other key winter-wheat producing States. With both the carryover and the new production down the State Department has confirmed that American wheat shipments under foreign aid for being cut back by 5 percent for this year. Some countries will receive larger than the 25 per cent cut.

U.S. missions around the world have been asked to forecast wheat requirements for 1966-67 in an effort to assess demand and priorities since supplies of U.S. wheat available for concessional sales and donation programs will be tighter than last year.

The extent to which heavy movements abroad have cut down the carryover of old crop wheat is pointed up by the fact that total domestic consumption will be about 525,000,000 bushels this year. This is just about what it has been in the last 30 years — the U.S. population increase being just about offset by the lower per family consumption of wheat.

Buying Remote Land Filled With Danger

LET'S SAY YOU are in the market for a plot of land on which to build a retirement or vacation home. You are invited to a "sales party" to hear details of a "perfect" two - acre site in a remote, sunny state, costing just $500. The low price hardly merits a special visit to inspect the land — and, in any case, with land values rising from coast to coast, you feel you can't lost on the investment. Should you buy—sight unseen?

Exactly what should you know about a piece of raw, undeveloped land before you buy it? What are the pitfalls in land-buying, especially in remote places?

Land values are climbing as our population grows a n d spreads across the countryside, as our vacation time expands, as our central cities become clogged with cars and soot. Many developers and speculators are making fortunes investing in cheap, far - away land and the temptation for you to get in too is strong.

But the hazards to the amateur land - buyer or investor are enormous. With alarming frequency, the unseen "dream site" turns out to be a desert and the "investment acreage" with the big future potential holds no hope of fulfilling that potential for generations. Often it's impossible even to recoup the purchase price in the foreseeable future.

HERE, THEN, ARE the fundamentals you should know before you invest in undeveloped land:

1) Exactly where is the land and where is the nearest community? Are there passable roads leading from town to lot?

2) What kind of land is it, desert or mountainous, fertile or arid? What is its elevation, vegetation, climate (not average, but highs and lows, rainfall range, incidence of hurricanes, dust storms, etc.)?

3) Who is the developer, and what is his experience and reputation based on past performance?

4) Just what are the terms of the sale? What are the total financing charges? Is the price in line with the amounts other similar nearby parcels of land are going for? In the case of a late payment, will the land and previous payments be forfeited?

5) Is the title to the land clear? Has a title search been made and is title insurance provided? Is there an accurate map of your lot, and where has it been filed?

6) WHAT UTILITIES and facilities (telephone, water, sewage, disposal, roads, electricity) are actually available and included in the deal? If no water is provided, how much will it cost to drill for it? If there is no waste disposal system, will local authorities permit you to install a septic tank?

7) What improvements are promised in the future by the developer? Will you be expected to share the cost? Are all promises spelled out in detail and writing, with a definite timetable?

8) What is the tax assessment rate for the land? Will this rate be hiked if and when the land is improved — and by approximately how much?

9) Is the land what it was advertised as? Do the actual facts support the claims on potential use of the land for retirement, recreation, farming, investment:

10) Does the promoter rush buyers into decisions and down payments "before the price goes up?"

The key rule, obviously, is to invest time and effort in looking over any property you are considering BEFORE you buy, and to know in advance exactly what you are getting for even a small sum of money.

City Demonstration Bill Next In House

WITH THE CIVIL rights bill out of the way, the House of Representatives soon will turn its attention to another of the Johnson administration's "big bills." This is the President's demonstration cities proposal, now embodied as Title I in an omnibus Housing and Urban Development Act of 1966.

The bill is 109 pages long. It came out of committee last month accompanied by a supplementary report of more than 300 pages, spelling out the changes that would be made in existing housing law. A handful of professionals may know what the bill would accomplish as a matter of law; another handful of social reformers may know what they hope it will accomplish in terms of remolding American cities closer to their hearts' desire. But it is a fair statement that no one has even a foggy notion of what the bill would cost; and if the people ever woke up to what is concealed in this sugar-coated legislation, they would shout the bill down and hang its several sponsors.

IN A MINORITY report accompanying this Trojan horse, eight Republican members of the House committee do not describe the measure as an omnibus bill. With abundant reason, they term it instead "the ominous bill."

The proposed act begins with a recital of melancholy truths. By reason of widespread slums and blight, the housing shortage, and the concentration of low-income families in central cities, the nation's urban areas are experiencing steady deterioration. The cities do not have adequate resources to deal effectively with the critical problems facing them. They need additional financial aid if they are to regain their strength.

Few persons would quarrel with these findings of fact. If the bill then went on simply to return vast sums of money to the cities, with no strings attached, cries of jubilation would resound in Council chambers everywhere. But this is not the idea at all.

The purpose of this bill is to remake American cities "to the satisfaction of the Secretary," by which is meant Dr. Robert Weaver, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development. The discretionary phrase recurs with startling frequency, in one form or another, throughout the bill. On page 3, at line 15, the term "comprehensive city demonstration program" is defined as "a locally prepared and scheduled program," but that is the first and last gesture toward local authority. After that, all that counts is the Secretary's will.

THUS, A "LOCALLY prepared and scheduled program" would be eligible for Federal grants, ranging up to 80 per cent of the cost, only if the Secretary were satisfied on eleven separate points. The program would have to "reduce educational disadvantages," whatever that may mean. Busing of pupils? Pairing of schools? The program would have to contribute to a "well-balanced city with adequate facilities for education and recreation and housing for all income levels." The Secretary would determine what was meant by "well-balanced" and "adequate."

The program would have to provide "educational and social services necessary to serve the poor and disadvantaged in the area." The Secretary, again, would make the determination. Under a final catch-all phrase, a city's program would have to meet "such additional requirements as the Secretary may establish to carry out the purposes of this title." No one yet has explained what this might mean.

Some indication of the sponsors' purpose may be gained from Section 103 (c). Here the Secretary is directed to give "maximum consideration" to whether a city's "substantive local laws are, or can be expected to be, consistent with the objectives of the program." If a city's substantive local laws fail to satisfy the Secretary, the laws must be rewritten to this decree or the grants will be denied. The bill makes it implicit that such local laws are to govern zoning, sub-division control, building codes, and of course open occupancy of housing and the total integration of schools by race and income.

A LINE-BY-LINE analysis could be much extended. It will suffice to say that from start to finish, the bill proposes to impose Federal regulations upon every city that accepts the tantalizing bribes of "Federal aid." These regulations are to go far beyond anything imposed in the past. In the "metro" section of the bill, they would apply to "the location, financing, and scheduling of individual public facility projects whether or not federally assisted." And though the bill authorizes the immediate appropriation of only $12 million for planning, it authorizes for subsequent fiscal years all the billions that may be required. In legislative parlance, it is an "open end" bill.

No one who knows the cities of America would deny that the cities have some acutely painful problems. But the notion that these problems can be solved only according "to the satisfaction of the Secretary" is a paralyzing notion in a land dedicated to local self-government. Whatever may be erected under this bill, that ideal, at least, would be destroyed.

Inflation Elsewhere Poor Excuse In U.S.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S recent statement that the cost of living has risen faster in other lands than in the United States is a feeble excuse to take our attention from the fact that inflation in America has a more profound effect than inflation anywhere else. Growing inflation here cannot be excused simply by saying that it might be worse somewhere else.

The entire Western world is showing alarming signs of this economic stagnation, and, as might be expected, the United States is leading the way.

Inflation here has been creeping for some time. Under the prodding of Lyndon Johnson and his ruthless use of the economy for his personal political purposes, inflation in America has now reached the toddling stage.

Every U.S. family feels the pinch of inflation with each purchase or payment. Lower income families who can least afford it feel inflation hardest because it strikes at basic necessities such as food and clothing.

CONFINED TO . America, there is always the chance of returning to economic sanity by voting for men devoted to such action. But as the sickness spread around the world the situation resembles a snowball rolling downhill, one far more difficult to stop.

Great Britain, leading her European neighbors, has slapped new, tough economic controls on the nation. It has not occurred to the British government, just as it has not occurred to our present government, to attack the blight by cutting down non-essential governmental spending. More red tape and no cut in spending is their answer.

West Germany, whose free enterprise economy has been the envy of the world for a decade, is also feeling a tightening of its economy. In addition to the central government policies, the relatively wild spending of local governments has added substantially to the situation. France, the Netherlands and Belgium are showing almost equal signs.

THE ROOT CAUSE is that these governments keep pushing interest rates up, making money tighter, while they make government spending easier and bigger, increasing subsidies and give - aways. As one financial journal puts it, "they're squeezing the toothpaste tube while keeping the cap on; the pressure at the holes, therefore, is irresistible."

The holes, of course, are such things as prices, adversely affecting the creation of new jobs.

All of these mark our own inflation. The President has "officially" requested all American businessmen to cut back on new jobs. He has condemned profits and blamed everybody including housewives who want fresh meat. But that is all he has done to stop inflation.

Meanwhile, he has done everything in his power to cause inflation. He has embarked on a political spending spree without precedent in American history, and only the very naive will believe his claim that Congress is to blame.

It is sometimes said of people who overeat that they are digging their graves with their teeth. This administration is digging our economic grave the same way — with the teeth of an unstoppable appetite for public spending and an obvious distaste for business and industry and all the people who make their living in them.

If Negroes are less favorably equipped than white people, no amount of education would change that situation.

United States District Court Judge Herbert W. Christenberry's threat to hold Perez in contempt of court for stating in court that Christenberry had made up his mind in advance on his decision, although apparently justified, would seem laughable to some. There probably are not many people in any way familiar with the situation who doubt that Christenberry had made up his mind (or knew what he would have to do) before trial of the case started.

Christenberry, along with everybody else, knows the mind of the Supreme Court on the matter of integration. No federal judge or any other judge really likes to be overruled by a higher court. In a case in which an extremely strong principle was involved and in which the judge was conscientiously bound to a side opposite of the higher court, the judge could make an opposition decision with the full knowledge that he would be overruled, and some would do that. But there has never been any indication that Judge Christenberry's thinking on the matter of integration differs that strongly from the position of the Supreme Court.

Surplus Commodities Running Out

Much Is Used In Food For Freedom Program

JUST A FEW years ago Government - leased warehouses were bulging with American farm surpluses. Now, in most commodities — cotton being a notable exception — that overhanging surplus has become merely a "desirable reserve."

Most of the whittling down of the hoard has come since the enactment of Public Law 480, passed in 1954, which is also known as the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act, and as the Food for Peace program, and will soon be known as the Food for Freedom program.

Under Public Law 480 our vast stockpile of farm commodities, which was being stored at staggering expense has largely been sold, bartered or given away at home or abroad. Mostly it has gone overseas at semi-giveaway terms.

Not many people thought in 1961 that in 1966 the American Government would be urging the American farmer to grow bigger crops. But in February the Department of Agriculture authorized a 10 per cent increase in the number of acres each rice farmer would be permitted to seed this year.

ON MAY 5 THE Department of Agriculture announced a 15 per cent boost in the 1967 wheat allotment. On August 8 another 15 percent increase was announced. The two increases amounted to 16,600,000 acres, thus permitting a total of 68,200,000 acres to be sown for next year's crop.

The peak of the Commodity Credit Corporation's wheat holding was in July, 1961, when it reached 1,400,000,000 bushels. In July of this year wheat carry-over was down to 536,000,000 bushels and the uncommitted surplus in CCC storage amounted to 221,170,000 bushels.

The trimmed wheat surplus has brought a corresponding dip in that commodity's storage cost, which at one time exceeded $450,000 per day. In fact reduction in all wheat and grain have brought storage costs for all commodities down from $427,000,000 in 1961 to $238,000,000 for the fiscal year 1966.

A FOURTH OF our wheat crop is going to India this year. In the past 5 years the grain going to India have been about 95 per cent soft currency sales and 5 per cent under the donation plan. More than 100 countries of the world have received American bounty under the donation plan.

As of the latest figures, the Commodity Credit Corporation, which manages the farm surpluses, has in stockpile $2,094,000,000 of all farm commodities. In 1960 the total was approximately $8,000,000,000.

Wheat, corn, cotton, and grain sorghum, account for $1,780,000,000 warehoused on loans. And of this $1,094,000,000 represents cotton, of which there are 16,932,000 bales on which Government loans have been made. This is 2,500,000, bales more than a year ago. Because of a smaller crop this year and with increased domestic consumption a drop in the cotton carryover by August 1, 1967, of some 4,000,000 bales is expected.

Five years ago government warehouses held great quanitites of cheese and butter. They hold neither now. Rice, barley, rye and oats are held in very small quantities.

OTHER ACREAGE increases such as those authorized in wheat and rice are not in the offing. Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has stressed that if idle acres are brought back into production too rapidly the United States could again be put in a surplus position.

This year's lessened production of wheat was caused by inadequate rainfall in Kansas and other key winter-wheat producing States. With both the carryover and the new production down the State Department has confirmed that American wheat shipments under foreign aid for being cut back by 5 percent for this year. Some countries will receive larger than the 25 per cent cut.

U.S. missions around the world have been asked to forecast wheat requirements for 1966-67 in an effort to assess demand and priorities since supplies of U.S. wheat available for concessional sales and donation programs will be tighter than last year.

The extent to which heavy movements abroad have cut down the carryover of old crop wheat is pointed up by the fact that total domestic consumption will be about 525,000,000 bushels this year. This is just about what it has been in the last 30 years — the U.S. population increase being just about offset by the lower per family consumption of wheat.

Buying Remote Land Filled With Danger

LET'S SAY YOU are in the market for a plot of land on which to build a retirement or vacation home. You are invited to a "sales party" to hear details of a "perfect" two - acre site in a remote, sunny state, costing just $500. The low price hardly merits a special visit to inspect the land — and, in any case, with land values rising from coast to coast, you feel you can't lost on the investment. Should you buy—sight unseen?

Exactly what should you know about a piece of raw, undeveloped land before you buy it? What are the pitfalls in land-buying, especially in remote places?

Land values are climbing as our population grows and spreads across the countryside, as our vacation time expands, as our central cities become clogged with cars and soot. Many developers and speculators are making fortunes investing in cheap, far - away land and the temptation for you to get in too is strong.

But the hazards to the amateur land - buyer or investor are enormous. With alarming frequency, the unseen "dream site" turns out to be a desert and the "investment acreage" with the big future potential holds no hope of fulfilling that potential for generations. Often it's impossible even to recoup the purchase price in the foreseeable future.

HERE, THEN, ARE the fundamentals you should know before you invest in undeveloped land:

1) Exactly where is the land and where is the nearest community? Are there passable roads leading from town to lot?

2) What kind of land is it, desert or mountainous, fertile or arid? What is its elevation, vegetation, climate (not average, but highs and lows, rainfall range, incidence of hurricanes, dust storms, etc.)?

3) Who is the developer, and what is his experience and reputation based on past performance?

4) Just what are the terms of the sale? What are the total financing charges? Is the price in line with the amounts other similar nearby parcels of land are going for? In the case of a late payment, will the land and previous payments be forfeited?

5) Is the title to the land clear? Has a title search been made and is title insurance provided? Is there an accurate map of your lot, and where has it been filed?

6) WHAT UTILITIES and facilities (telephone, water, sewage, disposal, roads, electricity) are actually available and included in the deal? If no water is provided, how much will it cost to drill for it? If there is no waste disposal system, will local authorities permit you to install a septic tank?

7) What improvements are promised in the future by the developer? Will you be expected to share the cost? Are all promises spelled out in detail and writing, with a definite timetable?

8) What is the tax assessment rate for the land? Will this rate be hiked if and when the land is improved — and by approximately how much?

9) Is the land what it was advertised as? Do the actual facts support the claims on potential use of the land for retirement, recreation, farming, investment:

10) Does the promoter rush buyers into decisions and down payments "before the price goes up?"

The key rule, obviously, is to invest time and effort in looking over any property you are considering BEFORE you buy, and to know in advance exactly what you are getting for even a small sum of money.

City Demonstration Bill Next In House

WITH THE CIVIL rights bill out of the way, the House of Representatives soon will turn its attention to another of the Johnson administration's "big bills." This is the President's demonstration cities proposal, now embodied as Title I in an omnibus Housing and Urban Development Act of 1966.

The bill is 109 pages long. It came out of committee last month accompanied by a supplementary report of more than 300 pages, spelling out the changes that would be made in existing housing law. A handful of professionals may know what the bill would accomplish as a matter of law; another handful of social reformers may know what they hope it will accomplish in terms of remolding American cities closer to their hearts' desire. But it is a fair statement that no one has even a foggy notion of what the bill would cost; and if the people ever woke up to what is concealed in this sugar-coated legislation, they would shout the bill down and hang its several sponsors.

IN A MINORITY report accompanying this Trojan horse, eight Republican members of the House committee do not describe the measure as an omnibus bill. With abundant reason, they term it instead "the ominous bill."

The proposed act begins with a recital of melancholy truths. By reason of widespread slums and blight, the housing shortage, and the concentration of low-income families in central cities, the nation's urban areas are experiencing steady deterioration. The cities do not have adequate resources to deal effectively with the critical problems facing them. They need additional financial aid if they are to regain their strength.

Few persons would quarrel with these findings of fact. If the bill then went on simply to return vast sums of money to the cities, with no strings attached, cries of jubilation would resound in Council chambers everywhere. But this is not the idea at all.

The purpose of this bill is to remake American cities "to the satisfaction of the Secretary," by which is meant Dr. Robert Weaver, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development. The discretionary phrase recurs with startling frequency, in one form or another, throughout the bill. On page 3, at line 15, the term "comprehensive city demonstration program" is defined as "a locally prepared and scheduled program," but that is the first and last gesture toward local authority. After that, all that counts is the Secretary's will.

THUS, A "LOCALLY prepared and scheduled program" would be eligible for Federal grants, ranging up to 80 per cent of the cost, only if the Secretary were satisfied on eleven separate points. The program would have to "reduce educational disadvantages," whatever that may mean. Busing of pupils? Pairing of schools? The program would have to contribute to a "well-balanced city with adequate facilities for education and recreation and housing for all income levels." The Secretary would determine what was meant by "well-balanced" and "adequate."

The program would have to provide "educational and social services necessary to serve the poor and disadvantaged in the area." The Secretary, again, would make the determination. Under a final catch-all phrase, a city's program would have to meet "such additional requirements as the Secretary may establish to carry out the purposes of this title." No one yet has explained what this might mean.

Some indication of the sponsors' purpose may be gained from Section 103 (c). Here the Secretary is directed to give "maximum consideration" to whether a city's "substantive local laws are, or can be expected to be, consistent with the objectives of the program." If a city's substantive local laws fail to satisfy the Secretary, the laws must be rewritten to this decree or the grants will be denied. The bill makes it implicit that such local laws are to govern zoning, sub-division control, building codes, and of course open occupancy of housing and the total integration of schools by race and income.

A LINE-BY-LINE analysis could be much extended. It will suffice to say that from start to finish, the bill proposes to impose Federal regulations upon every city that accepts the tantalizing bribes of "Federal aid." These regulations are to go far beyond anything imposed in the past. In the "metro" section of the bill, they would apply to "the location, financing, and scheduling of individual public facility projects whether or not federally assisted." And though the bill authorizes the immediate appropriation of only $12 million for planning, it authorizes for subsequent fiscal years all the billions that may be required. In legislative parlance, it is an "open end" bill.

No one who knows the cities of America would deny that the cities have some acutely painful problems. But the notion that these problems can be solved only according "to the satisfaction of the Secretary" is a paralyzing notion in a land dedicated to local self-government. Whatever may be erected under this bill, that ideal, at least, would be destroyed.

Inflation Elsewhere Poor Excuse In U.S.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S recent statement that the cost of living has risen faster in other lands than in the United States is a feeble excuse to take our attention from the fact that inflation in America has a more profound effect than inflation anywhere else. Growing inflation here cannot be excused simply by saying that it might be worse somewhere else.

The entire Western world is showing alarming signs of this economic stagnation, and, as might be expected, the United States is leading the way.

Inflation here has been creeping for some time. Under the prodding of Lyndon Johnson and his ruthless use of the economy for his personal political purposes, inflation in America has now reached the toddling stage.

Every U.S. family feels the pinch of inflation with each purchase or payment. Lower income families who can least afford it feel inflation hardest because it strikes at basic necessities such as food and clothing.

CONFINED TO America, there is always the chance of returning to economic sanity by voting for men devoted to such action. But as the sickness spread around the world the situation resembles a snowball rolling downhill, one far more difficult to stop.

Great Britain, leading her European neighbors, has slapped new, tough economic controls on the nation. It has not occurred to the British government, just as it has not occurred to our present government, to attack the blight by cutting down non-essential governmental spending. More red tape and no cut in spending is their answer.

West Germany, whose free enterprise economy has been the envy of the world for a decade, is also feeling a tightening of its economy. In addition to the central government policies, the relatively wild spending of local governments has added substantially to the situation. France, the Netherlands and Belgium are showing almost equal signs.

THE ROOT CAUSE is that these governments keep pushing interest rates up, making money tighter, while they make government spending easier and bigger, increasing subsidies and give - aways. As one financial journal puts it, "they're squeezing the toothpaste tube while keeping the cap on; the pressure at the holes, therefore, is irresistible."

The holes, of course, are such things as prices, adversely affecting the creation of new jobs.

All of these mark our own inflation. The President has "officially" requested all American businessmen to cut back on new jobs. He has condemned profits and blamed everybody including housewives who want fresh meat. But that is all he has done to stop inflation.

Meanwhile, he has done everything in his power to cause inflation. He has embarked on a political spending spree without precedent in American history, and only the very naive will believe his claim that Congress is to blame.

It is sometimes said of people who overeat that they are digging their graves with their teeth. This administration is digging our economic grave the same way — with the teeth of an unstoppable appetite for public spending and an obvious distaste for business and industry and all the people who make their living in them.

2 Brothers Receive Gift Of Coon Dog

ATLANTA (UPI)—Gov. Carl Sanders Friday gave two south Georgia brothers a 5-year-old female coon dog to replace a pet which died while they were in Louisiana filming a movie.

Sanders gave the dog, named Susie, to Steve and David Sanders of Centerville at a news conference.

Steve, 13, and David, 10, are already experienced actors. Steve had the lead role in "The Yearling" on Broadway. Steve was playing the child lead and David was playing his brother in Otto Preminger's "Hurry Sundown" in Louisiana when one of their coon dogs died of heat stroke after being left in a parked car.

Burst Pipe Spews LOX On Complex

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—A pipe feeding super cooled liquid oxygen to a Saturn 5 moon rocket test model ruptured during a test Friday, spewing 800,000 gallons of the propellant over the new Apollo launch complex.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said there were no injuries and the 365-foot Saturn groundmodel was not damaged.

Engineers conducting the fueling test immediately closed an emergency valve in a vain effort to stop the high pressure flow from the launch pad's oxygen tank, but the huge tank was drained.

At one point the liquod oxygen, kept at 297 degrees below zero, was gushing out of the 14-inch diameter line at 8,000 gallons per minute.

"It's strictly a break in a transfer line that poured out liquor oxygen," a NASA spokesman said.

The huge second stage of the Saturn 5 dummy was being filled with the liquid oxygen in one of a number of fueling tests to be run before the first flight rocket is taken to the pad early next year.

Degrees Set For Members Of Faculty

Three Northeast Louisiana State College faculty members — Hugh H. Doney, Frank Morgan Jr. and Edward C. Whatley — will receive Ph.D. degrees this month.

Whatley, professor of biology, will receive his degree from Mississippi State University today; the University of Mississippi will confer with doctoral degree upon Morgan, assistant professor of English, Sunday; and Doney, associate professor of geology, will receive his degree Aug. 27 from the University of Texas.

Doney joined the Northeast faculty in the fall of 1964 after serving on the Del Mar, Tex. College faculty and as a teaching assistant at Texas. He has also worked as a geologist for an oil company and as a teaching assistant at the University of Pittsburgh. He received the matter of science degree from Pittsburgh and earned his bachelor's degree at Dickinson College.

Title of his doctoral dissertation is "Geology of the Cebolla Quadrangle of New Mexico."

Morgan's dissertation is entitled "Adam Smith and Belles Lettres: An Attempt to Establish the Philosophical Basis and to Formulate the Central Tenets of His Bellestristic Thought." He received the B.A. degree at Mississippi College and his M.A. at the University of Mississippi, where he was president of the Graduate School student body.

He served as a part-time instructor at Ole Miss and was instructor in English at Memphis State University for four years before joining the Northeast faculty last fall. Morgan was selected as a reader for the English Composition Text of the College Entrance Examination Board at Princeton University this past spring.

Whatley, who joined the Northeast faculty in 1946, received his bachelor's degree from Louisiana Tech and his master's degree from the University of Arkansas.

Title of Whatley's dissertation is "A Study of Synghathus Scovelli in Fresh Waters of Louisiana and Salt Waters of Mississippi." In 1960 Whatley discovered synghathus scovelli, small water animals commonly known as pipefish, living in the fresh waters of Lake St. John near Ferriday. This penetration of more than 300 miles into fresh water is the furthest from salt water known to be made by pipefish and was the first known breeding in inland waters. Whatley published an article on the subject in the scientific journal, Copeia.

What is a former chairman of the Science Section of the Louisiana College Conference. He was chairman of Northeast's Faculty Athletic Committee for many years and served as president of the Gulf States Conference and the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association in 1960-61.

Mayor Misses Clear Victory With 43 Votes

BOGALUSA, La. (AP)—Forty three more votes and three-term mayor of Bogalusa Curt Siegelin could have skipped the runoff in his bid for the position.

Siegelin, owner of radio station WKIC, received 49.4 per cent of the total votes in Saturday's primary. He polled 3,515 votes to 2,110 votes for motel owner Charles Richardson and 1,189 votes for drive-in operator Millard Brooks.

Siegelin will meet Richardson in a runoff Sept. 24 to see who will face Republican Harry Wilson in the Nov. 8 general election.

Mayor Jesse Cutrer, who championed the cause of moderation during Bogalusa's 18 months of racial turmoil, did not seek a second term.

Churches Influence U.S. Moral Stands

United Press International

Do moral pronouncements by churches have any real impact on public opinion?

Cynics would say no, and in moments of discouragement church leaders would be inclined to agree.

But solid evidence is at hand that religious teaching can help to bring about a major change in the attitudes of the American people.

About 15 years ago, Protestant denominations began a campaign for abolition of capital punishment. At that time, public opinion polls showed that more than two-thirds of the people were in favor of the death penalty.

The latest Gallup poll, conducted this summer, shows that only 42 per cent want to retain capital punishment, while 47 per cent would like to see it abolished. The other 11 per cent are undecided.

This striking shift in popular feeling was not achieved solely by churches. Other voices have also been raised against the death penalty. But the campaign for abolition has been organized and led primarily by churchmen, and has been motivated largely by moral concerns.

The religious argument against capital punishment was stated most recently in a resolution adopted June 29 by a near-unanimous vote of delegates to the annual meeting of the Lutheran Church of America in Kansas City. It said that the death penalty "falls disproportionately upon those least able to defend themselves," makes a miscarriage of justice irrevocable, and "ends the possibility of restoring the convicted person to effective and productive citizenship." It also said history provides no proof of the contention that capital punishment serves as a deterrent to crime.

To date, only 13 of the 50 states have taken formal legislative action to abolish the death penalty. But there has been a strong trend toward de facto abolition. During the 1940s, the United States had an average of 128 executions a year. By 1964, the number of executions had declined to 15. Last year, only 7 persons were legally put to death in America.

Southern Gets CAB Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Civil Aeronautics Board granted Southern Airways temporary authority Friday to serve the space agency's Mississippi Test facility on its scheduled flights between Huntsville, Ala., and New Orleans.

The airline proposes to operate one round trip daily five days a week via the Mississippi Facility 70 miles north of New Orleans. The test facility is operated by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration which supported the carrier's plan.

The temporary authority will remain in effect until the board rules on Southern's application to serve the facility on a permanent basis.

A fourth Williams child, 3-year-old Robin, was critically injured. Another passenger, Terri Wheeler, 17, Little Rock, was listed in fair condition at a Claremore, Okla., hospital.

The family and Miss Wheeler were on their way to Clinton Sherman Air Force Base, Okla., to visit Larry David Williams, a son of the dead couple and fiance of Miss Wheeler.

The Williams' vehicle skidded out of control on the Verdigris River bridge on the Will Rogers turnpike, just a few miles east of the Tulsa toll gate.

The van skidded through a guard rail and was said to have traveled 100 feet in the air before slamming into a rock pile beside a hill.

Market Decline Remains; Fifth Straight Daily Fall

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market's relentless decline continued Friday, pausing only for a weak technical rally early in the morning. Trading was moderate.

Some of the most glittering of the glamor stocks were battered severely as the market underwent its fifth straight daily fall. Once again popular averages were pulled down to their lowest level in more than two years.

Volume was 7.08 million shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 6.12 to 804.62, their lowest close since June 8, 1964 when the reading was 800.31.

Losers outnumbered gainers by about 3 to one on the New York Stock Exchange.

Sperry Rand was the most active stock, falling 1¼ to 30⅜ on 260,800 shares. This still left it with the major part of its 1966 rise from a low of 17⅛ to a high of 33⅝, a comparatively recent development.

Among the other volume leaders, Itek toppled 12⅝ to 81⅜; Xerox 7¼ to 193¼; Fairchild Camera to 190¼; Polaroid, 7½ to 156½; Burroughs 3½ to 78⅜; and SCM 2⅝ to 66.

Twelve of the 15 most active stocks fell and three rose. Raytheon, second most active, advanced 1¼, General Motors gained ⅛ and Consolidation Coal 2¼. The latter advanced on word of tax rulings which permit Continental Oil to go ahead with its acquisition of Consolidation Coal.

Brokers said tight money and high interest rates and the fear of even greater pressure from this in the future was the main factor behind the decline.

Also mentioned was doubt about the progress of union voting on settlement of the airline strike. Impending labor negotiations for General Electric, as well as a whole list of other labor talks also chilled sentiment, said analysts.

The plunge of housing starts in July to their lowest level since 1960 was another gloomy item.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.9 to 289.0, its lowest level since Jan. 20, 1964 when it closed at the same figure. New lows were made also by industrials, down 2.3, rails, down 1.5, and utilities, down .8.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index fell .54 to 79.62.

Of 1,412 issues traded, 873 fell and 292 rose. New lows for the year totaled 377 and new highs three.

Xerox, which fell 15 points on Thursday, recovered 1½ at the opening but its gain melted.

Analysts said the market was "in a deeply oversold condition" and that a sharp rally was likely, in view of the market's past performance. But they envisioned nothing better than a somewhat transient, technical rally until there should be some fundamental change in the news background.

Airlines were higher early in the day as hopes ran high for ratification of the airline settlement. As the day went on, however, scattered reports seemed to indicate considerable opposition and the issue was in doubt.

Eastern Air Lines ended the day with a loss of 1⅞.

Among other airlines, American and Braniff gained fractions and Northwest rose 1. Pan American and United dropped fractions.

Occidental Petroleum closed at 33⅝, up ½, on the New York Stock Exchange. The stock rose several points later on the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange in response to a published report that it may have one of the largest iron ore deposits in the western United States.

Losses of a point or more were taken by a wide range of stocks including New York Central, Pennsylvania Railroad, Standard Oil (New Jersey), U.S. Smelting, General Electric, du Pont, Eastman Kodak, American Smelting, Zenith and Goodyear.

Prices fell on the American Stock Exchange on volume of 1.95 million shares. The Exchange's stock index fell $.16 to $14.40. Syntex lost 3¼, Westec 2½ and Monogram Industries 1. Scurry Rainbow Oil rose 1.

Corporate bonds were unchanged to lower. U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly lower.

Cotton Trade Declines On Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed 25 cents a bale higher to 75 cents lower Friday on the basis of final bids. There were no actual trades.

The weather was generally fair, with temperatures high. This was favorable for cotton growth, dealers said.

Oil Firm Plans Move Of Offices

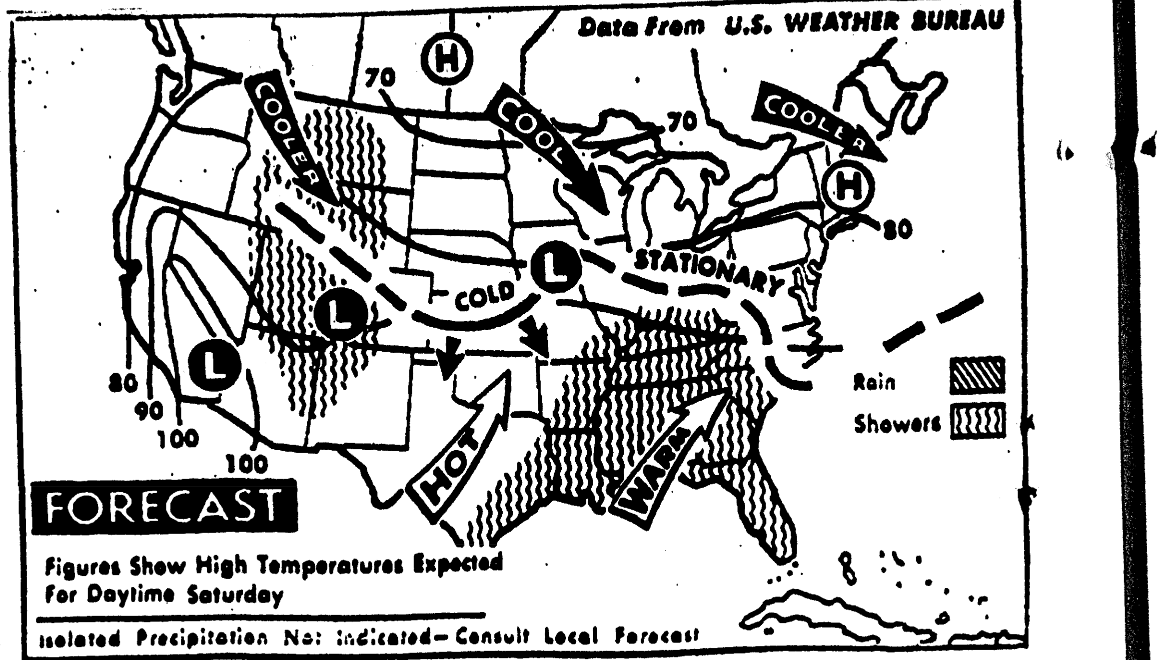
LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — The southwest division offices of the Shell Oil Co. will move from Lafayette to New Orleans on or about Jan. 1, 1967, J. E. Wilson, area vice president, said Friday.

About 60 families will be offered transfers to the Crescent City. Shell will maintain a land office here, which will employ an estimated four or five persons.

"The move is due to technological advancements in communications and transportation and will permit greater utilization of computer facilities at the data center at New Orleans," Wilson said. "This in no way lessens the company's interests or activities in the present area of opreation."

The move will mark the second major oil firm to leave the area within recent months. Mobil Oil Co. also consolidated its operations with a move to New Orleans recently.



COOLER TEMPERATURES are expected in New England and the Northern Plateau while remaining cool in the upper Mississippi Valley and Great Lakes. It will be hot in the Southern Plains and continued warm in the southeast. Scattered showers are expected in the Rockies and along the South Atlantic coast. (AP Wirephoto)

Weak Prices Dominate On Grain Mart

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices in the grain futures market were moderately weaker most of the time but August soybeans slumped the 10 cents limit for a single day at times on heavy offerings and a virtual absence of demand.

Brokers said the selling all around appeared to be mainly liquidation on the belief that the market had exhausted is bullish factors for the present.

One analyst expressed belief commercial buyers had filled all their requirements for a while.

Soybeans were 1¾ to 10 cents a bushel lower at the close, August $3.76¼ asked; wheat 1¼ to 1½ lower, September $1.90¼-⅜; corn ⅜ to ⅞ higher, September $1.51-50⅞; oats ⅛ to 1⅛ higher, September 76⅝-½ cents; rye 1½ to 2 cents lower, September $1.32.

France Tries To Dissuade U.S. 'Trials'

PARIS (UPI)—French authorities will try to prevent the scheduled "trial" of Presisent Johnson and other U.S. officials for Viet Nam "war crimes" by an international group of leftist intellectuals, reliable sources said Friday.

The sources said the French government was seriously concerned that such a mock trial would further damage already badly frayed French-American relations.

British philosopher Bertrand Russell announced recently that the "trial" would be held in November in Paris before a panel including him, leftist French philosopher Jean-Paul Sartre, French authoress Sinone de Beauvoir and a number of other persons.

There were reports Stokely Carmichael, the militant young American civil rights leader who heads the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), had been invited to serve on the pane. SNCC,, however, later said, Carmichael would not attend but that another SNCC official might.

The sources said French officials have been studying ways of preventing such a propaganda trial being held on French territory without infringing on the right of free speech guaranteed by the French constitution.

They said the possibility under discussion is to invoke the French law which makes it illegal to issue insults against the president of France or foreign heads of state.

Market Decline Remains; Fifth Straight Daily Fall

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market's relentless decline continued Friday, pausing only for a weak technical rally early in the morning. Trading was moderate.

Some of the most glittering of the glamor stocks were battered severely as the market underwent its fifth straight daily fall. Once again popular averages were pulled down to their lowest level in more than two years.

Volume was 7.08 million shares.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 6.12 to 804.62, their lowest close since June 8, 1964 when the reading was 800.31.

Losers outnumbered gainers by about 3 to one on the New York Stock Exchange.

Sperry Rand was the most active stock, falling 1¼ to 30⅜ on 260,800 shares. This still left it with the major part of its 1966 rise from a low of 17⅛ to a high of 33⅝, a comparatively recent development.

Among the other volume leaders, Itek toppled 12⅝ to 81⅜; Xerox 7¼ to 193¼; Fairchild Camera to 190¼; Polaroid, 7½ to 156½; Burroughs 3½ to 78⅜; and SCM 2⅝ to 66.

Twelve of the 15 most active stocks fell and three rose. Raytheon, second most active, advanced 1¼, General Motors gained ⅛ and Consolidation Coal 2¼. The latter advanced on word of tax rulings which permit Continental Oil to go ahead with its acquisition of Consolidation Coal.

Brokers said tight money and high interest rates and the fear of even greater pressure from this in the future was the main factor behind the decline.

Also mentioned was doubt about the progress of union voting on settlement of the airline strike. Impending labor negotiations for General Electric, as well as a whole list of other labor talks also chilled sentiment, said analysts.

The plunge of housing starts in July to their lowest level since 1960 was another gloomy item.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.9 to 289.0, its lowest level since Jan. 20, 1964 when it closed at the same figure. New lows were made also by industrials, down 2.3, rails, down 1.5, and utilities, down .8.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index fell .54 to 79.62.

Of 1,412 issues traded, 873 fell and 292 rose. New lows for the year totaled 377 and new highs three.

Xerox, which fell 15 points on Thursday, recovered 1½ at the opening but its gain melted.

Analysts said the market was "in a deeply oversold condition" and that a sharp rally was likely, in view of the market's past performance. But they envisioned nothing better than a somewhat transient, technical rally until there should be some fundamental change in the news background.

Airlines were higher early in the day as hopes ran high for ratification of the airline settlement. As the day went on, however, scattered reports seemed to indicate considerable opposition and the issue was in doubt.

Eastern Air Lines ended the day with a loss of 1⅞.

Among other airlines, American and Braniff gained fractions and Northwest rose 1. Pan American and United dropped fractions.

Occidental Petroleum closed at 33⅝, up ½, on the New York Stock Exchange. The stock rose several points later on the Pacific Coast Stock Exchange in response to a published report that it may have one of the largest iron ore deposits in the western United States.

Losses of a point or more were taken by a wide range of stocks including New York Central, Pennsylvania Railroad, Standard Oil (New Jersey), U.S. Smelting, General Electric, du Pont, Eastman Kodak, American Smelting, Zenith and Goodyear.

Prices fell on the American Stock Exchange on volume of 1.95 million shares. The Exchange's stock index fell $.16 to $14.40. Syntex lost 3¼, Westec 2½ and Monogram Industries 1. Scurry Rainbow Oil rose 1.

Corporate bonds were unchanged to lower. U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly lower.

Cotton Trade Declines On Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed 25 cents a bale higher to 75 cents lower Friday on the basis of final bids. There were no actual trades.

The weather was generally fair, with temperatures high. This was favorable for cotton growth, dealers said.

Oil Firm Plans Move Of Offices

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — The southwest division offices of the Shell Oil Co. will move from Lafayette to New Orleans on or about Jan. 1, 1967, J. E. Wilson, area vice president, said Friday.

About 60 families will be offered transfers to the Crescent City. Shell will maintain a land office here, which will employ an estimated four or five persons.

"The move is due to technological advancements in communications and transportation and will permit greater utilization of computer facilities at the data center at New Orleans," Wilson said. "This in no way lessens the company's interests or activities in the present area of opreation."

The move will mark the second major oil firm to leave the area within recent months. Mobil Oil Co. also consolidated its operations with a move to New Orleans recently.

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices in the grain futures market were moderately weaker most of the time but August soybeans slumped the 10 cents limit for a single day at times on heavy offerings and a virtual absence of demand.

Brokers said the selling all around appeared to be mainly liquidation on the belief that the market had exhausted is bullish factors for the present.

One analyst expressed belief commercial buyers had filled all their requirements for a while.

Soybeans were 1¾ to 10 cents a bushel lower at the close, August $3.76¼ asked; wheat 1¼ to 1½ lower, September $1.90¼-⅜; corn ⅜ to ⅞ higher, September $1.51-50⅞; oats ⅛ to 1⅛ higher, September 76⅝-½ cents; rye 1½ to 2 cents lower, September $1.32.

France Tries To Dissuade U.S. 'Trials'

PARIS (UPI)—French authorities will try to prevent the scheduled "trial" of Presisent Johnson and other U.S. officials for Viet Nam "war crimes" by an international group of leftist intellectuals, reliable sources said Friday.

The sources said the French government was seriously concerned that such a mock trial would further damage already badly frayed French-American relations.

British philosopher Bertrand Russell announced recently that the "trial" would be held in November in Paris before a panel including him, leftist French philosopher Jean-Paul Sartre, French authoress Sinone de Beauvoir and a number of other persons.

There were reports Stokely Carmichael, the militant young American civil rights leader who heads the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), had been invited to serve on the pane. SNCC,, however, later said, Carmichael would not attend but that another SNCC official might.

The sources said French officials have been studying ways of preventing such a propaganda trial being held on French territory without infringing on the right of free speech guaranteed by the French constitution.

They said the possibility under discussion is to invoke the French law which makes it illegal to issue insults against the president of France or foreign heads of state.

Birdie Tebbetts Resigns; Chicago Drops Pittsburgh

Pilot Quits After Tribe Takes Win

CLEVELAND (AP) — Birdie Tebbetts resigned Friday night as manager of the Cleveland Indians. The announcement was made following the Indians' 3-2 victory over Chicago.

George Strickland, Cleveland's third base coach, was named to fill the position the remainder of the season.

At a conference, General Manager Gabe Paul said "Birdie and I discussed the managerial matter late this afternoon and decided that since it was his feeling that for the good of baseball and Cleveland and all concerned, he should not return in 1967.

"I agreed to permit him to leave immediately.

"After he accompanies his family to their home in Bradenton, Fla., he will be available for the remainder of the season for special assignments and will do some scouting and contact work that will be beneficial to the club."

Asked when he reached his decision, Paul said: "It was reached this evening and finalized immediately after the game."

"I want to stay in baseball, baseball is my life," Tebbetts said.

Strickland was asked if he would be signing for next year as Indian manager, and Tebbetts quipped: "Be careful. They might rehire me."

"I came in happy, and I'm leaving the same way," Tebbetts said. "Gabe and I are friends and will always be friends."

Strickland, who played shortstop for the 1954 pennant-winning Indians, said he was too surprised at being named Tebbetts' successor. "Baseball's full of surprises and most of them are pleasant," Strickland said.

Paul said, "I haven't thought much in terms of next year. We'll cross that bridge when we come to it."

The 56-year-old Tebbetts was in his fourth season as the Indians' skipper. He took over the club in 1963 after managerial tours with the Milwaukee Braves and Cincinnati Reds.

He suffered a heart attack in February, 1964, and missed most of that season but returned last year and guided the Indians to a fifth-place finish. Cleveland finished tied for fifth in 1963 and tied for sixth in 1964.

Strickland joined the Indians as a coach in 1963 and was named interim manager when Tebbetts suffered his heart attack during spring training the following year. He piloted the Indians until July 3, when Tebbetts returned to the helm.

The 40-year-old former shortstop became a scout for the Indians in 1961 after closing out a 10-year playing career with Pittsburgh and Cleveland. He joined the Minnesota Twins' coaching staff in 1962, then returned to the Indians the following year.

His managerial record as Tebbetts' replacement two years ago was 40-37.

Strickland never distinguished himself as a major league hitter, finishing with a .224 career average, but helped the Indians win the American League pennant in 1954.

Tebbetts and Paul teamed up for five years at Cincinnati, begining in 1954, when Paul was the Reds' general manager. Tebbetts resigned as the Reds' pilot in August, 1958, and accepted a front office job with the Braves two months later, saying the move marked "the end of me as a manager."

But, in 1961, when the Braves fired Manager Charley Dressen, Tebbetts was named to succeed him. He resigned after the 1962 season and was immediately hired by Paul to manage the Indians.

Tebbetts' highest finish as a manager was in 1956, when his Reds came in third in the National League.

One of the American League's finest catchers for 13 seasons, he closed out his playing career with the Indians in 1952. He had a .270 lifetime batting average and was named to the AL All Star team four times — in 1941, '42, '48 and '49.

Birdie broke in with Detroit in 1937 and played with the Tigers — except for a three-year service stint during World War II — until 1947, when he was traded to Boston. The Red Sox sold him to the Indians after the 1950 season.

Wall Continues Par Breaking Struggle

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Art Wall Jr. carved out a seven-under-par 64 Friday and took sole control of the top spot with a 129 — 13 under par — at the halfway mark of the Insurance City Open Golf Tournament.

Wall, a former Masters champion who says he has been "thinking well, putting well, hitting the ball well," shared the first round lead with Wes Ellis Jr. and Homero Blancas, each with a 65.

Ellis fired another 65 to put him in second spot at 130. Blancas managed an even par 71 over the Wethersfield Country Club course to fall back to an eighth place tie at 136.

The 129 total for the 43-year-old Wall is the lowest 36-hole score on the pro tour this year, beating Jacky Cupit's 131 at the halfway mark of the Minnesota Classic last month.

Wall's performance, seven birdies and 11 pars, was flawless from tee to green. His birdie putts were mostly in the 10-foot range, but for the second day in a row he canned one from over 50 feet.

Ellis, 34, who missed two months of play with a rib injury, said he wasn't able to swing hard. His longest of six birdie putts went in from 12 feet.

Julius Boros stayed close to the leaders with 65 for 132. Bruce Crampton of Australia was next at 69-65—134.

The 135 shooters were Arnold Palmer, Paul Harney, and Ed Griffiths. Palmer shot 67 and said that bursitis in his left shoulder bothered him less than it has for the past two months. Palmer was amazed at the performance of Wall and Ellis.

"They're really shooting it up," he said.

Billy Casper, U.S. Open champion and top money winner this year, shot his second straight 69 for a 138 total. He said that any golfer "with a good putting stroke going can roll it in every time here."

Casper said he isn't putting well, but that he's feeling much better.

Casper said he's changed his mind about dropping off the tour for a two week rest, and said he'll play next week at Philadelphia and the following week in England.

The cut-off score reducing the field to 74 for today and Sunday was an even-par 142. Casualties included Chi Chi Rodriguez at 143 and Ken Venturi at 147.

Houston Rallies To Defeat Reds In Ninth Frame

HOUSTON (AP) — Two-out singles by Sonny Jackson, Joe Morgan and Rusty Staub in the ninth inning gave the Houston Astros a 4-3 victory over Cincinnati Friday night.

Jackson started the rally with a single off Cincinnati reliever Billy McCool, raced to third on Morgan's single and scored the winning run as Staub beat out a hit to third.

The Reds, held to three hits by Larry Dierker through the first seven innings, knocked out the Houston starter while closing the gap in the eighth, then tied it 3-3 in the ninth on Pete Rose's two-out single and Tommy Helms' run-scoring double.

Jackson hit a two-run inside-the-park homer for the Astros in the first inning and Staub sent them ahead 3-1 in the third with a run-scoring single.

Cahill To Meet 109 Prospects

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Tom Cahill, Army's new head football coach, will greet a squad of 109 hopefuls Tuesday for fall practice.

Cahill, the plebe coach for seven years who succeeded Paul Deitzel as head coach, will make his official debut on Sept. 17 in the season's opener against Kansas State. His biggest problem is developing a quarterback.

Cubs Beat Bucs After 11 Innings

CHICAGO (AP) — Glen Beckert's third hit drove in George Altman to break an 11th inning deadlock Friday as the Chicago Cubs beat Pittsburgh 4-3, dealing the Pirates their third straight loss.

Despite the defeat, the first-place Pirates held onto their one percentage point lead over San Francisco in the National League. The Giants lost to Atlanta 8-5.

The gates opened for the Cubs when the Pirate infield, which gave up six unearned runs in losing to New York Thursday, had a relapse.

With one out, Altman reached base when Donn Clendenon fumbled his grounder, the third Pittsburgh error of the game. Don Kessinger sacrificed and Beckert delivered off loser Elroy Face.

The Pirates, trailing 3-1 in the eighth inning, tied the score on Robert Clemente's two-run single with two out.

Andre Rodgers opened the inning with a pinch single and after pinch batter Jim Pagliaroni flied out, Gene Alley singled to right. Both advanced on Manny Mota's infield out before Clemente's hit.

Donn Clendenon gave the Pirates a brief lead in the fourth inning when he hit his 21st homer into the left centerfield bleachers.

The Cubs came back in the bottom of the inning to take a 2-1 lead on successive homers by Ron Santo, his 28th, and Ernie Banks, his 10th, off Vernon Law.

Chicago made it 3-1 in the fifth when Santo, who has hit seven homers off Pirate pitching, hit a sacrifice fly following singles by Don Ksesinger and Glen Beckert.

Bob Hendley, who took over for Dick Ellsworth in the ninth and struck out five straight Pirates in one stretch, picked up the victory, his fourth in seven decision. Face is 5-5.

Umpires Forced To Work Game In Usher Suits

NEW YORK (AP) — The four umpires for Friday night's New York Yankees-Kansas City doubleheader lost their luggage in a mix-up due to the airline strike and worked the games in candy-striped ushers' uniforms.

Jim Odom, Al Salerno, Larry Napp and John Rice borrowed ushers' uniforms—grey trousers, and red and white peppermint striped short sleeve shirts. They wore borrowed Yankee caps. The luggage was lost en route from Minnesota.

Odom, who worked behind the plate, borrowed a catcher's mask and shin guards from the Yankees. The umps were shod with extra spikes borrowed from the Yankees.

Senators Clip California, 5-3

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank Howard hit a three-run homer parking a four-run sixth inning and helping the Washington Senators to a 5-3 victory over the California Angels Friday night.

Bob Saverine beat out a grounder to first to open the Senators' sixth and Jim King singled to right. After Fred Valentine fouled out, Howard powered his 15th homer far into the upper deck in left.

Bobby Knoop hit a fifth-inning homer following Jay Johnstone's single in the fifth for two of the Angels runs off Barry Moore. They scored their first run on singles by Johnstone and Jim Fregosi and Norm Siebern's double-play ball.

Enthusiasm High As Schools Continue Football Practices

By JIM MATHIS
World Sports Writer

With a week of football practice behind them, Twin Cities triple-A grid players are exhibiting excellent enthusiasm although their coaches are following typical noncommittal roles.

Ouachita, Neville and West Monroe have been working out twice daily since Monday. The sessions have been hampered only slightly by afternoon and evening showers.

Mark Boatright, head football coach and athletic director at Ouachita, said the Lions have picked up when they left off in spring training last year.

"We know a lot more about the boys than we did at this time last year," Boatright added.

Ouachita scrimmaged Wednesday and the Lions' mentor said, "We were very pleased with the outcome of the session."

No injuries are reported at Ouachita after the initial week and Boatright said that his players had reported in "good shape."

West Monroe's head football coach and athletic director Walter Brister summed up the Rebels' first week as being, "20 per cent ahead of where we were last year."

"The boys have more savy now," Brister said, "They know me better and I know them better."

Brister and Boatright are in the second year of their jobs at West Monroe and Ouachita.

West Monroe has already had three team scrimmages, and Brister commented, "We wanted to know where the boys could play and they did real well."

Brister said that the West Monroe players were in "generally good shape." The Rebel pilot added that he did not think the wet weather had hurt the practices or players. The Rebs continued their toil in a slow drizzle Thursday evening, but the players spirit did not appear to be dampened.

Coach Charlie Brown, Neville's head football mentor, said that the Tigers are about at the same point of progress as they werre at this time last year "or maybe a little behind," he added.

Brown said that several positions on the team were still open and he would "not be able to name starters in a couple of spots if we played today."

The Tigers have been working at nights and held their first scrimmage Friday evening. The Neville gridders also work in the mornings.

Brown also said that he had lost several players because of transfers and physical examinations. At least two players were told not to participate when they had their physicals.

None of the schools have faced any competition from other teams as yet. But all are expected to hold scrimmages with other schools this coming week.

Coaches have not been too concrete in their predictions of how their respective teams would fair this year. But most football observers expect Ouachita and West Monroe to improve and no one ever anticipates a bad Neville team.

Three Big Sluggers Lead Detroit's Win

DETROIT (AP) — Jerry Lumpe cracked three singles and Willie Horton and Don Wert each knocked in a pair of runs, leading the Detroit Tigers to a 10-4 triumph over the American League-leading Baltimore Orioles Friday night.

The victory extended the Tigers' winning streak to four games and snapped the Orioles' winning string at five.

Wert's double capped a four-run sixth inning rally, during which the Orioles committed two of their three errors.

Detroit jumped to a 3-0 lead in the first inning with the help of Baltimore starter Eddie Watt's wildness. The Orioles bounced back to tie it in the second, Andy Etchebarren capping the burst with a two-run homer.

Detroit starter Mickey Lolich triggered a two-run rally in the bottom of the second with a bunt single and continued to second on loser Gene Brabender's throwing error. Dick McAuliffe, Lumpe and Norm Cash followed with singles, putting the Tigers in front to stay.

Watt faced four men in the first inning, walking two of them, giving up a single to Lumpe and hitting Al Kaline with a pitch to force in a run.

An Xray of the ring finger of Kaline's right hand showed no fracture but he is expected to be out for the remainder of the series because of a bad bruise.

McAuliffe walked to open the Detroit sixth and went to third when Frank Robinson fumbled Lumpe's third single. Cash was walked intentionally, filling the bases, and Horton walked to force in McAuliffe.

Cash scored on Jim Northrup's sacrifice fly and Wert came through with his double.

The victory was the fifth in six decisions since the All-Star game for Lolich, now 12-8.

McKeever May Be Returning To Grid Field

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles Rams' tight end Marlin McKeever, who lost his right ring finger in an auto accident, probably will play again this season, doctors said.

"He could be back in action in six to eight weeks," predicted Dr. John Perry, Rams' team physician.

The index finger is more important for pass-catching, he added, noting McKeever seemed to have good motion of his fractured right index finger.

A Rams' official said McKeever reportedly told coach Goerge Allen he would be ready to play within five or six weeks.

The former University of Southern California star was riding in a car driven by quarterback Roman Gabriel when it struck a parked vehicle in nearby Costa Mesa Wednesday night.

Birdie Tebbetts Resigns; Chicago Drops Pittsburgh

Monroe Morning World
SPORTS

Pilot Quits After Tribe Takes Win

CLEVELAND (AP) — Birdie Tebbetts resigned Friday night as manager of the Cleveland Indians. The announcement was made following the Indians' 3-2 victory over Chicago.

George Strickland, Cleveland's third base coach, was named to fill the position the remainder of the season.

At a conference, General Manager Gabe Paul said "Birdie and I discussed the managerial matter late this afternoon and decided that since it was his feeling that for the good of baseball and Cleveland and all concerned, he should not return in 1967.

"I agreed to permit him to leave immediately.

"After he accompanies his family to their home in Bradenton, Fla., he will be available for the remainder of the season for special assignments and will do some scouting and contact work that will be beneficial to the club."

Asked when he reached his decision, Paul said: "It was reached this evening and finalized immediately after the game."

"I want to stay in baseball, baseball is my life," Tebbetts said.

Strickland was asked if he would be signing for next year as Indian manager, and Tebbetts quipped: "Be careful. They might rehire me."

"I came in happy, and I'm leaving the same way," Tebbetts said. "Gabe and I are friends and will always be friends."

Strickland, who played shortstop for the 1954 pennant-winning Indians, said he was too surprised at being named Tebbetts' successor. "Baseball's full of surprises and most of them are pleasant," Strickland said.

Paul said, "I haven't thought much in terms of next year. We'll cross that bridge when we come to it."

The 56-year-old Tebbetts was in his fourth season as the Indians' skipper. He took over the club in 1963 after managerial tours with the Milwaukee Braves and Cincinnati Reds.

He suffered a heart attack in February, 1964, and missed most of that season but returned last year and guided the Indians to a fifth-place finish. Cleveland finished tied for fifth in 1963 and tied for sixth in 1964.

Strickland joined the Indians as a coach in 1963 and was named interim manager when Tebbetts suffered his heart attack during spring training the following year. He piloted the Indians until July 3, when Tebbetts returned to the helm.

The 40-year-old former shortstop became a scout for the Indians in 1961 after closing out a 10-year playing career with Pittsburgh and Cleveland. He joined the Minnesota Twins' coaching staff in 1962, then returned to the Indians the following year.

His managerial record as Tebbetts' replacement two years ago was 40-37.

Strickland never distinguished himself as a major league hitter, finishing with a .224 career average, but helped the Indians win the American League pennant in 1954.

Tebbetts and Paul teamed up for five years at Cincinnati, begining in 1954, when Paul was the Reds' general manager. Tebbetts resigned as the Reds' pilot in August, 1958, and accepted a front office job with the Braves two months later, saying the move marked "the end of me as a manager."

But, in 1961, when the Braves fired Manager Charley Dressen, Tebbetts was named to succeed him. He resigned after the 1962 season and was immediately hired by Paul to manage the Indians.

Tebbetts' highest finish as a manager was in 1956, when his Reds came in third in the National League.

One of the American League's finest catchers for 13 seasons, he closed out his playing career with the Indians in 1952. He had a .270 lifetime batting average and was named to the AL All Star team four times — in 1941, '42, '48 and '49.

Birdie broke in with Detroit in 1937 and played with the Tigers — except for a three-year service stint during World War II — until 1947, when he was traded to Boston. The Red Sox sold him to the Indians after the 1950 season.

Wall Continues Par Breaking Struggle

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Art Wall Jr. carved out a seven-under-par 64 Friday and took sole control of the top spot with a 129 — 13 under par — at the halfway mark of the Insurance City Open Golf Tournament.

Wall, a former Masters champion who says he has been "thinking well, putting well, hitting the ball well," shared the first round lead with Wes Ellis Jr. and Homero Blancas, each with a 65.

Ellis fired another 65 to put him in second spot at 130. Blancas managed an even par 71 over the Wethersfield Country Club course to fall back to an eighth place tie at 136.

The 129 total for the 43-year-old Wall is the lowest 36-hole score on the pro tour this year, beating Jacky Cupit's 131 at the halfway mark of the Minnesota Classic last month.

Wall's performance, seven birdies and 11 pars, was flawless from tee to green. His birdie putts were mostly in the 10-foot range, but for the second day in a row he canned one from over 50 feet.

Ellis, 34, who missed two months of play with a rib injury, said he wasn't able to swing hard. His longest of six birdie putts went in from 12 feet.

Julius Boros stayed close to the leaders with 65 for 132. Bruce Crampton of Australia was next at 69-65—134.

The 135 shooters were Arnold Palmer, Paul Harney, and Ed Griffiths. Palmer shot 67 and said that bursitis in his left shoulder bothered him less than it has for the past two months. Palmer was amazed at the performance of Wall and Ellis.

"They're really shooting it up," he said.

Billy Casper, U.S. Open champion and top money winner this year, shot his second straight 69 for a 138 total. He said that any golfer "with a good putting stroke going can roll it in every time here."

Casper said he isn't putting well, but that he's feeling much better.

Casper said he's changed his mind about dropping off the tour for a two week rest, and that he'll play next week at Philadelphia and the following week in England.

The cut-off score reducing the field to 74 for today and Sunday was an even-par 142. Casualties included Chi Chi Rodriguez at 143 and Ken Venturi at 147.

Houston Rallies To Defeat Reds In Ninth Frame

HOUSTON (AP) — Two-out singles by Sonny Jackson, Joe Morgan and Rusty Staub in the ninth inning gave the Houston Astros a 4-3 victory over Cincinnati Friday night.

Jackson started the rally with a single off Cincinnati reliever Billy McCool, raced to third on Morgan's single and scored the winning run as Staub beat out a hit to third.

The Reds, held to three hits by Larry Dierker through the first seven innings, knocked out the Houston starter while closing the gap in the eighth, then tied it 3-3 in the ninth on Pete Rose's two-out single and Tommy Helms' run-scoring double.

Jackson hit a two-run inside-the-park homer for the Astros in the first inning and Staub sent them ahead 3-1 in the third with a run-scoring single.

Cahill To Meet 109 Prospects

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Tom Cahill, Army's new head football coach, will greet a squad of 109 hopefuls Tuesday for fall practice.

Cahill, the plebe coach for seven years who succeeded Paul Deitzel as head coach, will make his official debut on Sept. 17 in the season's opener against Kansas State. His biggest problem is developing a quarterback.

Senators Clip California, 5-3

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank Howard hit a three-run homer parking a four-run sixth inning and helping the Washington Senators to a 5-3 victory over the California Angels Friday night.

Bob Saverine beat out a grounder to first to open the Senators' sixth and Jim King singled to right. After Fred Valentine fouled out, Howard powered his 15th homer far into the upper deck in left.

Bobby Knoop hit a fifth-inning homer following Jay Johnstone's single in the fifth for two of the Angels runs off Barry Moore. They scored their first run on singles by Johnstone and Jim Fregosi and Norm Siebern's double-play ball.

Cubs Beat Bucs After 11 Innings

CHICAGO (AP) — Glen Beckert's third hit drove in George Altman to break an 11th inning deadlock Friday as the Chicago Cubs beat Pittsburgh 4-3, dealing the Pirates their third straight loss.

Despite the defeat, the first-place Pirates held onto their one percentage point lead over San Francisco in the National League. The Giants lost to Atlanta 8-5.

The gates opened for the Cubs when the Pirate infield, which gave up six unearned runs in losing to New York Thursday, had a relapse.

With one out, Altman reached base when Donn Clendenon fumbled his grounder, the third Pittsburgh error of the game. Don Kessinger sacrificed and Beckert delivered off loser Elroy Face.

The Pirates, trailing 3-1 in the eighth inning, tied the score on Robert Clemente's two-run single with two out.

Andre Rodgers opened the ninth with a pinch single and after pinch batter Jim Pagliaroni flied out, Gene Alley singled to right. Both advanced on Manny Mota's infield out before Clemente's hit.

Donn Clendenon gave the Pirates a brief lead in the fourth inning when he hit his 21st homer into the left centerfield bleachers.

The Cubs came back in the bottom of the inning to take a 2-1 lead on successive homers by Ron Santo, his 28th, and Ernie Banks, his 10th, off Vernon Law.

Chicago made it 3-1 in the fifth when Santo, who has hit seven homers off Pirate pitching, hit a sacrifice fly following singles by Don Ksesinger and Glen Beckert.

Bob Hendley, who took over for Dick Ellsworth in the ninth and struck out five straight Pirates in one stretch, picked up the victory, his fourth in seven decision. Face is 5-5.

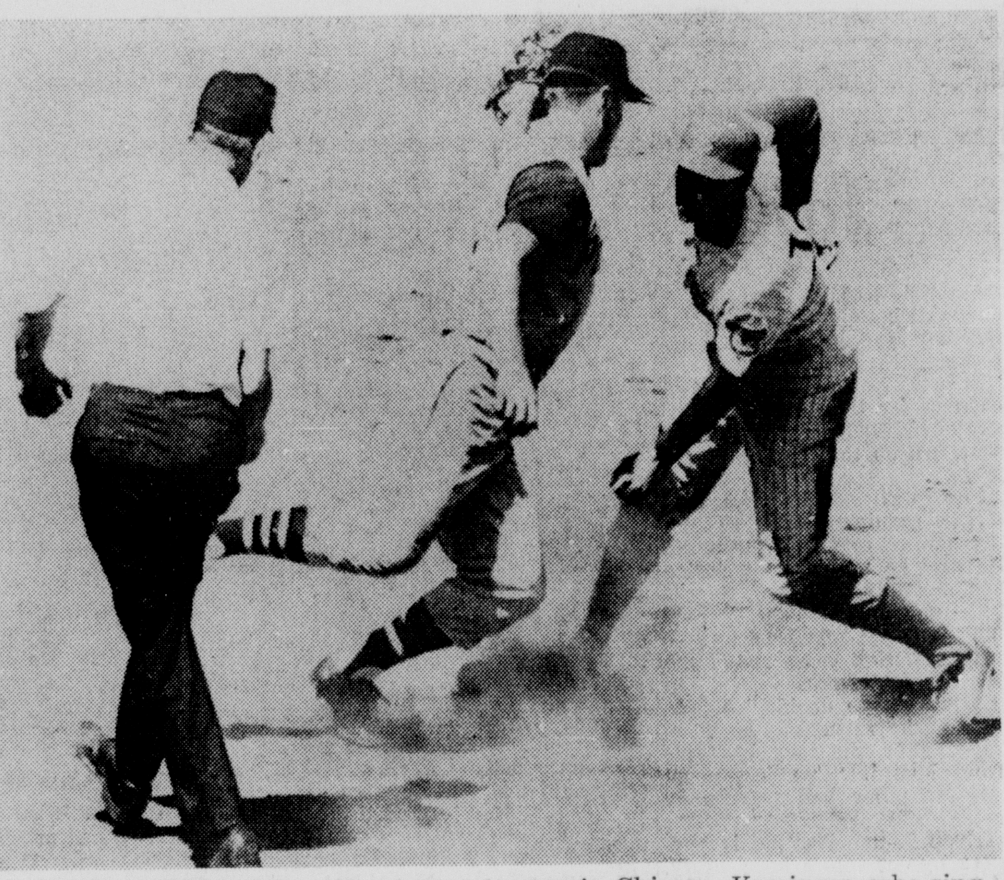
Umpires Forced To Work Game In Usher Suits

NEW YORK (AP) — The four umpires for Friday night's New York Yankees-Kansas City doubleheader lost their luggage in a mix-up due to the airline strike and worked the games in candy-striped ushers' uniforms.

Jim Odom, Al Salerno, Larry Napp and John Rice borrowed ushers' uniforms—grey trousers, and red and white peppermint striped short sleeve shirts. They also wore borrowed Yankee caps. The luggage was lost en route from Minnesota.

Odom, who worked behind the plate, borrowed a catcher's mask and shin guards from the Yankees. The umps wore shoes with extra spikes borrowed from the Yankees.



CHICAGO CUBS' Don Kessinger, right, tries a new dance step as he attempts to weave away from Pittsburgh Pirates' swinging shortstop Bill Mazeroski in third inning of Friday's game in Chicago. Kessinger, who singled, was tagged out trying to steal second base. Even Umpire Shag Crawford does a brisk side-step. (AP Wirephoto)

Enthusiasm High As Schools Continue Football Practices

By JIM MATHIS
World Sports Writer

With a week of football practice behind them, Twin Cities triple-A grid players are exhibiting excellent enthusiasm although their coaches are following typical noncommittal roles.

Ouachita, Neville and West Monroe have been working out twice daily since Monday. The sessions have been hampered only slightly by afternoon and evening showers.

Mark Boatright, head football coach and athletic director at Ouachita, said the Lions have picked up when they left off in spring training last year.

"We know a lot more about the boys than we did at this time last year," Boatright added.

Ouachita scrimmaged Wednesday and the Lions' mentor said "We were very pleased with the outcome of the session."

No injuries are reported at Ouachita after the initial week and Boatright said that his players had reported in "good shape."

West Monroe's head football coach and athletic director Walter Brister summed up the Rebels' first week as being, "20 per cent ahead of where we were last year."

"The boys have more savy now," Brister said, "They know me better and I know them better."

Brister and Boatright are in the second year of their jobs at West Monroe and Ouachita.

West Monroe has already had three team scrimmages, and Brister commented, "We wanted to know where the boys could play and they did real well."

Brister said that the West Monroe players were in "generally good shape." The Rebel pilot added that he did not think the wet weather had hurt the practices or players. The Rebs continued their toil in a slow drizzle Thursday evening, but the players spirit did not appear to be dampened.

Coach Charlie Brown, Neville's head football mentor, said that the Tigers are about at the same point of progress as they werre at this time last year "or maybe a little behind," he added.

Brown said that several positions on the team were still open and he would "not be able to name starters in a couple of spots if we played today."

The Tigers have been working at nights and held their first scrimmage Friday evening. The Neville gridders also work in the mornings.

Brown also said that he had lost several players because of transfers and physical examinations. At least two players were told not to participate when they had their physicals.

None of the schools have faced any competition from other teams as yet. But all are expected to hold scrimmages with other schools this coming week.

Coaches have not been too concrete in their predictions of how their respective teams would fair this year. But most football observers expect Ouachita and West Monroe to improve and no one ever anticipates a bad Neville team.

Three Big Sluggers Lead Detroit's Win

DETROIT (AP) — Jerry Lumpe cracked three singles and Willie Horton and Don Wert each knocked in a pair of runs, leading the Detroit Tigers to a 10-4 triumph over the American League-leading Baltimore Orioles Friday night.

The victory extended the Tigers' winning streak to four games and snapped the Orioles' winning string at five.

Wert's double capped a four-run sixth inning rally, during which the Orioles committed two of their three errors.

Detroit jumped to a 3-0 lead in the first inning with the help of Baltimore starter Eddie Watt's wildness. The Orioles bounced back to tie it in the second, Andy Etchebarren capping the burst with a two-run homer.

Detroit starter Mickey Lolich triggered a two-run rally in the bottom of the second with a bunt single and continued to second on loser Gene Brabender's throwing error. Dick McAuliffe, Lumpe and Norm Cash followed with singles, putting the Tigers in front to stay.

Watt faced four men in the first inning, walking two of them, giving up a single to Lumpe and hitting Al Kaline with a pitch to force in a run.

An Xray of the ring finger of Kaline's right hand showed no fracture but he is expected to be out for the remainder of the series because of a bad bruise.

McAuliffe walked to open the Detroit sixth and went to third when Frank Robinson fumbled Lumpe's third single. Cash was walked intentionally, filling the bases, and Horton walked to force in McAuliffe.

Cash scored on Jim Northrup's sacrifice fly and Wert came through with his double.

The victory was the fifth in six decisions since the All-Star game for Lolich, now 12-8.

McKeever May Be Returning To Grid Field

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles Rams' tight end Marlin McKeever, who injured his right ring finger in an auto accident, probably will play again this season, doctors said.

"He could be back in action in six to eight weeks," predicted Dr. John Perry, Rams' team physician.

The index finger is more important for pass-catching, he added, noting McKeever seemed to have good motion of his fractured right index finger.

A Rams' official said McKeever reportedly told coach George Allen he would be ready to play within five or six weeks.

The former University of Southern California star was riding in a car driven by quarterback Roman Gabriel when it struck a parked vehicle in nearby Costa Mesa Wednesday night.

Jets, Dolphin Pilots Seek Starting Jobs

JACKSONVILLE (AP) — The New York Jets and the Miami Dolphins—both led by quarterbacks who are trying for first-string jobs—worked out Friday in preparation for an American Football League exhibition game tonight.

Mike Taliaferro will be filling in for the injured Joe Namath, the Jets' $400,000 first-string quarterback, while Dolphin Coach George Wilson starts rookie Rick Norton.

It will be one of the last chances for the former University of Kentucky passing star to show Wilson that he can do the job.

The coach said he planned to pick a regular quarterback for the new team within the week. He said he will look at Norton and possibly his son, George Jr., tonight and then try the other two quarterbacks — veterans Dick Wood and Eddie Wilson—next week.

"I've got to decide," Wilson said as he relaxed in his hotel room after the long bus ride from Miami. "I've just about got the other ball players all set."

Even though Namath is temporarily out with a knee injury, Jets coach Weeb Ewbank says he is not worried about the key position. He said Taliaferro is not just the best No. 2 quarterback in the league but one of the best around.

Taliaferro, starting his third year of pro ball, still has hopes of beating out Namath for the top spot.

"If I didn't, I'd go home," he said.

Rookie Peter Lammons, a tight end candidate from the University of Texas, will start in place of Dee Mackey, who is out with pneumonia. Otherwise, the Jets lineup will be about the same as the one that beat Houston 16-10 in the New Yorker's first exhibition game.

For Miami, veteran fullback Rick Casares will fill in for Billy Joe, who has been injured but had been expected to be ready, and Bo Roberson, all-AFL receiver who signed his contract Thursday night, is expected to see some action.

Wilson said he planned to split up the game time among the receivers, which he said was one of the young team's best departments.

Although the Dolphins lost to San Diego 38-10 and to Kansas City 33-0 in the first two exhibitions, Wilson contends that the team is not as bad as the scores indicate.

He admits the new team has a long way to go but said the outcome of the first two contests could have been entirely different except for mistakes made by the group of rookies and veterans playing together for the first time.

SHERRY WRIGHT

Wright Is Queen For Jamboree

Sherry Wright was chosen to represent Ouachita High School as queen for the Second Annual Bastrop Lions Club's Football Jamboree to be held at Bastrop High School September 2, 1966.

Sherry is a senior at OHS and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Brumley.

Her high school activities and honors include junior class favorite, most outstanding member in Beta Delta Chi, president and major of the Lionnettes, FBLA reporter, Y-Teens and senior class vice-president.

Sherry's hobbies include sewing, skiing and bowling. She plans to attend Northeast Louisiana State College upon graduation from high school.

Plans are rapidly being completed for the 1966 Lions Jamboree according to Milton Benton and Ray Norris, co-chairmen for the event. The three games this year will feature Farmerville playing Caldwell Parish High; Tallulah versus Ouachita High and Bastrop battling with Lake Providence. Each game will consist of two 12-minute halves.

The benefit affair is to send six local children to the Lions League for Crippled Children's camp at Leesville. The children will be able to attend this specially constructed and operated camp for handicapped because of the support local citizens gave the Lions football jamboree last fall.

Tickets are now on sale at Ouachita High School.

Tennessee Tops Pascagoula In Dixie Boys Play

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP)—A scrambling Chattanooga (North River), Tenn., team bounced back for five runs in the top of the last inning to edge previously-undefeated Pascagoula, Miss., 5-4 Friday in the Dixie Boys' World Series.

In an earlier game, Myrtle Grove, Fla., eliminated Ozark, Ala., 5-2, to put three teams into the finals, each with one defeat.

In a draw to determine which team received the bye, the Myrtle Grove coach pulled the lucky straw, throwing Pascagoula against the Tennessee champions again in the game Friday night.

The winner will play Myrtle Grove for the championship tonight.

A three-run homer by Gene Wallace and a double by David Shuford featured Chattanooga's winning rally Friday afternoon. Shuford's blow drove in the tying and winning runs.

Gary Gorday pitched and helped bat Myrtle Grove to its victory over Ozark. He allowed just five hits and rapped a double and single, both of which figured in his team's scoring.

Recreation Softball

Pico Finance whipped Central Baptist, 6-3 with Kelley socking a homer for the winners. Saulters took the win and Beckley was tagged with the loss.

The Fire Fighters edged American Bank 9-8. McGough was credited with the victory while Nix was charged with the loss. Alger had two hits, including a homer for the winners. Stuckey and Betz had two hits each for the losers.

College Place defeated Southside Methodist 4-3. Berry took the mound win and Fulton absorbed the loss. McGowen and Williams had two hits each for the winners.

Bethel downed Victory 10-8. Scarbrough was credited with the win and Creed was charged with the loss. Miller and Parker had three hits each for the winners. McEmery had three safeties for the losers.

When the Mets beat the Houston Astros in double headers on successive days in July the New Yorkers became the first National League team to win four twin bills this season.

Special One-Moth Training Set For American Gymnasts

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—How much will a short, concentrated period of training help America's international performance in gymnastics, a sport for which we require long practice to master?

U.S. coaches and officials hope to have the answer next month after conclusion of a unique one month training camp at Pennsylvania State University.

Sixteen of the nation's finest gymnasts have been training at Penn State since Aug. 1.

The first test will come Sept. 20-25 in the World Games at Dortmund, Germany, when coach Abie Grossfeld of Southern Connecticut, a former olympian, leads six of the gymnasts against 31 other nations.

"It's hard to measure how much something like this will help," Grossfeld says, "but it's bound to help a lot. It helps just getting all these fellows together and getting the benefit of having four coaches watch them."

Coaches Gene Wettstone of Penn State, Newt Loken of Michigan and Carl Patterson of Temple are working with Grossfeld at the camp.

"In 1960, we the olympic gymnasts got together on our own and trained for about six weeks at West Point (N.Y.), but this is the first time something like this has been tried on a really organized scale," Grossfeld says. "We felt we had good results with our own little camp in 1960."

One reason for the camp is the lack of gymnastic competition.

Says Wettstone:

"We have to set up a program which will keep these gymnasts active for a longer period of time. "Usually when they are just reaching maturity, they graduate from college and there is no place for them to compete."

Wettstone, whose teams have won more national collegiate championships than any other team and who recognized as a master showman in the sport, will do his bit to promote competition by directing a meet at Penn State when the 16 finish their training Aug. 27.

He intends to make it resemble as close as possible European competitions, complete with a German band and all the trimmings.

The main goal, though is the World Games, where Grossfeld is shooting for a third-place finish.

The American team at Dortmund will include Don Tonry, a former NCAA and AAU champion and a past Olympian, from the New York Athletic Club; four-time AAU champion Makoto Sakamoto of Southern California; present NCAA champion Steve Cohen of Penn State; former NCAA champ and past Plympian Greg Weiss of Penn State; Arno Lascari of Wisconsin; and Fred Roethlisberger of Milwaukee.

2 Americans Swimmers Topple World Records

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Fabulous Don Schollander smashed his own world record with an amazing 1:56.2 in the 200-meter freestyle, and 15-year-old Pokey Watson set a world mark of 2:10.5 in the women's 200-meter freestyle Friday night in the 16th National AAU Outdoor Swimming and Diving Championships.

Dick Roth, the Olympic gold medalist and world record holder in the 400-meter individual medley, set a meet record of 4:47.9, seven-tenths of a second under his own mark set in 1964 but 2.5 seconds over his world mark set in the 1964 Olympics.

Roth, Schollander and Miss Watson all represent the powerful Santa Clara, Calif., Swim Club.

Schollander, a blond 20-year-old Yale economics major and four-time Olympic gold medalist, got his second world mark in two nights and was a full second under his pending world record of 1:57.2 set last month at Los Angeles. His 100-meter split time was :56.5.

John Nelson, 18-year-old Olympic silver medalist from Pompano Beach, Fla., was second in 1:57.6, equaling the listed world mark set by Schollander in the 1964 Olympics.

Nelson broke Schollander's former world mark in the 400-meter freestyle in preliminaries Thursday, then pushed him to a new world mark in the finals of 4:11.6.

Schollander was asked if he was keeping close tabs on Nelson in the next lane.

"You can bet your life on that," he said.

"I thought I was out a little faster than I actuallly was and I was surprised he was still with me. I knew he would move with me on the third 50.

"It's a real thrill to break a world record every time I do it. I thought I could do it."

Miss Watson, an Olympic gold medalist at the tender age of 13 at Tokyo in 1964, smashed the pending world mark of 2:11.4 by Martha Randall of Philadelphia's Vesper Boat Club. Miss Randall was third in 2:12.4 as Pam Kruse of Pompano Beach, Fla., was a surprise second in 2:11.7, only one-tenth off the listed world mark of 2:11.6 by Dawn Fraser of Australia in 1960.

"No, I didn't think I had a world record. I just sort of hoped," Miss Watson said. "This is just great."

Claudia Kolb, a 16-year-old Olympic silver medalist from Santa Clara, set a meet record of 5:15.5 in the women's 400-meter individual medley. This was only six-tenths off the world record of 5:14.9 by Donna de-Varona of Santa Clara in the 1964 Olympics.

Scholland anchored the Santa Clara A team to a meet record of 3:35.4 in the 400-meter freestyle relay with his :52.9. This was only 2.2 seconds off the world mark set by Schollander's United States team in the 1964 Olympics.

Louis Nicolao, Greg Buckingham and Don Roth were the first three men.

The Santa Clara B team anchored by Dick Roth was second giving Santa Clara a commanding 103½ to 69 lead over Indiana Aquatic Club at the midway point in the race for the men's team crown in the four-day meet.

Rex Gilbert of Indiana A.C. edged Olympian Ken Sitzberger, his teammate, 5:52.45 to 5:52.10 for the men's 3-meter diving crown, with Bernie Wrightson, Phoenix, Ariz., in third place, only 4.3 points behind.

The women's 1-meter diving title was again won by Santa Clara's Joel O'Connell.

Miss Watson anchored the Santa Clara A-Team to a meet record, the eighth so far, of 4:04. 5 in the women's 400-meter freestyle relay, giving Santa Clara a strong 86-63 lead over Vesper Boat Club of Philadelphia in a race for the women's team title. The first three members of the winning team were Nancy Ryan, Linda Gustavson and Miss Kolb.

Jaster Gets Nearer Mark On Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rookie left-hander Larry Jaster moved closer to a National League record Friday night by shutting out Los Angeles for the fourth time this season as the St. Louis Cardinals trimmed the Dodgers 4-0.

Julian Javier drove in two runs with a single and double, helping Jaster, 8-3, get the decision over Claude Osteen, 13-10, who was driven from the mound in the seventh inning.

Jaster has hurled 36 consecutive scoreless innings against the Dodgers this year and has allowed only 20 hits, all singles.

The National League record for shutouts by a pitcher in one season against one club is five. Charles Baldwin of Detroit — then a National League Club — did it against Philadelphia in 1886 and Grover Cleveland Alexander of Philadelphia did it against Cincinnati in 1916.

Jaster scattered five hits, walked three and stranded eight base runners.

A walk to Dal Maxvill and a double by Javier gave the Cards a 1-0 lead in the third inning.

They knocked out Osteen with three more runs in the seventh after an infield hit by Maxvill and a fielder's choice put runners at first and second. Javier and Lou Brock each singled home a run, finishing Osteen. Reiver Bob Miller let in another run on an infield out.

Allen's Homer Nets Met Loss

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Richie Alllen's two-out homer in the 10th inning gave Philadelphia a 5-4 victory over New York Friday night.

The Phils tide the game in the bottom of the ninth when Tony Gonzalez doubled, moved to third on a double play and scored on Harvey Kuenn's pinch single.

Keny Boyer had put the Mets ahead 4-3 in the seventh with his third hit of the game, a single that scored Bud Harrelson, who had beat out a grounder and moved to third on Allen's throwing error.

Disputed Run Allows A's Split With Yanks

NEW YORK (AP) — Pitcher Lew Krausse scored a disputed run on Bert Campaneris' ground-rule double in the eighth inning, giving the Kansas City Athletics a 1-0 victory over New York and a split of their doubleheader Friday night.

The Yankees won the opener 7-5, snapping rookie Jim Nash's unbeaten winning string at seven.

In the nightcap, Phil Roof led off the eighth with a single off Fritz Peterson. Kraussse, attempting to sacrifice, forced Roof at second. Campaneris lined a shot to the right field wall that was touched by a fan for a ground-rule double. The umpires, however, ruled that Krausse would have scored from first had the ball remained in play and waved him home.

The Yankees protested heatedly, and Manager Ralph Houk was ejected from the game.

Then, with the A's batting in in the ninth, a teen-age fan ran onto the field and threw a punch at Plate Umpire Al Salerno. He missed, and was quickly hustled away by Yankee Stadium police.

Until the eighth, Krausse and Peterson had hooked up in a duel of four-hitters.

The Yankees jumped on Nash for four runs in the second inning of the opener and handed him his first major league setback since coming up from the minors early last month.

Singles by Clete Boyer and pitcher Fred Talbot, a sacrifice fly by Horace Clarke and Roy White's ground out delivered the second-inning runs.

Roger Repoz hit two homers for the Athletics.

OK's Plans

FORT COLLINS, Colo. (AP) — Plans for a $2.5 million 32,000 seat football stadium at Colorado State University were approved Friday by the State Board of Agriculture.

Construction is expected to be completed in time for the 1968 season.

Colorado State University plays an independent schedule but has applied for membership in the Western Athletic Conference.

Punt Returns, 4 Field Goals Defeat Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Two explosive punt returns by Alvin Haymond and four field goals by Lou Michaels carried the Baltimore Colts to a 33-7 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in a National Football League exhibition Friday night.

Michaels kicked field goals of 15, 22, 48 and 47 yards and Haymond ran back one punt for 50 yards to set up one field goal and dashed 49 yards with another put the Colts in position for a touchdown.

Baltimore grabbed its third pre-season victory without a loss before 28,304 fans in a nationally televised game at Busch Memorial Stadium.

The loss was the first for Cardinals in three exhibition games.

Haymond's 50-yard return in the fading moments of the first quarter set up Michael's 22-yard field goal early in the second period. He ran 49 yards to the St. Louis 20 in the third period and four plays later Lenny Moore crashed over for a touchdown.

The Cardinals drove 77 yards in 13 plays with the opening kick off and scored their only touchdown on Charley Johnson's seven-yard pass to Sonny Randall.

St. Louis consumed almost half the first quarter with the scoring drive, but the Colts exploded in their first offensive play of the game — a 47-yard pass from quarterback John Unitas to Willie Richardson. That put Baltimore on the St. Louis 35.

When the Colts' offense faltered, Michaels kicked his 15 yard field goal.

Bob Boyd of the Colts intercepted a Johnson pass and returned it 33 yards to the Cardinals one. Unitas banged into the end zone for the first Baltimore touchdown.

Late in the last quarter, reserve quarterback Gary Cuozzo hit Al Snyder with a 26-yard scoring pass to top a 50-yard drive.

Kaat, the American League's winningest pitcher, gained his 18th victory against nine defeats. He gave way to Worthington with one out in the eighth.

Zoilo Versalles led off the first with a single but was forced at second by Cesar Tovar, who then stole second and continued to third on catcher Mike Ryan's bad throw. Lee Stange walked Harmon Killebrew and Don Mincher, loading the bases, and Battey delivered his double.

The Red Sox scored their run in the first on a walk, a double by Tony Conigliaro and Kaat's wild pitch.

Jets, Dolphin Pilots Seek Starting Jobs

JACKSONVILLE (AP) — The New York Jets and the Miami Dolphins—both led by quarterbacks who are trying for first-string jobs—worked out Friday in preparation for an American Football League exhibition game tonight.

Mike Taliaferro will be filling in for the injured Joe Namath, the Jets' $400,000 first-string quarterback, while Dolphin Coach George Wilson starts rookie Rick Norton.

It will be one of the last chances for the former University of Kentucky passing star to show Wilson that he can do the job.

The coach said he planned to pick a regular quarterback for the new team within the week. He said he will look at Norton and possibly his son, George Jr., tonight and then try the other two quarterbacks — veterans Dick Wood and Eddie Wilson—next week.

"I've got to decide," Wilson said as he relaxed in his hotel room after the long bus ride from Miami. "I've just about got the other ball players all set."

Even though Namath is temporarily out with a knee injury, Jets coach Weeb Ewbank says he is not worried about the key position. He said Taliaferro is not just the best No. 2 quarterback in the league but one of the best around.

Taliaferro, starting his third year of pro ball, still has hopes of beating out Namath for the top spot.

"If I didn't, I'd go home," he said.

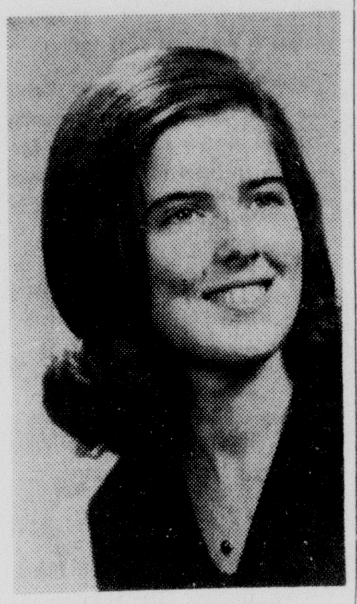
Rookie Peter Lammons, a tight end candidate from the University of Texas, will start in place of Dee Mackey, who is out with pneumonia. Otherwise, the Jets lineup will be about the same as the one that beat Houston 16-10 in the New Yorkers' first exhibition game.

For Miami, veteran fullback Rick Casares will fill in for Billy Joe, who has been injured but had been expected to be ready, and Bo Roberson, all-AFL receiver who signed his contract Thursday night, is expected to see some action.

Wilson said he planned to split up the game time among the receivers, which he said was one of the young team's best departments.

Although the Dolphins lost to San Diego 38-10 and to Kansas City 33-0 in the first two exhibitions, Wilson contends that the team is not as bad as the scores indicate.

He admits the new team has a long way to go but said the outcome of the first two contests could have been entirely different except for mistakes made by the group of rookies and veterans playing together for the first time.



SHERRY WRIGHT

Wright Is Queen For Jamboree

Sherry Wright was chosen to represent Ouachita High School as queen for the Second Annual Bastrop Lions Club's Football Jamboree to be held at Bastrop High School September 2, 1966.

Sherry is a senior at OHS and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Brumley.

Her high school activities and honors include junior class favorite, most outstanding member in Beta Delta Chi, president and major of the Lionnettes, FBLA reporter, Y-Teens and senior class vice-president.

Sherry's hobbies include sewing, skiing and bowling. She plans to attend Northeast Louisiana State College upon graduation from high school.

Plans are rapidly being completed for the 1966 Lions Jamboree according to Milton Benton and Ray Norris, co-chairmen for the event. The three games this year will feature Farmerville playing Caldwell Parish High; Tallulah versus Ouachita High and Bastrop battling with Lake Providence. Each game will consist of two 12-minute halves.

The benefit affair is to send six local children to the Lions League for Crippled Children's camp at Leesville. The children will be able to attend this specially constructed and operated camp for handicapped because of the support local citizens gave the Lions football jamboree last fall.

Tickets are now on sale at Ouachita High School.

Tennessee Tops Pascagoula In Dixie Boys Play

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP)—A scrambling Chattanooga (North River), Tenn., team bounced back for five runs in the top of the last inning to edge previously-undefeated Pascagoula, Miss., 5-4 Friday in the Dixie Boys' World Series.

In an earlier game, Myrtle Grove, Fla., eliminated Ozark, Ala., 5-2, to put three teams into the finals, each with one defeat.

In a draw to determine which team received the bye, the Myrtle Grove coach pulled the lucky straw, throwing Pascagoula against the Tennessee champions in the game Friday night.

The winner will play Myrtle Grove for the championship tonight.

A three-run homer by Gene Wallace and a double by David Shuford featured Chattanooga's rally Friday afternoon. Shuford's blow drove in the tying and winning runs.

Gary Gorday pitched and helped bat Myrtle Grove to its victory over Ozark. He allowed just five hits and rapped a double and single, both of which figured in his team's scoring.

Pico Finance whipped Central Baptist, 6-3 with Kelley socking a homer for the winners. Saulters took the win and Beckley was tagged with the loss.

The Fire Fighters edged American Bank 9-8. McGough was credited with the victory while Nix was charged with the loss. Alger had two hits, including a homer for the winners. Stuckey and Betz had two hits each for the losers.

College Place defeated Southside Methodist 4-3. Berry took the mound win and Fulton absorbed the loss. McGowen and Williams had two hits each for the winners.

Bethel downed Victory 10-8. Scarbrough was credited with the win and Creed was charged with the loss. Miller and Parker had three hits each for the winners. McEmery had three safeties for the losers.

When the Mets beat the Houston Astros in double headers on successive days in July the New Yorkers became the first National League team to win four twin bills this season.

Jaster Gets Nearer Mark On Dodgers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rookie left-hander Larry Jaster moved closer to a National League record Friday night by shutting out Los Angeles for the fifth time this season as the St. Louis Cardinals trimmed the Dodgers 4-0.

Julian Javier drove in two runs with a single and double, helping Jaster, 8-3, get the decision over Claude Osteen, 13-10, who was driven from the mound in the seventh inning.

Jaster has hurled 36 consecutive scoreless innings against the Dodgers this year and has allowed only 20 hits, all singles.

The National League record for shutouts by a pitcher in one season against one club is five. Charles Baldwin of Detroit — then a National League Club — did it against Philadelphia in 1886 and Grover Cleveland Alexander of Philadelphia did it against Cincinnati in 1916.

Jaster scattered five hits, walked three and stranded eight base runners.

A walk to Dal Maxvill and a double by Javier gave the Cards a 1-0 lead in the third inning.

They knocked out Osteen with three more runs in the seventh after an infield hit by Maxvill and a fielder's choice put runners at first and second. Javier and Lou Brock each singled home a run, finishing Osteen. Reiver Bob Miller let in another run on an infield out.

Special One-Moth Training Set For American Gymnasts

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—How much will a short, concentrated period of training help America's international performance in gymnastics, a sport requiring long practice to master?

U.S. coaches and officials hope to have the answer next month after conclusion of a unique one month training camp at Pennsylvania State University.

Sixteen of the nation's finest gymnasts have been training at Penn State since Aug. 1.

The first test will come Sept. 20-25 in the World Games at Dortmund, Germany when coach Abie Grossfeld of Southern Connecticut, a former olympian, leads six of the gymnasts against 31 other nations.

"It's hard to measure how much something like this will help," Grossfeld says, "but it's bound to help a lot. It helps just getting all these fellows together and working with each other and getting the benefit of having four coaches watch them."

Coaches Gene Wettstone of Penn State, Newt Loken of Michigan and Carl Patterson of Temple are working with Grossfeld at the camp.

"In 1960, we the Olympic gymnasts got together on our own and trained for about six weeks at West Point (N.Y.), but this is the first time something like this has been tried on a really organized scale," Grossfeld says. "We felt we had good results with our own little camp in 1960."

One reason for the camp is the lack of gymnastic competition.

Says Wettstone:

"We have to set up a program which will keep these gymnasts active for a longer period of time. "Usually when they are just reaching maturity, they graduate from college and there is no place for them to compete."

Wettstone, whose teams have won more national collegiate championships than any other team and who recognized as a master showman in the sport, will do his bit to promote competition by directing a meet at Penn State when the 16 finish their training Aug. 27.

He intends to make it resemble as close as possible European competitions, complete with a German band and all the trimmings.

The main goal, though is the World Games, where Grossfeld is shooting for a third-place finish.

2 Americans Swimmers Topple World Records

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Fabulous Don Schollander smashed his own world record with an amazing 1:56.2 in the 200-meter freestyle, and 15-year-old Pokey Watson set a world mark of 2:10.5 in the women's 200-meter freestyle Friday night in the 16th National AAU Outdoor Swimming and Diving Championships.

Dick Roth, the Olympic gold medalist and world record holder in the 400-meter individual medley, set a meet record of 4:47.9, seven-tenths of a second under his own mark set in 1964 but 2.5 seconds over his world mark set in the 1964 Olympics.

Roth, Schollander and Miss Watson all represent the powerful Santa Clara, Calif., Swim Club.

Schollander, a blond 20-year-old Yale economics major and four-time Olympic gold medalist, got his second world mark in two nights and was a full second under his pending world record of 1:57.2 set last month at Los Angeles. His 100-meter split time was :56.5.

John Nelson, 18-year-old Olympic silver medalist from Pompano Beach, Fla., was second in 1:57.6, equaling the listed world mark by Schollander in the 1964 Olympics.

Nelson broke Schollander's former world mark in the 400-meter freestyle in preliminaries Thursday, then pushed him to a new world mark in the finals of 4:11.6.

Schollander was asked if he was keeping close tabs on Nelson in the next lane.

"You can bet your life on that," he said.

"I thought I was out a little faster than I actuallly was and I was surprised he was still with me. I knew he would move with me on the third 50.

"It's a real thrill to break a world record every time I do it. I thought I could do it."

Miss Watson, an Olympic gold medalist at the tender age of 13 at Tokyo in 1964, smashed the pending world mark of 2:11.4 by Martha Randall of Philadelphia's Vesper Boat Club. Miss Randall was third in 2:12.4 as Pam Kruse of Pompano Beach, Fla., was second with a 2:11.7, only one-tenth off the listed world mark of 2:11.6 by Dawn Fraser of Australia in 1960.

"No, I didn't think I had a world record. I just sort of hoped," Miss Watson said. "This is just great."

Claudia Kolb, a 16-year-old Olympic silver medalist from Santa Clara, set a meet record of 5:15.5 in the women's 400-meter individual medley. This was only six-tenths off the world record of 5:14.9 by Donna de Varona of Santa Clara in the 1964 Olympics.

Scholland anchored the Santa Clara A team to a meet record of 3:35.4 in the 400-meter freestyle relay with his :52.9. This was only 2.2 seconds off the world mark set by Schollander's United States team in the 1964 Olympics.

Louis Nicolao, Greg Buckingham and Don Roth were the first three men.

The Santa Clara B team anchored by Dick Roth was second giving Santa Clara 69 under Indiana Aquatic Club at the midway point in the race for the team crown in the four-day meet.

Rex Gilbert of Indiana A.C. edged Olympian Ken Sitzberger, his teammate, 5:52.45 to 5:52.10 for the men's 3-meter diving crown, with Bernie Wrightson, Phoenix, Ariz., in third place, only 4.3 points behind.

The women's 1-meter diving title was again won by Santa Clara's Joel O'Connell.

Miss Watson anchored the Santa Clara A-Team to a meet record, the eighth so far, of 4:04.5 in the women's 400-meter freestyle relay, giving Santa Clara a strong 86-63 lead over Vesper Boat Club of Philadelphia in a race for the women's team title. The first three members of the winning team were Nancy Ryan, Linda Gustavson and Miss Kolb.

Carty Leads Braves Past Giants, 8-5

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rico Carty's three-run homer followed by Mack Jones solo shot producee a four-run seventh inning for Atlanta and carried the Braves past the San Francisco Giants 8-5 Friday night.

The loss kept the Giants one percentage point behind the National League-leading Pittsburgh Pirates who lost to Chicago 4-3.

The Braves held a slim 3-2 lead before the explosion. Giants' starter Bob Bolin retired the first two Braves in the seventh before walking Hank Aaron and giving up a single to Joe Torre.

Allen's Homer Nets Met Loss

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Richie Alllen's two-out homer in the 10th inning gave Philadelphia a 5-4 victory over New York Friday night.

The Phils tide the game in the bottom of the ninth when Tony Gonzalez doubled, moved to third on a double play and scored on Harvey Kuenn's pinch single.

Keny Boyer had put the Mets ahead 4-3 in the seventh with his third hit of the game, a single that scored Bud Harrelson, who had beat out a grounder and moved to third on Allen's throwing error.

Disputed Run Allows A's Split With Yanks

NEW YORK (AP) — Pitcher Lew Krausse scored a disputed run on Bert Campaneris' ground-rule double in the eighth inning, giving the Kansas City Athletics a 1-0 victory over New York and a split of their double-header Friday night.

The Yankees won the opener 7-5, snapping rookie Jim Nash's unbeaten winning string at seven.

In the nightcap, Phil Roof led off the eighth with a single off Fritz Peterson. Krausse, attempting to sacrifice, forced Roof at second. Campaneris lined a shot to the right field wall that was touched by a fan for a ground-rule double. The umpires, however, ruled that Krausse would have scored from first had the ball remained in play and waved him home.

The Yankees protested heatedly, and Manager Ralph Houk was ejected from the game.

Then, with the A's batting in in the ninth, a teen-age fan ran onto the field and threw a punch at Plate Umpire Al Salerno. He missed, and was quickly hustled away by Yankee Stadium police.

Until the eighth, Krausse and Peterson had hooked up in a duel of four-hitters.

The Yankees jumped on Nash for four runs in the second inning of the opener and handed him his first major league setback since coming up from the minors early last month.

Singles by Clete Boyer and pitcher Fred Talbot, a sacrifice fly by Horace Clarke and Roy White's ground out delivered the second-inning runs.

Punt Returns, 4 Field Goals Defeat Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Two explosive punt returns by Alvin Haymond and four field goals by Lou Michaels carried the Baltimore Colts to a 33-7 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in a National Football League exhibition Friday night.

Michaels kicked field goals of 15, 22, 48 and 47 yards and Haymond ran back one punt for 50 yards to set up one field goal and dashed 49 yards with another put the Colts in position for a touchdown.

Baltimore grabbed its third pre-season victory without a loss before 28,304 fans in a nationally televised game at Busch Memorial Stadium.

The loss was the first for Cardinals in three exhibition games.

Haymond's 50-yard return in the fading moments of the first quarter set up Michael's 22-yard field goal early in the second period. He ran 49 yards to the St. Louis 20 in the third period and four plays later Lenny Moore crashed over for a touchdown.

The Cardinals drove 77 yards in 13 plays with the opening kick off and scored their only touchdown on Charley Johnson's seven-yard pass to Sonny Randall.

St. Louis consumed almost half the first quarter with the scoring drive, but the Colts exploded on their first offensive play of the game — a 47-yard pass from quarterback John Unitas to Willie Richardson. That put Baltimore on the St. Louis 35.

When the Colts' offense faltered, Michaels kicked his 15 yard field goal.

Bob Boyd of the Colts intercepted a Johnson pass and returned it 33 yards to the Cardinals one. Unitas banged into the end zone for the first Baltimore touchdown.

Late in the last quarter, reserve quarterback Gary Cuozzo hit Al Snyder with a 26-yard pass to top a 50-yard drive.

Twins Edge Sox For 5th Victory

BOSTON (AP) — Earl Battey rapped a two-run double in the first inning and Jim Kaat combined with Al Worthington for a four-hitter as the Minnesota Twins edged Boston 2-1 Friday night for their fifth srtaight victory.

Kaat, the American League's winningest pitcher, gained his 18th victory against nine defeats. He gave way to Worthington with one out in the eighth.

Zoilo Versalles led off the first with a single but was forced at second by Cesar Tovar, then stole second and continued to third on Mike Ryan's bad throw. Lee Stange walked Harmon Killebrew and Don Mincher, loading the bases, and Battey delivered his double.

The Red Sox scored their run in the first on a walk, a double by Tony Conigliaro and Kaat's wild pitch.

Falcons Rely On New Players, New Plays Against Cleveland

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Atlanta Falcons are counting on some new players and new plays to help them Saturday night in a National Football League exhibition game against the Cleveland Browns.

Cleveland, with fullback Jimmy Brown on the retired list, also has made some changes for the battle which is expected to attract about 50,000 fans.

The Browns have installed Ernie Green at fullback, with Leroy Kelley at halfback. Wait Roberts, a little speedster who weighs only 160, will be the main passing target with Paul Warfield sidelined with a sprained ankle.

The Browns beat San Francisco 28-17 in their last test after bowing 16-6 to the Los Angeles Rams.

"Don't you believe they're not good just because they don't have Brown," Atlanta Coach Norb Hecker said. "They've always had good passing with Frank Ryan, and they've got great receivers."

Stopping the Browns isn't Hecker's biggest worry, however. The Falcons have yielded only 44 points in three exhibition losses, but their offense has sputtered and they have scored only a touchdown a game.

In an attempt to beef up the attack, Hecker shifted fullback Junior Coffey to halfback, and named Joe Hernandez and Angie Coia as flanker back and split end.

The Falcons installed several new plays during the week, and Hecker said he was pleased with the way quarterback Dennis Claridge ran the club with the new offensive wrinkles.

Missed field goals have hurt the Falcons in their defeats by the Philadelphia Eagles, The St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Giants, and Atlanta acquired kicker Larry Moore from the Green Bay Packers this week.

Moore probably will be called on to do the place - kicking against the Browns, although Hecker said he will have to beat out Bob Jencks to get the job.

The game will mark former Packer Hank Gremminger's first trial with the Falcons, who got him from the Dallas Cowboys to bolster their defensive secondary. Defensive end Sam Williams, who came out of retirement to join the Falcons, will start. He played briefly last week against the Giants.

Hecker said he might take a look at rookie quarterback Steve Sloan of Alabama during the game. Sloan has been running behind Claridge and rookie Randy Johnson and has not played yet because he was in the College All-Star game.

Wright, Hagge Tied In Open

MUKWONAGO, Wis. (AP) — Marlene Bauer Hagge, seeking her first tournament victory of the year, shot a one-under women's-par 74 Friday and moved into a first-place tie with Mickey Wright in the $10,000 Women's Western Open Golf Tournament.

Marlene needed only 27 putts in the second round over the Rainbow Springs layout. Her score gave her a 150 total, tying her with Miss Wright, who had 78 Friday.

Tied for third were Margie Masters with a 79 for a 152, and Jo Ann Prentice. Miss Prentice had the day's low round, a 73.

Kathy Whitworth, the tournament's co-favorite with Miss Wright, had a 79 for a 36-hole total of 153. Kathy's four-over-par performance tied her with Mary Mills.

Miss Mills shot a 78.

Further back in the field were Sybil Grifffin with a 79 for 156; Clifffford Ann Creed with 78 for 157; and Judy Kimball with 76 for 157.

Defending champion Sue Maxwell shot an 80 to tie Betsy Rawls at 158. Misss Rawls had 79.

It was the Dickey's first daughter. They have four sons, Donald, Daniel, David and Darrell, whose ages range from four to 11.

Both mother and daughter were reported doing fine.

Solon Pilot Sees Only Casanova

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baltimore's Andy Etchebarren and Boston's George Scott generally are regarded among the leaders for the American League Rookie of the Year award.

To Washington Manager Gil Hodges, however, there's only one choice — the Senators' catcher Paul Casanova.

"Who else?" asked Hodges Friday, as though there were no others in the running.

"I wouldn't trade Casanova for Andy Etchebarren," said Hodges when the Orioles' catcher was put up as an early-book favorite for the top rookie title.

Being a member of the league-leading Orioles, Etchebarren is expected to receive much support for the award.

At .247, Casanova is outhitting Etchebarren by 12 points and has two more homers, 12. At 42, Etchebarren has four more runs batted in than Casanova.

"Wouldn't trade, wouldn't trade," Hodges said, when the names of Boston's first baseman, Scott, and third baseman Joe Foy were mentioned.

Both are hitting around .250 and Scott, the league's all-star first baseman, has 23 home runs.

"You forgot a name," said Hodges. "Rick Richcardt would probably have received the award if it weren't for his operation."

Before being sidelined for the season after the removal of a kidney, Reichardt, California Angels outfielder, was outhitting all the other rookies by 40 points and had 16 homers and 44 rbi's.

Hodges did not say he wouldn't trade for Reichardt. Neither did he say he would. Hodges never got around to mentioning Tom Agee, the White Sox outfielder who is hitting .261.

Casanova, who began the season in the minors, is philosophical about the award.

"I'm just happy to be playing," he said.

Wildcat Emphasis On Slow Opponent

ATLATA (UPI) — The Kentucky Wildcats, finally convinced that you have to slow your opponents if you want to be a winner, are putting their emphasis on defense this fall.

The Wildcats averaged three touchdowns and more than 300 yards per game last season but wound up with a 6-4 record.

Coach Charlie Bradshaw had the Wildcats work long and hard on defense during the spring. "Our defense is not yet perfect," he said, "but I think it will be better than any other time during the four years I've been at Kentucky."

What Bradshaw didn't point out is that defense may be Kentucky's only salvation this fall. Their three greatest offensive stars of the past few years — quarterback Rick Norton, Tail back Rodger Bird and end Rick Kestner — are gone.

That's a lot of offense to lose. Norton passed for 4,514 yards, including 1,823 last season; Bird scored 21 touchdowns, including a dozen last season; and Kestner caught 82 passes for 1,280 yards and 10 touchdown. Bird, recognized as the best all-around back in the South, gained 1,700 yards rushing.

Senior Roger Walz and junior Terry Beadles, who completed only nine passes between them for 67 yards last year, are Norton's replacements and Bradshaw plans to change to a sprint-out offense since neither cooes close to Norton as a passer.

Senior Larry Seiple, alternating between wingback and tailback last season when he rushed for 446 yards and caught passes for 635, will be the fulltime tailback. Senior Bob Windsor, who caught 30 passes in 1965, replaces Seiple as the flanker.

Junior Donnie Britton, who carried the ball only once last year, is slated to be the fullback because Bradshaw thinks he's "the best blocker we have had at the position."

Thanks to an early school-starting time, Kentucky got a two-week head start in fall practice and hopes four weeks of work will solve most of the problems before the Sept. 17 opener with North Carolina.

"I believe the atmosphere has been set for a highly successful four weeks of preparation," Bradshaw said. "Most of the things we must do can be accomplished through plain hard work."

Four Heisman Winners In Action

Associated Press Sports Writer

Four winners of the Heisman Trophy, the highest honor in college footballl, will be seen in action in the American Football League's first pre-season doubleheader Saturday night at Anaheim, Calif.

John Huarte, Notre Dame's outstanding collegian two years ago, probably will start at quarterback and the former Navy ace Joe Bellino, will play a flanker role for the Boston Patriots in the first game against the Oakland Raiders, who feature former LSU speedster Billy Cannnon. The game will start at 9 p.m. EDT.

In the second half of the program, satrting at 11:30 p.m. EDT, Kansas City, unbeaten in two exhibition games, takes on San Diego's defending Western Division champions. Mike Garrett, the Southern Cal halfback who led the college ranks in rushing last year, will play for Kansas City.

Football buffs have a full week-end schedule of tune-up battles. The National Football League offers five night games Saturday and a Sunday matinee. Besides the Anaheim doubleheader, the American League offers the New York Jets against Miami at Jacksonville, Fla., 9 p.m. EDT and Buffalo against Houston at Little Rock, 10 p.m. EDT, both today.

Highlighting the NFL schedule will be the game at Dallas between the champion Green Bay Packers, seeking to rebound from their 13-10 loss to Chicago, against the Cowboys, riding high after a 20-10 triumph over Los Angeles. Starting time is 10 p.m. EDT.

Other NFL games today are Los Angeles at Minnesota, 10 p.m. EDT, Chicago vs. Washington at Norfolk, Va., 9:30 p.m. EDT, Cleveland at Atlanta, 9 p.m. EDT, and San Francisco vs. Pittsburgh at Porland, Ore., 11 p.m. EDT.

The activities will be climaxed Sunday by the game at New Haven, Conn., in the Yale Bowl between the Detroit Lions and New York Giants, starting at 2 p.m. EDT. A former Yale man, Chuck Mercein, is one of the Giants' top ball-carriers.

The Minnesota Vikings will be striving to protect a 13-game winning streak in exhibition play. The have not given up a touchdown in two games and showed tremendous striking power in humbling the Pittsburgh Steelers 35-6.

The Chicago Bears turned up a tough, alert defense in beating the Packers but suffered a blow in the lose of fullback Andy Livingston for a year through a leg injury. The Redskins, under new coach Otto Graham, have been hard hit by injuries.

The Browns still have not found a solid punch after the retirement of Jimmy Brown but have shown improvement in a victory over San Francisco. Last week Atlanta suffered a last minute defeat at the hands of the Giants.

Bill Austin, new coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers, hopes to get his youth movement clicking against San Francisco, quarterbacked by Bill Kilmer.

Wagner's Homer Carries Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Leon Wagner's 10-inning home run gave Cleveland a 3-2 victory over Chicago Friday.

Wagner's homer, his 21st, came off relief pitcher Juan Pizarro with out in the 10th.

The White Sox scored an unearned run in the first inning without a hit, but Cleveland tied it in the fourth when Fred Whitfield slammed his 24th homer of the season.

Chicago moved back into the lead in the fifth when Jerry Adair singled, stole second and scored on Don Buford's single.

Rocky Colavito tied the game 2-2 in the sixth with his 27th homer.

Solon Pilot Sees Only Casanova

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baltimore's Andy Etchebarren and Boston's George Scott generally are regarded among the leaders for the American League Rookie of the Year award.

To Washington Manager Gil Hodges, however, there's only one choice — the Senators' catcher Paul Casanova.

"Who else?" asked Hodges Friday, as though there were no others in the running.

"I wouldn't trade Casanova for Andy Etchebarren," said Hodges when the Orioles' catcher was put up as an early-book favorite for the top rookie title.

Being a member of the league-leading Orioles, Etchebarren is expected to receive much support for the award.

At .247, Casanova is outhitting Etchebarren by 12 points and has two more homers, 12. At 42, Etchebarren has four more runs batted in than Casanova.

"Wouldn't trade, wouldn't trade," Hodges said, when the names of Boston's first baseman, Scott, and third baseman Joe Foy were mentioned.

Both are hitting around .250 and Scott, the league's all-star first baseman, has 23 home runs.

"You forgot a name," said Hodges. "Rick Riehcardt would probably have received the award if it weren't for his operation."

Before being sidelined for the season after the removal of a kidney, Reichardt, California Angels outfielder, was outhitting all the other rookies by 40 points and had 16 homers and 44 rbi's.

Hodges did not say he wouldn't trade for Reichardt. Neither did he say he would. Hodges never got around to mentioning Tom Agee, the White Sox outfielder who is hitting .261.

Casanova, who began the season in the minors, is philosophical about the award.

"I'm just happy to be playing," he said.

Wildcat Emphasis On Slow Opponent

ATLATA (UPI) — The Kentucky Wildcats, finally convinced that you have to slow your opponents if you want to be a winner, are putting their emphasis on defense this fall.

The Wildcats averaged three touchdowns and more than 300 yards per game last season but wound up with a 6-4 record.

Coach Charlie Bradshaw had the Wildcats work long and hard on defense during the spring. "Our defense is not yet perfect," he said, "but I think it will be better than any other time during the four years I've been at Kentucky."

What Bradshaw didn't point out is that defense may be Kentucky's only salvation this fall. Their three greatest offensive stars of the past few years — quarterback Rick Norton, Tail back Rodger Bird and end Rick Kestner — are gone.

That's a lot of offense to lose. Norton passed for 4,514 yards, including 1,823 last season; Bird scored 21 touchdowns, including a dozen last season; and Kestner caught 82 passes for 1,280 yards and 10 touchdown. Bird, recognized as the best all-around back in the South, gained 1,700 yards rushing.

Senior Roger Walz and junior Terry Beadles, who completed only nine passes between them for 67 yards last year, are Norton's replacements and Bradshaw plans to change to a sprint-out offense since neither cooes close to Norton as a passer.

Senior Larry Seiple, alternating between wingback and tailback last season when he rushed for 446 yards and caught passes for 635, will be the fulltime tailback. Senior Bob Windsor, who caught 30 passes in 1965, replaces Seiple as the flanker.

Junior Donnie Britton, who carried the ball only once last year, is slated to be the fullback because Bradshaw thinks he's "the best blocker we have had at the position."

Thanks to an early school-starting time, Kentucky got a two-week head start in fall practice and hopes four weeks of work will solve most of the problems before the Sept. 17 opener with North Carolina.

"I believe the atmosphere has been set for a highly successful four weeks of preparation," Bradshaw said. "Most of the things we must do can be accomplished through plain hard work."

Four Heisman Winners In Action

Associated Press Sports Writer

Four winners of the Heisman Trophy, the highest honor in college footbalil, will be seen in action in the American Football League's first pre-season doubleheader Saturday night at Anaheim, Calif.

John Huarte, Notre Dame's outstanding collegian two years ago, probably will start at quarterback and the former Navy ace Joe Bellino, will play a flanker role for the Boston Patriots in the first game against the Oakland Raiders, who feature former LSU speedster Billy Cannnon. The game will start at 9 p.m. EDT.

In the second half of the program, satrting at 11:30 p.m. EDT, Kansas City, unbeaten in two exhibition games, takes on San Diego's defending Western Division champions. Mike Garrett, the Southern Cal halfback who led the college ranks in rushing last year, will play for Kansas City.

Football buffs have a full week-end schedule of tune-up battles. The National Football League offers five night games Saturday and a Sunday matinee. Besides the Anaheim doubleheader, the American League offers the New York Jets against Miami at Jacksonville, Fla., 9 p.m. EDT and Buffalo against Houston at Little Rock, 10 p.m. EDT, both today.

Highlighting the NFL schedule will be the game at Dallas between the champion Green Bay Packers, seeking to rebound from their 13-10 loss to Chicago, against the Cowboys, riding high after a 20-10 triumph over Los Angeles. Starting time is 10 p.m. EDT.

Other NFL games today are Los Angeles at Minnesota, 10 p.m. EDT, Chicago vs. Washington at Norfolk, Va., 9:30 p.m. EDT, Cleveland at Atlanta, 9 p.m. EDT, and San Francisco vs. Pittsburgh at Porland, Ore., 11 p.m. EDT.

The activities will be climaxed Sunday by the game at New Haven, Conn., in the Yale Bowl between the Detroit Lions and New York Giants, starting at 2 p.m. EDT. A former Yale man, Chuck Mercein, is one of the Giants' top ball-carriers.

The Minnesota Vikings will be striving to protect a 13-game winning streak in exhibition play. The have not given up a touchdown in two games and showed tremendous striking power in humbling the Pittsburgh Steelers 35-6.

The Chicago Bears turned up a tough, alert defense in beating the Packers but suffered a blow in the lose of fullback Andy Livingston for a year through a leg injury. The Redskins, under new coach Otto Graham, have been hard hit by injuries.

The Browns still have not found a solid punch after the retirement of Jimmy Brown but have shown improvement in a victory over San Francisco. Last week Atlanta suffered a last minute defeat at the hands of the Giants.

Bill Austin, new coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers, hopes to get his youth movement clicking against San Francisco, quarterbacked by Bill Kilmer.

Wagner's Homer Carries Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — Leon Wagner's 10-inning home run gave Cleveland a 3-2 victory over Chicago Friday.

Wagner's homer, his 21st, came off relief pitcher Juan Pizarro with out in the 10th.

The White Sox scored an unearned run in the first inning without a hit, but Cleveland tied it in the fourth when Fred Whitfield slammed his 24th homer of the season.

Chicago moved back into the lead in the fifth when Jerry Adair singled, stole second and scored on Don Buford's single.

Rocky Colavito tied the game 2-2 in the sixth with his 27th homer.

'Early Bird' Aids Capture Of Canadian Fugitive In Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A chase that started via Early Bird satellite last year ended Friday outside a casino men's room as FBI agents nabbed a dapper man with steel-blue eyes as Canada's most wanted fugitive.

Agents said they were hunting the man, Georges LeMay, 41, on charges of masterminding the looting of a Montreal bank of jewelry, stocks, bonds and from $500,000 to $3 million in cash.

LeMay was unarmed and didn't resist as three agents walked up to him in the Western-atmosphere Golden Nugget casino in downtown Las Vegas, identified themselves and asked who he was.

The FBI said it received word LeMay was in town, alerted several downtown hotel-casinos and received a tip from Golden Nugget security guards that he was gambling there.

In Montreal, former Detective Inspector Joseph Bedard, who investigated the 1961 burglary, said a friend of his led the FBI to LeMay. He would not identify the friend but said he made frequent trips to Las Vegas.

"I knew LeMay was making trips to Las Vegas. He always did," Bedard said. "I told my friend to keep an eye out for him any time he went down there and I gave him a photograph of LeMay."

Bedard, who quit the Montreal police force to become chief of security for the Royal Bank of Canada, said he told the friend to phone the FBI if he spotted LeMay and then phone him in Montreal.

LISE LEMAY

"He did just that and the FBI moved in and arrested LeMay,'" Bedard said.

Eight to 10 agents prowled outside the casino as their three colleagues stopped LeMay.

He gave agents the name Robert G. Palmer and then said his wife, Lise, 29, was at their recently rented home in a modest southeast Las Vegas subdivision, the FBI said.

Lise was taken into custody as she answered the agents' knock on her door, the FBI said. Officers said the two had $10,000 in U.S. and Canadian currency on their persons.

The LeMays were arraigned on charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for conspiracy to bribe. Bail was set at $100,000 apiece, but was precluded when immigration authorities placed the couple on hold.

Miami, Fla., Sheriff T. A. Buchanan, charged LeMay bought his way out of Dade County jail on Sept. 21, 1965, for $35,000. Witnesses said he slid fromthe Witnesses said he slid from the seventh floor of the jail building on a hose.

LeMay's picture was flashed over the first telecast of the Early Bird communication satellite as "Canada's most wanted fugitive" after police said a gang looted more than 370 safety deposit boxes at the Montreal branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia in July 1961.

GEORGES LEMAY

A member of the gang, Jacques Lajoie, testified LeMay directed by walkie-talkie from a building across the street as burglars cut a hole in the cement floor of the bank's vault.

A Fort Lauderdale, Fla., man recognized the Early Bird picture as a man he said was living on a 43-foot sailing yacht off the Florida coast.

"I seldom make mistakes. How did you get me?" LeMay was quoted as asking as officers boarded the boat to arrest him.

"Isn't that something," he said when he was told about the Early Bird picture. "It took a satellite to catch me."

Later at a Miami hearing, LeMay was asked how he obtained a passport in the name of Rene Roy.

"When you have money, you can get anything," he replied.

LeMay spoke in a foreign language to his wife as they were arraigned here through a wire mesh in front of the main desk at the Clark County jail.

He fidgeted with a match book, but grinned and laughed as he asked U.S. Commissioner Angus Blad to lower the bail. Blad refused.

The U.S. marshal's office said the next step would probably be extradition to Miami.

"We're going ot put him in the B-hole (a cell) right across from this desk where we can watch him," said one jailer. The sheriff's office said no extra guards were assigned.

LeMay was dressed in light brown trousers and a yellow sport shirt with the top button open. His head was shaved bald and he had a small mustache.

Lise wore her hair in long, black strands. She looked small and thin in a plain blue dress.

Better Heads On Beer Than On Some People

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A 35-year-old neighbor woman asked our 19-year-old son if he would like to go out and have a beer with her. They left at 9 p.m. and didn't get home until after 2 the next morning. The place they went to closes at midnight, so they bought some beer to take out and went riding around.

This woman left her own children at home. Her husband is a truck driver so he doesn't know what goes on when he's away.

Our son has always been a good boy, Abby. When he came home his reaction was that of embarrassment. He said he didn't know she intended to stay out so late. How would you handle this?

UPSET MOTHER

DEAR UPSET: A 19-year-old "boy" shouldn't need a body guard. And if he's a "good boy," he'll have sense enough to decline her next invitation, should there be one.

I would let the woman know, however, that there are laws against contributing to the delinquency of minors, and also neglecting one's own children. Too bad there are better heads on beers than on some people.

DEAR ABBY: I have an awful problem that I'm sure many other girls have. You see, I wear braces and when my boy friend kisses me it feels like someone is hitting me in the mouth with a barbed wire fence.

I like him a lot, but because of this it makes me dread having to kiss him. Do you have any suggestions?

KAREN

DEAR KAREN: Yes. Tell him to slow up when he gets to the fence.

DEAR ABBY: We have a lovely home and I am very particular about keeping it clean. We have a baby girl who will be starting to creep soon. My problem is my husband. He insists on cutting his toe nails in the living room. I find his toe nail clippings all over the living room carpet, and even on the coffee table.

I have told him I don't like it, but he does it anyway. Our baby will be creeping soon, and you know how babies pick up every little thing off the floor and put it in their mouths. It is such a gruesome thought! What should I do?

WORRIES

DEAR WORRIED: Explain to the baby (the big one you're married to) that toe nail clippings can do the same kind of damage to a baby's stomach as broken glass, and he surely wouldn't leave broken glass around for the baby to eat, would he?

If that doesn't stop him, hide the scissors.

DEAR ABBY: I am being unjustly criticized by some members of our small community. You see, I am separated from my husband and I get lonesome for male companionship. So, I have formed a few freindships with some married men in town. (There are NO single men here; believe me, I have looked)

I do have a strick rule, however. I never date a married man unless he tells me his wife doesn't care what he does. So, if I am not trying to steal another woman's husband, what is wrong with having a good time with a man who is as lonesome as I am?

CRITICIZED

DEAR CRITICIZED: A married man belongs to his wife and family whether his wife "cares" what he does or not. And there is always the heel who SAYS his wife doesn't "care" when she doesn't even KNOW.

Problems? Write to Abby, care of News Star. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tranquilizer Aids Women, Doctor Says

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — An Augusta, Ga., physician told a Food and Drug Administration (FDA) hearing Friday that the tranquilizer Miltown can enable previously barren women to have children.

Dr. Robert B. Greenblatt, an authority on gynecology and obstetrics, said he treats about 30 patients a day with Miltown. "About 40 per cent of these patients have no reason for their infertility," Greenblatt said.

He told an FDA hearing into possible controls of the tranquilizer that many of the treated women are "suffering from deep-seated emotional problems ...maybe just from the anxiety of wanting a child."

Greenblatt, chairman of the department of endocrinology at the Medical College of Georgia, also testified that he uses the drug extensively in treating women going through menopause.

Carter - Wallace Drug Co., manufacturers of the drug, asked for the hearing after FDA authorities sought to have Miltown put under federal restrictions along with such items as "goof balls," pep pills and LSD.

Iron Out Seams By Using Your Wooden Rolling Pin

By Heloise Cruse

Dear Folks:

Here is a new one I just learned from a friend who is a wonderful seamstress.

When you press an in - seam flat on anything, such as a wool skirt, you usually turn the garment wrong side out and lay it on your ironing board to press.

She finds that this lets the seam show through to the front of the material. This is especially true on sleeve and skirt seams.

Know what she did?

She took her big old wooden rolling pin and literally rolled a towel around it, laid the seam over this, and pressed with her iron!

Because the rolling pin is round, you do not get the print of the seam on the other side.

It's the prettiest seam press I've ever seen.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here is a helpful hint for anyone who uses a lot of egg whites in cooking.

As you know, if you accidently break the yolk and some of it spills into the egg white, you have to start over.

To easily solve this problem, keep a clean eyedropper handy. Just squeeze and suck the yellow into the dropper. It comes right out of the egg white.

It works wonderfully, and you save time and eggs.

Mrs. Loe Roberts

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

My husband says women have no imagination!

He will never know how many things I have fixed around the house with a kick, slap, adhesive tape and a bobby pin!

Doris B.

Dear Heloise:

To keep baby's white shoestrings clean and new looking, just dip them in thick starch BEFORE drying.

This prevents dirt from soaking into the shoestrings and makes them last much longer.

Mrs. J. Harris

Dear Heloise:

Plastic spouts from small containers of liquid can be used in a workshop to reduce the size of a hole when screws are loose.

Just snip off the spout, push it into the hole, and replace the screw . . . the the middle of the spout.

George

Dear Heloise:

I recently took care of my mother-in-law, who is 94 years old.

I had been giving her sponge baths, until I came up with the idea of trying a shower.

I put one of the molded plastic chairs in the shower stall, adjusted the water temperature, then had her sit in the chair.

The water filled the seat of the chair around her, and the warm water on her back and neck made her feel so much better than a sponge bath, and rinsed the soap off so much better.

She was so pleased with the way it refreshed her, and it was easier for me.

Mrs. M. M

You are an angel to care for loved ones.

Using a chair in the shower stall would be ideal for those who have trouble getting in and out of a bathtub.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I'm just 12, but I'm writing you anyway.

My mother makes me chop a lot of nuts for her, and sometimes I get frustrated because I am always chopping my fingers, too.

Last night I wore a thimble and chopped away.

No more chopped fingers . . . just nuts!

Elizabeth Andrea

Dear Heloise:

I turn my table pad upside down and lay the material on it to cut out dresses.

The material will not slip. Works fine.

Dear Folks:

Here is a new one I just learned from a friend who is a wonderful seamstress.

When you press an in - seam flat on anything, such as a wool skirt, you usually turn the garment wrong side out and lay it on your ironing board to press.

She finds that this lets the seam show through to the front of the material. This is especially true on sleeve and skirt seams.

Know what she did?

She took her big old wooden rolling pin and literally rolled a towel around it, laid the seam over this, and pressed with her iron!

Because the rolling pin is round, you do not get the print of the seam on the other side.

It's the prettiest seam press I've ever seen.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here is a helpful hint for anyone who uses a lot of egg whites in cooking.

As you know, if you accidently break the yolk and some of it spills into the egg white, you have to start over.

To easily solve this problem, keep a clean eyedropper handy. Just squeeze and suck the yellow into the dropper. It comes right out of the egg white.

It works wonderfully, and you save time and eggs.

Mrs. Loe Roberts

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

My husband says women have no imagination!

He will never know how many things I have fixed around the house with a kick, slap, adhesive tape and a bobby pin!

Doris B.

Dear Heloise:

To keep baby's white shoestrings clean and new looking, just dip them in thick starch BEFORE drying.

This prevents dirt from soaking into the shoestrings and makes them last much longer.

Mrs. J. Harris

Dear Heloise:

Plastic spouts from small containers of liquid can be used in a workshop to reduce the size of a hole when screws are loose.

Just snip off the spout, push it into the hole, and replace the screw . . . the the middle of the spout.

George

Dear Heloise:

I recently took care of my mother-in-law, who is 94 years old.

I had been giving her sponge baths, until I came up with the idea of trying a shower.

I put one of the molded plastic chairs in the shower stall, adjusted the water temperature, then had her sit in the chair.

The water filled the seat of the chair around her, and the warm water on her back and neck made her feel so much better than a sponge bath, and rinsed the soap off so much better.

She was so pleased with the way it refreshed her, and it was easier for me.

Mrs. M. M.

You are an angel to care for loved ones.

Using a chair in the shower stall would be ideal for those who have trouble getting in and out of a bathtub.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I'm just 12, but I'm writing to you anyway.

My mother makes me chop a lot of nuts for her, and sometimes I get frustrated because I am always chopping my fingers, too.

Last night I wore a thimble and chopped away.

No more chopped fingers . . . just nuts!

Elizabeth Andrea

Dear Heloise:

I turn my table pad upside down and lay the material on it to cut out dresses.

RFK Hits Shriver On Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., with obvious difficulty, today indicted his brother-in-law, antipoverty director Sargent Shriver, for adhering to an administration policy that gave a supersonic commercial plane priority over children of the nation's poor.

"I just can't be content with that," said Kennedy. "It's an outrage."

Kennedy clashed as gently as possible with Shriver as the director of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) testified at Senate hearings on the plight of the nation's riot-stricken cities.

At issue was the OEO budget for its popular head start program. The administration allocated $327 million for the current fiscal year to prepare deprived children for their first year in school.

Kennedy, a member of the Senate subcommittee on executive reorganization, noted that the program would reach only 30 per cent of the children who needed it.

"Could you use $300 million more?" he asked.

"We could use $200 million more," said Shriver. "We could help 210,000 more children."

But Shriver said the OEO budget was being held to its current limits by priorities established by Congress and President Johnson. "It's obvious that we could spend more but there are other government programs competing for the money," he said.

Kennedy paused for a moment, stared down at a paper shrugging to himself, and shook his head slowly. Looking up he said:

"We're spending $24 billion on Viet Nam and we're giving the people of South Viet Nam $600 million in economic aid and we can't spend $200 million more on these children who will carry a heavy burden through life without this program.

"As a civilized nation, we cannot be proud of this. It's an outrage."

Before the exchange, Kennedy praised Shriver's prepared statement before the subcommittee as "the best so far." Then in an aside, Kennedy added: "that's keeping it in the family."

U.S. Survey Shows Youths' Feeling Toward Drafting

NEW YORK (AP) — An Associated Press survey of young Americans disclosed a fairly general feeling that the Selective Service System is discriminatory and unfair.

On the question of whether a draft offering nonmilitary alternative assignments would prove practical, replies were less conclusive.

Most of the high school and college students questioned in the coast-to-coast sampling found fault with the present local Selective Service board quota system. The imposition of area quotas, they contended, results in the drafting of youths in some localities who would be deferred if they lived elsewhere.

The survey was prompted by President Johnson's call Thursday in Washington for the youth of America to suggest improvements in Selective Service. Addressing a group of students who have been working for the government during their summer vacations, the President asked :

"—Does the present system have flaws or inequities which should be corrected?"

"—Can we make the draft fairer and more effective?"

"—Can we, without harming national security, establish a practical system of nonmilitary alternatives to the draft?"

A comment typical of the views turned up in The Associated Press survey came from Greg Weymann, 18, Pensacola, Fla., a sophomore at Tulane University.

"The practice of a quota for specified regions is a definite flaw," said Weymann. "Married men or college men may be drafted in one area while several miles away there may be another draft board with a surplus of draftable men who are neither married nor in school."

Robert Pasley, 18, Spartanburg, S. C., said it seemed to him "the draft would be fairer if names were merely drawn from a hat."

Cal Williams, Prairie View, Tex., a student at Kansas State University, declared:

"The draft is unfair to people from small towns or rural araes, unfair to lower income groups, and the priorities are disgustingly materialistic — the deferring of technicians, engineers and scientists, but not artists, philosophers or others concerned with the more human side of life."

Charles Klaveness, 22, Houston, Tex., a University of Texas postgraduate student, took this view: "The system of local boards is inequitable in that it allows differing standards to be applied to different communities. It has been shown that some persons drafted under one local draft board would not have been drafted under another. National standards should be established."

Walter George, 22, a senior at California State College, favored a system of nonmilitary alternatives, saying, "We should have a system where everyone puts in a certain amount of time for military or social service — make both a patriotic deed instead of a sacrifice."

Daniel Reiher, 19, Detroit, a student at Highland Park College, thought that, "Men who prefer not serving in the military because of relimious beliefs should be drafted as medics, office workers and other noncombatant duties."

Donald Tilman Hamrick, Winston-Salem, N.C., a University of North Carolina junior, disagreed.

"I don't think we can suddenly switch and become a Switzerland," he said. "Our involvement in the world requires an Army and a Navy and an Air Force. The military way is the only answer as far as national security goes."

William Clark Surratt, Joanna, S.C., a graduate student at the University of South Carolina, also was against the nonmilitary alternatives proposal.

"I don't think this will solve the problem, because if such a system is set up some basis still has to be used to decide who will serve in a military capacity," Surratt said.

FBI Arrests Man For LBJ Threats

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Philadelphia city employe was accused Friday of threatening to kill President Johnson if the United States failed to bomb the capitals of Red China and North Viet Nam this year.

Arrested at dawn by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Leonard Fairorth, 26, was committed by a federal judge for 15 days to undergo a mental examination to determine his competency to stand trial.

Fairorth, tieless in his appearance before U.S. Dist. Judge Alfred Luongo, also was charged with sending an obscene letter to the President's recently married daughter, Luci, and threatening personal injury to Gov. and Mrs. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania.

The letter to Scranton went out Oct. 18, 1965; to Luci on April 6, 1966.

Assst. U.S. Atty. Shane Creamer, seeking a 90-day commitment without bail, said Fairorth — traced through handwriting, fingerprints and surveillance — wrote the President last Nov. 30 in part, "If you don't bomb Hanoi and Peiping by 1966, we will have to kill you."

"The government views this letter with alarm," said Creamer. "We insist on tight security of this man."

But Fairorth's attorney, Norman Oshtry, argued that his client "is no threat to society, in any fashion."

Fairorth, a pre-med graduate in 1962 from Muhlenberg College, has been an investigator for the Communicable Diseases Division of Philadelphia's health department for two years. His wife is a department nurse.

A federal grand jury handed down the indictmet Thursday. It was impounded by the judge pending Fairorth's arrest. The bench warrant fixed bail at $50,000.

The indictment charges 27 violations of federal postal laws; sending through the mails obscene, defammatory and threatening letters and postcards. Maximum penalty on each count could be 20 years in prison and a $5,000 fine.

The letters cover a period from Sept. 29, 1965, to Aug. 5, 1966. Alll bore purported signatures of living Philadelphia area residents. Creamer said none was connected with Fairorth.

Besides the threats to Johnson and Scranton, the FBI said, "the indictment charges Fairorth with directing obscene and threatening letters to various individuals who have been publicly identified as favoring the United States position in Viet Nam, and on one occasion he is charged with sending an obscene and defammatory letter to a young girl who was identified as being the fiancee of an American serviceman killed in action in Viet Nam."

One of the obscene lettres, also threatening bodily harm, went to Miss Frances Knight, director of the U.S. passport office in the State Department.

Joe D. Jamieson, head of the FBI office here, said Fairorth is an active mmeber of the American Civil Liberties Union.

Officials at Muhlebreg in nearby Alllentown, Pa., said Fairorth was an above-average student, but sometimes erratic, and capable of doing better work than he showed.

He enrolled at Hahnemann Medical College here in September 1962, but a spokesman there said he dropped out five months later.

Creamer sought to have Fairorth committed to a detention center in Springfield, Mo., for 90 days, but Oshtry objected on grounds he would be out of touch with his client for too long.

The judge agreed, turned Fairorth over to the custody of the attorney general and said he would name the examining psychiatrist.

Policeman Hits Burglar Suspect With Two Shots

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A burglary suspect was shot twice in the stomach here Friday by patrolman Lloyd Domecq after two attacks on the officer, police said.

Taken to a hospital for treatment was Charles Lyons of New Orleans.

Domecq said he spotted Lyons burglarizing a car and attempted to arrest him. The patrolman said the suspect fled the car and grabbed an unidentified woman as a shield.

Domecq said he told Lyons to get against a wall and that the suspect then attacked him grabbing his gun. Domecq said he fired two shots.

Lyons was booked with attempted murder, aggravated burglary, aggravated battery and resisting arrest.

Bond Election Seen By Hatten

In the face of 45-day deadline on informing the Louisiana Department of Health of a plan that would end dumping of sewage into the Ouachita River, West Monroe Mayor W. B. (Bert) Hatten said Friday there is "no choice" but to call a bond election for sewage treatment and other public works.

Hatten said the city had been advised by the health department that dumping the sewage would no longer be allowed.

The mayor said the only alternative was a treatment plant and placed the cost somewhere around $800,000. He also noted a need for additional drainage projects.

Beatles' Memphis Tour Success In Bible Belt

MEMPHIS (AP) — The Beatles came to the Bible belt Friday and if they didn't completely conquer it the difference wasn't noticeable.

The mop-haired British rock 'n roll group landed at the Air National Guard side of the municipal airport amind the strictest security ever put out in this cotton capital. But even that didn't keep a dozen or so idolizers from crashing the proceedings in hopes of getting a look at the performers.

Most weren't too lucky. Pat Wilson, 17, of Memphis tried to dodge a motorcycle policeman, scrambled forward a few more feet and finally was caught by an officer.

"Just let me wave at them, please," she pleaded as tears streamed down her face. "I've waited two and a half years for this. Oh, please, please."

But Pat and most of the others who, by one means or another, evaded security to sneak onto the base couldn't get near the two chartered buses which whisked the Beatles from their airliner to the city coliseum for afternoon and evening performances. Advance ticket sales of more than $100,000 set a record for a show here.

There was a competing event — A Christian youth rally organized by Memphis churches after the furor caused by Beatle John Lennon's published comment that the singing group was more popular than Jesus.

But the teen-agers were out for the Beatles. Hotels and motels were jammed, and shaggy haired youngsters — many of them in the English "mod" style clothes — hung around downtown street corners waiting for show time.

As Blonde Pat Wilson put it, "I love Jesus, but I love the Beatles, too."

Several hundred, including a sprinkling of adults, milled about the public side of the airport waiting for the Beatles' plane.

Mary May, 16, of Fulton, Miss., "just walked in." She had a pad and said she hoped to get some autographs. An officer told her she couldn't."

"They said we couldn't get in here, too," she answered.

Tourist Boom

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Yugoslavia had a record tourist boom with 920,000 foreign visitors in the first half of this year, an increase of about 30 per cent over the same period of 1965. Tourist spending was up 60 per cent and prospects are considered good for a total take of $140 million for the year from tourism.

University Opens At Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — The government lined up enough teachers at the University of Buenos Aires Friday to permit taking off the padlocks at five of the school's nine colleges.

But lack of replacements for teachers who resigned will keep the other four colleges closed. And violence at the University of Cordoba deepened this country's educational crisis.

Dr. Luis Botet, rector of the University of Buenos Aires, said classes will reopen Monday in the colleges of law and social sciences, medicine, engineering agriculture and veterinary medicine, pharmacy and biochemistry. But faculty resignations protesting government seizure of state-owned universities and lack of replacements will keep the colleges of economic sciences, philosophy and literature, natural and exact sciences and architecture closed.

The government seized the state universities July 28, claiming Communists had infiltrated faculties and student body and that the administration must be reorganized. Classes were closed down, apparently to lessen the danger of student demonstrations.

The government of President Juan C. Ongania claims only about 400 of the school's 2,000 professors resigned. Other sources put the number of resignations as high as 1,600.

Juan G. Roederer, director of the National Cosmic Radiation Center and a member of the exact sciences faculty, said 50 per cent of the teaching and research staff of his college had resigned.

"Most of us," he wrote in a letter to the Buenos Aires Herald, "are prepared to leave the country to accept scientific asylum elsewhere, should all hope be gone."

Faculty and student intent to fight the government takeover appeared to remain constant and the situation was explosive in many places.

A ricochet bullet wounded Luis A. Cerda, 19, a medical student, at the University of Cordoba, during an attempt by students to hand out leaflets assailing the government action. When Cerda was taken to the hospital, students followed and police forcibly ejected them and arrested 148; two doctors were injured.

The students, despite police orders, had closed hospital doors and barricaded them with furniture. The students tried to calm nervous patients and to order normal activities in the out-patient clinic.

To protest the shooting of Cerda, the students called a strike today in the medical college. They also demanded the resignation of Interior Minister Enrique Martinez Paz, the university rector and all the college deans.

Heart Pump Patient Takes First Steps

HOUSTON (UPI) —Mrs. Esperanza del Valle Vasquez walked a few more milestones in medical history Friday. She took her first steps since doctors removed a revolutionary new plastic heart pump.

A spokesman at Methodist Hospital, where the pump was implanted during surgery Aug. 8, said the 37-year-old Mexico City beautician walked to a chair and sat for about 20 minutes.

The device, which at times took over more than 40 per cent of the blood-pumping work of her heart in order to allow it to rest and heal, was shut off for several hours and then removed Thursday night.

Her heart assumed its entire load again. The hospital said Mrs. Vasquez slept soundly Thursday night and her appetite was excellet.

Mrs. Vasquez is the third patient at the Houston hospital to have used the heart pump, designed and inserted by Dr. Michael E. DeBakey and a team of surgeons. Both the others died. A similar device was used in New York and one patient there lived 12 days.

Mrs. Vasquez will break that record some time today.

A spokesman said he had no idea when Mrs. Vasquez would leave the hospital.

"I haven't even heard anybody says," the administrator said.

Mrs. Vasquez suffered from heart trouble for many years as a result of a siege with rheumatic fever in her youth.

Houston's first heart pump patient, Marcel L. DeRudder, 65, of Westville, Ill., lived 111 hours after the operation but died of a collapsed lung without regaining consciousness.

Walter L. McCans, 61, of Woodinville, ash., progressed to the point where the heart pump could be removed. But he died two days later.

Six Persons Slate Area Vote March

GRAMBLING (Special) — A Grambling - based organization that claims affiliation with Dr. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference has announced that it will sponsor a 76-mile march by six persons through four North Louisiana parishes to promote voter registration among Negroes.

The Great Society Christian Organization (GSCO) of North Louisiana will begin the planned week-long march with a rally at Lisbon in Claiborne Parish Sunday afternoon, according to Charles Fenton, march coordinator.

The marchers will drive to Haynesville for the start of the trek that will bring them through Homer, Arcadia, Ruston and Jonesboro, Fenon tsaid.

The march plan calls for stps in towns along the way to organize group trips to parish registrar of voters offices.

The walk will begin with a two-mile march from Haynesville. Monday, the marchers will follow U.S. Hwy. 79 to Homer, and continue on U.S. Hwy. 80 to Grambling and Ruston. Today, the marchers will travel La. Hwy. 167 to Clay and Quitman, arriving in Jonesboro Sunday.

Fenton said the GSCO had some 50 members.

Sheriff's departments in the parishes of Claiborne, Jackson, Lincoln and Bienville said they knew nothing of the march. None of the parishes have regulations requiring a permit for such a march.

Fenton said a member of King's staff, James Letherer, would be on the march. He said Letherer participated in the Selma, Ala. march and James Mereidith's walk through Mississippi.

The leader of the Grambling organization is the Rev. Frederick D. Kirkpatrick.

Judge Signs St. Tammany Speed Order

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Federal Dist. Judge J. R. Heebe signed an order Friday speeding up desegregation of St. Tammany Parish public schools.

The court order provided that grades 3 and 10 be desegregated with the 1966-67 school year in addition to grades 1, 2, 11 and 12 which were ordered desegregated in the original order in May 1965.

All other grades are to be desegregated by the beginning of the 1967-68 school year school term under Judge Heebe's order.

The order also provides that a choice of schools may be exercised by a parent and a student may exercise his own choice if he is entering his last three years of schooling or has reached the age of 15.

Other provisions call for the desegregation of services, facilities, activities and programs, and the desegregation of faculty meetings during the 1966-67 school year.

Judge Invokes 1870 Law

Trial Of Insurrection Set For Demonstrator

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A city court judge invoked an 1870 law Friday and ordered a Negro antiwar demonstrator held for grand jury action on an insurrection charge after meting out heavy sentences to pickets arrested at an Army induction center.

Judge T. C. Little brushed aside defense arguments that the Georgia statute which carries the death penalty, had been voided by the U.S. Supreme Court. Little bound over for grand jury action charges of resisting arrest and assault and battery in the trial of Johnny C. Wilson, about 19.

Insurrection is a capital offense and death is the maximum penalty. But lesser penalties may be prescribed, ranging from 20 years to life imprisonment.

Wilson was the third Negro youth tried on charges growing out of an attempt by demonstrators Thursday to force their way into the Army induction center.

Police officers and Army personnel testified that Wilson fought arresting officers and that other demonstrators tried to rescue those taken into custody.

The Municipal Court judge said the evidence showed a "complete disregard for federal authority and federal authority asked for state help." He said there was resistance to both state and federal authority with apparent intent to impede the right of citizens reporting for military induction.

Little said a county prosecutor had advised that the insurrection statute had been ruled unconstitutional in its application in a 1937 Supreme Court decision and a 1963 three-judge federal panel's ruling, throwing out the capital charges against three civil rights workers in Americus, Ga.

The judge said the prosecutor's office could determine if the court decisions made it inapplicable in this case.

Little sentenced the first two Negro defendants to 90 days in jail of conviction of creating disturbances, failing to obey an officer and resisting arrest.

The judge set appeal bonds of $1,000 for each charge. Wilson's appeal bond totaled $4,000.

Det. Capt. M. G. Redding testified that he helped arrest Wilson at the induction center.

"He told me several times he didn't give a d— who I was, no white man was going to arrest him," Redding said.

Redding testified that he was struck in the face by Wilson who threatened, "I'll choke you to death."

Redding said someone yelled while policemen were struggling with several demonstrators, "No white ----- is going to help control this. This is back power."

Policeman T. L. Raborn testified that Wilson threatened him. "He picked me up and threw me down on the sidewalk," Raborn said.

The officer testified that his badge was taken by Wilson and tossed to another person.

Firemen Go For Glimpse At 'Birdies'

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Firemen vacated a firehouse here for an hour to have their pictures made leaving a blaring radio and fire trucks unmanned.

A check with Fire Supt. Arthur Heyd revealed Friday a spare fire department station wagon and pumpers were being used to take the men to a studio to arrange for photographs. The snapshots are to be used in a fire department publication.

The fire station was not entirely deserted, however, Thursday. A curious youngster walked in twice and made an inspection.

Heyd said the area around Station No. 36 was never without protection "becaus of the proximity of two other fire stations."

House Group Okays Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Agriculture Committee approved 37 watershed projects Friday.

This action clears the projects for construction since they were approved earlier by the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Projects approved, together with the federal cost, include: Arkansas — North Fork of Ozan Creek, $1,046,878, Caney Bayou, $499,076, White River backwater, $1,685,160.

Beatles' Memphis Tour Success In Bible Belt

MEMPHIS (AP) — The Beatles came to the Bible belt Friday and if they didn't completely conquer it the difference wasn't noticeable.

The mop-haired British rock 'n roll group landed at the Air National Guard side of the municipal airport amid the strictest security ever put out in this cotton capital. But even that didn't keep a dozen or so idolizers from crashing the proceedings in hopes of getting a look at the performers.

Most weren't too lucky. Pat Wilson, 17, of Memphis tried to dodge a motorcycle policeman, scrambled forward a few more feet and finally was caught by an officer.

"Just let me wave at them, please," she pleaded as tears streamed down her face. "I've waited two and a half years for this. Oh, please, please."

But Pat and most of the others who, by one means or another, evaded security to sneak onto the base couldn't get near the two chartered buses which whisked the Beatles from their airliner to the city coliseum for afternoon and evening performances. Advance ticket sales of more than $100,000 set a record for a show here.

There was a competing event — A Christian youth rally organized by Memphis churches after the furor caused by Beatle John Lennon's published comment that the singing group was more popular than Jesus.

But the teen-agers were out for the Beatles. Hotels and motels were jammed, and shaggy haired youngsters — many of them in the English "mod" style clothes — hung around downtown street corners waiting for show time.

As Blonde Pat Wilson put it, "I love Jesus, but I love the Beatles, too."

Several hundred, including a sprinkling of adults, milled about the public side of the airport waiting for the Beatles' plane.

Mary May, 16, of Fulton, Miss., "just walked in." She had a pad and said she hoped to get some autographs. An officer told her she couldn't."

"They said we couldn't get in here, too," she answered.

Tourist Boom

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Yugoslavia had a record tourist boom with 920,000 foreign visitors in the first half of this year, an increase of about 30 per cent over the same period of 1965. Tourist spending was up 60 per cent and prospects are considered good for a total take of $140 million for the year from tourism.

Six Persons Slate Area Vote March

GRAMBLING (Special) — A Grambling - based organization that claims affiliation with Dr. Martin Luther King's Southern Christian Leadership Conference has announced that it will sponsor a 76-mile march by six persons through four North Louisiana parishes to promote voter registration among Negroes.

The Great Society Christian Organization (GSCO) of North Louisiana will begin the planned week-long march with a rally at Lisbon in Claiborne Parish Sunday afternoon, according to Charles Fenton, march coordinator.

The marchers will drive to Haynesville for the start of the trek that will bring them through Homer, Arcadia, Ruston and Jonesboro, Fenon said.

The march plan calls for stps in towns along the way to organize group trips to parish registrars of voters offices.

The walk will begin with a two-mile march from Haynesville. Monday, the marchers will follow U.S. Hwy. 79 to Homer, and continue on U.S. Hwy. 80 to Grambling and Ruston. Today, the marchers will travel La. Hwy. 167 to Clay and Quitman, arriving in Jonesboro Sunday.

Fenton said the GSCO had some 50 members.

Sheriff's departments in the parishes of Claiborne, Jackson, Lincoln and Bienville said they knew nothing of the march. None of the parishes have regulations requiring a permit for such a march.

Fenton said a member of King's staff, James Letherer, would be on the march. He said Letherer participated in the Selma, Ala. march and James Mereidith's walk through Mississippi.

The leader of the Grambling organization is the Rev. Frederick D. Kirkpatrick.

University Opens At Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — The government lined up enough teachers at the University of Buenos Aires Friday to permit taking off the padlocks at five of the school's nine colleges.

But lack of replacements for teachers who resigned will keep the other four colleges closed. And violence at the University of Cordoba deepened this country's educational crisis.

Dr. Luis Botet, rector of the University of Buenos Aires, said classes will reopen Monday in the colleges of law and social sciences, medicine, engineering agriculture and veterinary medicine, pharmacy and biochemistry. But faculty resignations protesting government seizure of state-owned universities and lack of replacements will keep the colleges of economic sciences, philosophy and literature, natural and exact sciences and architecture closed.

The government seized the state universities July 28, claiming Communists had infiltrated faculties and student body and that the administration must be reorganized. Classes were closed down, apparently to lessen the danger of student demonstrations.

The government of President Juan C. Ongania claims only about 400 of the school's 2,000 professors resigned. Other sources put the number of resignations as high as 1,600.

Juan G. Roederer, director of the National Cosmic Radiation Center and a member of the exact sciences faculty, said 50 per cent of the teaching and research staff of his college had resigned.

"Most of us," he wrote in a letter to the Buenos Aires Herald, "are prepared to leave the country to accept scientific asylum elsewhere, should all hope be gone."

Faculty and student intent to fight the government takeover appeared to remain constant and the situation was explosive in many places.

A ricochet bullet wounded Luis A. Cerda, 19, a medical student, at the University of Cordoba, during an attempt by students to hand out leaflets assailing the government action. When Cerda was taken to the hospital, students followed and police forcibly ejected them and arrested 148; two doctors were injured.

The students, despite police orders, had closed hospital doors and barricaded them with furniture. The students tried to calm nervous patients and to order normal activities in the out-patient clinic.

To protest the shooting of Cerda, the students called a strike today in the medical college. They also demanded the resignation of Interior Minister Enrique Martinez Paz, the university rector and all the college deans.

Judge Signs St. Tammany Speed Order

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Federal Dist. Judge J. R. Heebe signed an order Friday speeding up desegregation of St. Tammany Parish public schools.

The court order provided that grades 3 and 10 be desegregated in the 1966-67 school year in addition to grades 1, 2, 11 and 12 which were ordered desegregated in the original order in May 1965.

All other grades are to be desegregated by the beginning of the 1967-68 school year school term under Judge Heebe's order.

The order also provides that a choice of schools may be exercised by a parent and a student may exercise his own choice if he is entering his last three years of schooling or has reached the age of 15.

Other provisions call for the desegregation of services, facilities, activities and programs, and the desegregation of faculty meetings during the 1966-67 school year.

Trial Of Insurrection Set For Demonstrator

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A city court judge invoked an 1870 law Friday and ordered a Negro antiwar demonstrator held for grand jury action on an insurrection charge after meting out heavy sentences to pickets arrested at an Army induction center.

Judge T. C. Little brushed aside defense arguments that the Georgia statute which carries the death penalty, had been voided by the U.S. Supreme Court. Little bound over for grand jury action charges of resisting arrest and assault and battery in the trial of Johnny C. Wilson, about 19.

Insurrection is a capital offense and death is the maximum penalty. But lesser penalties may be prescribed, ranging from 20 years to life imprisonment.

Wilson was the third Negro youth tried on charges growing out of an attempt by demonstrators Thursday to force their way into the Army induction center.

Police officers and Army personnel testified that Wilson fought arresting officers and that other demonstrators tried to rescue those taken into custody.

The Municipal Court judge said the evidence showed a "complete disregard for federal authority and federal authority asked for state help." He said there was resistance to both state and federal authority with apparent intent to impede the right of citizens reporting for military induction.

Little said a county prosecutor had advised that the insurrection statute had been ruled unconstitutional in its application in a 1937 Supreme Court decision and a 1963 three-judge federal panel's ruling, throwing out the capital charges against three civil rights workers in Americus, Ga.

The judge said the prosecutor's office could determine if the court decisions made it inapplicable in this case.

Little sentenced the first two Negro defendants to 90 days in jail of conviction of creating disturbances, failing to obey an officer and resisting arrest.

The judge set appeal bonds of $1,000 for each charge. Wilson's appeal bond totaled $4,000.

Det. Capt. M. G. Redding testified that he helped arrest Wilson at the induction center.

"He told me several times he didn't give a d— who I was, no white man was going to arrest him," Redding said.

Redding testified that he was struck in the face by Wilson who threatened, "I'll choke you to death."

Redding said someone yelled while policemen were struggling with several demonstrators, "No white ----- is going to help control this. This is black power."

Policeman T. L. Raborn testified that Wilson threatened him. "He picked me up and threw me down on the sidewalk," Raborn said.

Heart Pump Patient Takes First Steps

HOUSTON (UPI) —Mrs. Esperanza del Valle Vasquez walked a few more milestones in medical history Friday. She took her first steps since doctors removed a revolutionary new plastic heart pump.

A spokesman at Methodist Hospital, where the pump was implanted during surgery Aug. 8, said the 37-year-old Mexico City beautician walked to a chair and sat for about 20 minutes.

The device, which at times took over more than 40 per cent of the blood-pumping work of her heart in order to allow it to rest and heal, was shut off for several hours and then removed Thursday night.

Her heart assumed its entire load again. The hospital said Mrs. Vasquez slept soundly Thursday night and her appetite was excellet.

Mrs. Vasquez is the third patient at the Houston hospital to have used the heart pump, designed and inserted by Dr. Michael E. DeBakey and a team of surgeons. Both the others died. A similar device was used in New York and one patient there lived 12 days.

Mrs. Vasquez will break that record some time today.

A spokesman said he had no idea when Mrs. Vasquez would leave the hospital.

"I haven't even heard anybody says," the administrator said.

Mrs. Vasquez suffered from heart trouble for many years as a result of a siege with rheumatic fever in her youth.

Houston's first heart pump patient, Marcel L. DeRudder, 65, of Westville, Ill., lived 111 hours after the operation but died of a collapsed lung without regaining consciousness.

Walter L. McCans, 61, of Woodinville, ash., progressed to the point where the heart pump could be removed. But he died two days later.

Firemen Go For Glimpse At 'Birdies'

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Firemen vacated a firehouse here for an hour to have their pictures made leaving a blaring radio and fire trucks unmanned.

A check with Fire Supt. Arthur Heyd revealed Friday a spare fire department station wagon and pumpers were being used to take the men to a studio to arrange for photographs. The snapshots are to be used in a fire department publication.

The fire station was not entirely deserted, however, Thursday. A curious youngster walked in twice and made an inspection.

Heyd said the area around Station No. 36 was never without protection "because of the proximity of two other fire stations."

House Group Okays Projects

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Agriculture Committee approved 37 watershed projects Friday.

This action clears the projects for construction since they were approved earlier by the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Projects approved, together with the federal cost, include:

Arkansas — North Fork of Ozan Creek, $1,046,878, Caney Bayou, $499,076, White River backwater, $1,685,160.

Chicago Files Suit In Court To Regulate Mass Demonstration Marches

CHICAGO (AP) — A suit to regulate mass demonstration marches such as those mounted in the last three weeks by the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. and his followers was filed by the city of Chicago on Friday in Circuit Court.

The marches, designed to force open housing for Negroes in the city, have sparked violence in white neighborhoods and taxed the police department with mass assignment of task forces to prevent bloodshed.

Earl Bush, press secretary to Mayor Richard J. Daley said that the court suit seeks to:

1. Limit the number of marchers to 500.

2. Provide for one march in an area in a day.

3. Set times for marches in daylight hours and during non-rush hours.

4. Give the police superintendent 24 hours notice of any march.

Bush said the suit was filed on behalf of the city and Police Supt. O. W. Wilson.

Mayor Daley has supported the right of open-housing demonstrators to march. His home in the Bridgeport section has been the target of racial marches in recent months. Many of the processions were in connection with Negro demands for bringing the public school system into racial balance.

As the suit was being filed, civil rights workers turned to a widespread canvass of real estate dealers to test the effect of violence-marked marches and prayer vigils for open housing.

Negroes and white sympathizers, ranging in number from two to five, volunteered to call at offices in 10 neighborhoods and ask whether apartments or homes are available for Negroes.

Leaders arranged to review the findings and then determine whether to resume their riot-marked marches Sunday.

The canvassers assembled at the Greater Mount Hope Baptist church on the South Side before setting out to call on real estate agents in Gage Park, Bogan, Chicago Lawn, Bridgeport and New City districts on the Southwest Side, and the Cragin, Jefferson Park, Logan Square, Hermosa and Portage Park areas on the Northwest Side.

They are white neighborhoods.

Such canvasses have been conducted — but on a less widespread scale — in recent weeks. They have been performed without trouble. But 400 policemen were on standby alert, ready to move if and where needed.

King, head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, told his followers Thursday night the marches will continue in all-white residential areas even if the city gets a court injunction against them.

City officials have been deeply concerned by the drain on police manpower to provide protection for the marchers, and the rise in crime in recent weeks.

Red China Continues Top Purges

TOKYO (AP) — A list of Red China's leaders published Friday suggests the purge may have hit two more members of the ruling Politburo, including Liu Po-cheng, possibly the nation's best military tactician. His name was omitted, along with those of five Cabinet members.

Peng Chen, mayor of Peking, was the first Politburo member to be caught up in the purge. Now it may be the turn of Liu, a member of the Politburo since 1956, and Li Ching-chuan, one of the lesser-known leaders, a member since 1958.

Also missing from the list were two deputy chairmen of the National Defense Council, one a deputy premier, and more than 100 regular or alternate members of the Central Committee. Liu was also a deputy chairman of the council.

The list broadcast by Radio Peking was of 201 top members of the party and government who shared the platform with party Chairman Mao Tze-tung at a big rally and parade Thursday. Peking gave no explanation for the names left off the list.

If all have been caught in the purge of so-called anti-Mao, antiparty elements, the truth will come out indirectly and piecemeal.

The broadcast seemed to make plain that Defense Minister Lin Piao, Mao's "close comrade," sits at the party chairman's right hand and probably will be his successor. Lin appears to be directing the purge.

The report also indicated that Premier Chou En-lai has moved up the ladder past President Liu Shao-chi. Chou's name was No. 3, the president No. 7. Liu once was considered Mao's likely successor. Lin is reported to dislike Liu, and appears to have succeeded in putting the president on the skids.

The downfall of Liu Po-cheng, if true, could be due to his former Soviet ties and his possible opposition to putting the army into construction, farming and industry, the latest idea in China.

Liu Po-cheng got his military education in the Soviet Union and was long active in the Chinese-Soviet Friendship Association. It may have pained him to see the army losing its professional nature, for he was a military man first of all.

In China's civil war in the late 1940s, Liu was noted for his fast-striking, surprise tactics. His army defeated the Nationalists north of Nanking in one of the decisive battles of the war. His swift-moving tactics often were compared with those of Stonewall Jackson in the U.S. Civil War. A stocky man, Liu lost one eye in leading troops against the Japanese. He is 74.

Among the others missing from the list:

—Deputy Premier Nieh Jung-chen, another former military commander, an old revolutionary, deputy chairman of the National Defense Council and head of the Scientific and Technological Commission. He once was considered a protege of Chou En-lai. He also was active in the Chinese-Soviet Friendship Association and had a wide acquaintance in the Soviet bloc.

—Chang Chih-chung, a former Chinese Nationalist army commander who went over to the Communists in 1949 and was a deputy chairman of the National Defense Council.

—Tseng Shang, minister of internal affairs.

—Tiao Lu-yeyn, minister of agriculture.

—Liu Wen-hui, minister of forestry.

—Chiang Nan-hsiang, minister of higher education.

—Kao Yang-min, minister of chemical industry.

A study of the broadcast list showed only 78 members and alternate members of the Central Committee, whose membership totals 195, were in the reviewing stand.
